CARACAS, Feb. 6.—(Special Cable.)—President Castro has just received a cable from the Venezuelan consul in Curacao reporting the arrival there of Gen. Luciano Mendoza, the right arm of Matos and leading military chief of the revolution. His arrival in Curacao has created intense excitement, being regarded as proof that the rout of the revolutionists on January 8 was serious and that they cannot continue the fight. Gen. Mendoza's flight is regarded here as a terrible blow for German interests.

PARTY CIRCLE ELIMINATED IN BALLOT REFORM MEASURE DRAWN BY SUB-COMMITTEE

Bill Will Be Introduced in Legislature Within Two Weeks.

MUST BE APPROVED BY PARTY LEADERS

New Ballot Will Be Only One-Third the Size of the Baker Blanket.

IT IS SIMPLE AND COMPACT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Public Ledger Building, PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.

Ex-Senator William Hertzler, chairman of the sub-committee of the Republican state committee, tonight gave The Gazette a draft of the new ballot bill which, after being indorsed by the state committee, will be introduced in the legislature by Senator Focht.

The sub-committee appointed by Chairman Quay is composed of ex-Senator Hertzler, chairman; Homer Greene of Wayne, John P. Elkin of Indiana, George T. Oliver of Allegheny and David H. Lane of Philadelphia. This committee has met a number of times, has given a hearing to Clinton Rogers Woodruff and others interested in ballot reform, and has finally, after comparing the ballot systems of many states, north and south, decided upon a ballot which it believes will meet popular expectations. An agreement as to the form of the ballot was reached some time ago, and the meeting called by Chairman Hertzler today was for the purpose of having the bill signed by all the members of the sub-committee.

Chairman Hertzler and Mr. Greene were the only ones who responded to the call. Mr. Elkin is in Mexico, and Mr. Lane and Mr. Oliver, because of other engagements, could not be present. Because of this Chairman Hertzler decided to waive the formality of signature and make public the provisions of the bill. He will ask Chairman Quay to convene the state committee as soon as possible, and the bill, it is hoped, will be presented to the legislature within two weeks.

Circle Is Eliminated.

Chairman Hertzler explained the bill at length, but his statement can be supplemented with the information that in the new bill there is no party circle, provision for "straight" party voting being made by the use of a "square." In many essential particulars the bill resembles that introduced by Senator Focht two years ago. It combines all the virtues of the Australian system, but is more simple, compact and comprehensive. It meets the demand of the majority of all parties by embracing the provision for straight voting, and also gives full opportunity to the voter who wishes to vote a mixed ticket. By its mechanical arrangement it will be possible for a candidate to receive the votes he is entitled to by reason of his nomination by two or more parties, and at the same time it will be possible to ascertain how many votes each party gave to this one candidate.

Chairman Hertzler said the sub-committee was fully agreed to the mechanical structure of the bill, which he exhaustively explains, but that the bill drafted to carry it into operation was still subject to minor changes. These can be made by the state committee if deemed necessary. Mr. Hertzler describes the bill as follows:

"We have prepared a ballot bill which we trust may meet the varied views of the political elements of this state. We are well aware that it is impossible to satisfy all, but have been guided by a desire to produce such a bill as will overcome the objections to the Baker ballot blanket sheet, and the party designation, the circle, which on the Baker ballot appears over each party column.

Arrangement of the Ballot.

"This bill provides for straight party voting by the use of a separate column, to the left of the groups of candidates, whose names appear under the title of office for which they are running, the same as in the Australian ballot. This column for straight party voting contains, one under the other, the names of all parties who have candidates to be voted for, arranged so that the party having received the greatest number of votes at the preceding state election shall come first, the others ranking according to their relative strength. And in case of political parties not represented on the ballot in the last state election, the order of arrangement shall be continued alphabetically, according to the party name or appellation. At the right of each of the party designations there is a square, and an X mark in any of these squares will be equivalent to a vote for every candidate of the party so designated.

"Those desiring to vote a mixed ticket are given every opportunity to do so by the simplest method possible. The mechanical construction of the ballot is simple, compact and easily understood, and it will be about one-third the size of the Baker ballot blanket sheet. By placing the party designations in vertical order, after the name of any candidate receiving the nomination of more than one party, the multiplication of party columns is eliminated. Also by this method of grouping the party designations in vertical order after a candidate's name, with a square to the right of each party designation, enables each party to ascertain the exact number of votes cast by such party or parties for any candidate receiving more than one party nomination.

Simple Explanation.

"Two lines in bold-faced type will be across the top of the ballot. The first paragraph will explain how the voter, who so desires, may vote a straight party ticket; the second paragraph tells how a voter can vote a mixed ticket.

"Following the Australian grouping of the names of candidates nominated by parties are blank spaces for the insertion of names, written or by sticker, of candidates who have not received party nominations.

"A bill fully descriptive of our ballot has been prepared, and it is my wish that as soon as it has received the indorsement of the Republican state committee it shall be introduced in the state senate by Senator Focht, to whom we are indebted for many useful suggestions for its mechanical construction."

CHESTER S. POTTER.

SKITTISH ALLIES ROUNDED UP AND HEADED TOWARD THE HAGUE BY BOWEN'S CLEVER DIPLOMACY

British Ambassador Becomes More Tractable Under Pressure.

PRESIDENT WILL NOT BE ARBITER

Refuses Request of Powers to Pass on Question of Preferential Treatment.

SITUATION CLEARING UP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—President Roosevelt has declined the invitation of the allied powers to arbitrate the question as to whether they shall receive preferential treatment in the settlement of their claims against Venezuela over the other creditor nations. He reached this decision this afternoon, and instructed Secretary Hay to dispatch a note to the British embassy at once advising the British ambassador to that effect.

The matter therefore now will be referred to The Hague tribunal. This will result in the immediate raising of the blockade. The administration, it is said in an official quarter, was unwilling to approve the effort of the British government to eliminate Minister Bowen from the negotiations, and moreover the president could not have accepted the invitation of the allies even had he been so disposed, without the consent of the other negotiator, Minister Bowen, and this the allies did not obtain or request in their note of investigation to the president.

Immediately on receipt of Secretary Hay's note announcing the president's declination, the British ambassador addressed a communication to Minister Bowen stating that he was suffering from an attack of grippe and would be obliged if Mr. Bowen would call on him.

British Ambassador Ill.

The Venezuelan envoy went at once to the embassy, where the British ambassador explained that he had been too ill to call for several days, and announced the arrival of his protocol, which he was prepared to submit to Mr. Bowen for signature. Later the German minister, Baron Sternberg, called on Mr. Bowen and announced the arrival of his protocol. Tomorrow's program will include preliminary preparations for the signing of the protocols.

It developed tonight that two protocols are to be signed by Mr. Bowen, with the italian ambassador, Signor Mayor Des Planches, two with the British ambassador, and two with the German minister, Baron Speck von Sternberg. The first protocol in each case will provide for the reference of the allies contention for preferential treatment to The Hague and the raising of the blockade simultaneously with the signing of this convention. It is doubtful whether the initial protocols between Minister Bowen and the three allies will contain the same conditions, though all the negotiators are working to this end.

The Preliminary Agreement.

In these protocols the conditions precedent to the raising of the blockade will be clearly stated, namely that 30 per cent of the customs receipts of the ports of La Guayra and Porto Cabello are to be set aside by Venezuela for the satisfaction of her creditors, and that the question as to whether the allied powers shall receive preferential treatment, or as Great Britain terms it "separate" treatment in the settlement, shall be referred to The Hague. These protocols also will provide that Venezuela shall pay down to each of the three allied powers £5,500 as an initial cash payment. The differences between these protocols, it is said, will concern certain details, the nature of which is not yet known even to Mr. Bowen. The German protocol will be submitted to him tomorrow by the German minister for consideration. Afterward Mr. Bowen will go to the British embassy, in view of the illness of the British ambassador, and there will see the protocol drawn up by Lord Lansdowne. The Italian ambassador, Signor Mayor Des Planches, will bring his protocol to Mr. Bowen tomorrow for consideration.

Having arranged for the signature of these first protocols the negotiations will take up the second protocols, which are to cover the manner of adjudicating the claims of the various creditor powers and the means of the administration of the customs receipts.

Penalty of Failure.

The claims of each power are to be settled by a commission to consist in each instance of a representative of the creditor government and a Venezuelan, and in case of a failure to agree the king of Spain will appoint the arbiter. The plan agreed on for the collection of the payments provides that the Caracas government shall be entrusted with the administration of the receipts unless 30 days are allowed to elapse without the prompt payment to any one nation of its share, in which event the Belgium government is empowered to appoint agents to take charge of the custom houses and administer the payments until the claims of all the nations are satisfied.

It was admitted tonight that some days may yet pass before either of the protocols can be signed owing to the minor differences, but negotiations are expected to move more swiftly than in the past.

In administration and diplomatic circles the reference to The Hague is regarded as a victory for Minister Bowen, as Venezuela thereby is enabled to recover from the distressing effect of the blockade before starting upon the payment of her debts. The cumbersome machinery of The Hague, it is expected, will delay matters considerably, and the payment of creditor nations cannot begin until the important question of priority payment for the allies is decided.

Will Establish Precedent.

The finding of The Hague tribunal may not be handed down for some months. The tribunal also will decide the vital question to South American states as to whether blockades and bombardments entitle powers to preferential treatment at the hands of their debtor. Coming from The Hague, it will establish a precedent, while a decision on the point from President Roosevelt would have carried no such weight as decisive of a point of international law. The effect of an adverse finding by the president, therefore,

GOVERNOR OF OHIO NOT SO ILL AS MANY BELIEVE HIM

Gov. George K. Nash.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—Reports were sent out from here today that Gov. Nash is in a dying condition and is kept alive only by stimulants. The sensational portion of the reports is unfounded.

The governor is suffering from a severe cold, but was able to spend two hours at his office this morning.

Dr. E. J. Wilson, the governor's physician, said tonight:

"It is well known, and I make no concealment of the fact, that the governor has had for years a lesion of the heart. In coming over the Rocky mountains on his return from the Pacific coast he suffered the rupture of a blood vessel. But all that cleared up and the governor regained his usual health, until a few days ago he took cold and I advised him to remain indoors for a time to avoid the extremes of temperature."

GIFT OFFERED TO SOUTH SIDE

Proposition to Build and Maintain a Free Bath House.

PLANS BEING DRAWN

Through Pittsburgh councils, the people of the South Side have been tendered by Henry W. Oliver a modern bath house to be absolutely free to the public. Mr. Oliver offers to the institution any sum necessary to maintain and operate it, suggesting $80,000 as probably sufficient to earn the expenses of maintenance.

Mr. Oliver has had the gift in mind for some time, but before having time to have plans drawn Pittsburgh councils had been asked to appropriate $20,000 for South Side baths. To make this unnecessary his offer was made yesterday.

South Side councilmen met John C. Oliver, president of the Oliver Iron and Steel Company, at the offices of the company, on the South Side, yesterday and discussed the plan. Councilman John Benz of the Twenty-ninth ward will probably present the matter in select council Monday. There were present at the meeting Councilmen T. O. Atkinson, David Lewis, J. W. Ruhlandt, John F. Semmelrock, John P. Baldauf, Louis P. Schneider, John Lewis, John Benz, John J. Morgan, Joseph Walls, W. E. Lang and Jacob Schuck.

Terms of the Gift.

The gift is offered in the following terms:

Pittsburgh, Jan. 30, 1903.

To the Select and Common Councils of the City of Pittsburgh.

Having noted an agitation among the people of the South Side for the providing of public baths, and knowing from long business residence in that section of the city the great and growing necessity for a commodious and well equipped bath house, I make the following proposition, viz.:

I am the owner of a plot of ground nearly 100 feet front, corner of Tenth and Bingham streets (immediately opposite the Twenty-ninth ward public school house) and about 60 feet in depth. The lot is a typical one for the purpose, being centrally located, and of proper shape.

I will erect on the above land a modern fireproof bath house and swimming pool, of size to cover the whole lot, and of appropriate and ornamental architectural design. On the completion of the building I will deed the property to the city of Pittsburgh, the only stipulation being that the baths shall be free for the use of the people forever.

I dislike in making a gift to involve the recipient in expenses or cash outlay, which might mar the pleasure and enjoyment of privileges accorded by such gifts, and will, therefore, make an endowment or provision for the payment of the salaries of the attendants employed at the bath house, either by giving say $80,000 in cash at once, to the treasurer of the city of Pittsburgh, the interest on which should be sufficient to provide funds to pay the bath house pay roll, or by depositing securities in the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, the income accruing from which would provide for the fund.

The above maintenance question to be open until the legal procedure has been ascertained at a meeting with the proper committees of your councils, the city attorney and the chief of the department that will finally have charge of the property, when we will make arrangements that will be final.

The only consideration I require from the city of Pittsburgh when passing the ordinance accepting the gift is an agreement that the city will furnish the bathhouse with light, heat and an ample quantity of water from the city reservoirs, which draw their supply from the Allegheny river. This can be done at a small expense to the city, as the water mains, of diameter of which I think is about 30 inches, in Carson street, but one square distant from the site of the proposed bath house. Respectfully submitted,

HENRY W. OLIVER.

With one accord the councilmen who discussed the plans yesterday lauded it. Mrs. S. S. Miller, sub-chairman for the South Side of the Civic club, who has been urging the use of the upper floor of the South Side market house as a public bath, said last night:

"Mr. Oliver has made a grand offer. I think that the Civic club could be of assistance in suggesting plans and means for operating the institution by reason of exhaustive research into the question. In six years of operation at the Thaw baths, by charging the nominal fee of 5 cents for a bath, we have saved $2,500. In a large section of the South Side there is not one house in a hundred that has a bath.

"I trust that the baths will be so arranged as to offer an inducement to working girls and women to use them. The plan of endowing the institution with $80,000 may be a good one, but this could be avoided by charging the nominal fee, as at the Thaw baths, and this money would earn a handsome sum for the other benefit to the people."

Miss Kate McKnight, president of the Civic club, spoke of the offer as a grand one which would be of far-reaching benefit.

PRESIDENT WINS AGAINST TRUSTS

Committee on Department of Commerce Bill Agrees.

HANNA YIELDS LAST

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 16, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.

After two long sessions of the conference committee of the senate and house on the department of commerce bill today, during which there was high tension and a protracted struggle, the decision was finally reached tonight to eliminate from the new department of commerce the interstate commerce commission, leaving it still an independent board, and to include in the bill the publicity feature of anti-trust legislation so much desired by the president.

This completes the program of anti-trust legislation urged by the president so far as the senate is concerned; namely, the passage of the bill to expedite litigation; the passage of an anti-rebate bill and the addition to the department of commerce bill of what is known as the "Nelson amendment," this being a bureau of corporations which shall have power to investigate corporations doing an interstate business and require statements to be published or not at the discretion of the president.

No vote was taken tonight, but a practical agreement was reached to be formally recorded at the final meeting of the conference committee tomorrow. Senator Hanna, it is understood, was one of the last to yield to the publicity agreement, while Representative Hepburn held out to near the end of the conference in support of the house proposition to put the interstate commerce commission in the new department.

The result obtained by the conference committee, it was known for the first today, comes in spite of a very pronounced opposition several great corporations have been quietly exerting influence ever since the conference has begun.

The Nelson amendment, providing for publicity, has already been published and creates in the department of commerce and labor a bureau of corporations with authority under the direction of the secretary of commerce to investigate the management of all corporations doing an interstate business and report to the president, who may or may not, at his discretion, make public the statements filed.

PRINCESS OF SAXONY AND GIRON SEPARATE

She Will Return to Saxony for the Sake of Her Children.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

GENEVA, Feb. 6.—The legal adviser of the former crown princess of Saxony has made the following announcement: "M. Giron will leave Geneva this evening for Brussels, where he will join his family. M. Giron has broken off all relations with the princess in order not to impede the reunion of the princess with her children."

The sudden end of the royal romance is said to be due to the refusal of the Saxon court, influenced by the Emperor Francis Joseph, to consent to a divorce. It is reported that the princess sought her father's pardon in order to get permission to see her children, but was refused everything unless she left M. Giron.

Her lawyer visited Dresden, but failed to get any concession beyond the offer of a small yearly allowance, and the promise if the crown princess gave up M. Giron and returned home that no legal proceedings would be taken against her. The princess, realizing at last her equivocal position, became ill and apparently was willing, if approached in a proper manner, to agree to any terms.

On the return of her lawyer from Dresden today a prolonged interview between the parties took place, in the course of which the princess, in a torrent of tears, cried:

"I must see my poor children again."

Her parting with M. Giron is said to have been very affecting.

MAY GET SEAT ADDICKS WANTED

ANTHONY HIGGINS. COL. HENRY A. DUPONT.

Two Men Figuring in the Delaware Senatorial Race Since J. Edward Addicks Withdrew.

MINISTERS WERE AGAIN ATTACKED

Citizens Party Orator Says They or Flinn Would Rule Haymaker.

BOTH UNDESIRABLE

"Either Flinn or the preachers of Pittsburgh will boss the city if John C. Haymaker is elected recorder, and neither idea is a desirable one."

This was the astounding statement made by D. B. Maxwell, a member of the Allegheny county bar, at a Citizens meeting held in Brushton school house No. 1, Thirty-seventh ward, last night. What might happen should the ministers of the city hold the reins of government was hinted at in terms not complimentary to the wearers of the cloth.

Mr. Maxwell opened his speech by saying he was not sure he could make a political speech in temperature suited to such an enthusiastic audience, but before long, had more than realized his auditors' fondest hopes. He claimed that there was nothing in favor of John C. Haymaker, except that the ministers say that he goes to church. He asserted that he had no business experience, while Hays had, and claimed that the election of the recorder should be brought down to a business basis, and the man best fit to run the government should be elected.

"Hays is the equal of Haymaker morally," said Mr. Maxwell, "yet every day we find Haymaker being indorsed by preachers, who say how the city will be run if the Republican candidate is elected. Now, if Haymaker is honest he must do what the preachers tell him to. If dishonest he will obey Flinn and the gang. You can judge for yourself the limitations of your choice in this respect. Therefore, to prevent Haymaker from being bossed by either, vote for Hays."

Brown and the Preachers.

The meeting was held in a small basement room, containing little desks for very diminutive children. There were just 110 people in the room, by actual count. Among these were several school children. Candidate Hays, was to have been present, but was unable to do so owing to illness. Ex-Mayor "Andy" Fulton made an address in his stead.

Thomas M. Brown was one of the speakers. He prefaced his remarks by saying he was addressing the meeting because Pittsburgh had been disrupted by a statement that he was for Haymaker. He hastily assured the audience that he was not. His frequent references, in alleged humorous fashion, to Republican leaders as "Christian soldiers," was well received. He said that he had never uttered a sacrilegious remark, nor thought one, in his life, and then said that he understood the Tariff club was singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

He made reference to the fact that he has been spoken of as ridiculing the ministers of Pittsburgh.

"The preachers are not going to win this campaign," he said, "and I'll not grieve very much if they don't turn out to listen to me make a speech."

He said he hoped that it was not a joke that Hays was going to carry the Thirty-seventh ward, instructed the voters to vote early, but not often, and wound up by hoping Hays would be elected, "to hold up the hands of our noble controller, John S. Larkin."

Joseph H. Vilchestain of the South Side is looking for campaign arguments. He said at the meeting that he had watched all the Republican speeches carefully and could find nothing to start something with. However, he managed to worry through an hour's speech with attacks on Flinn.

Do Not Want Psalm Singers.

F. M. Shaffer made a short speech in which he said that his brother, Theodore, president of the Amalgamated Iron Workers, was ill in bed at his home in Knoxville, outside of Pittsburgh, and could not come over to Pittsburgh to address the meeting. F. M. Shaffer opened up by calling the audience "fellow-sufferers." He concluded with: "We don't need psalm singers to elect Hays."

The meeting was presided over by S. F. Bailey, chairman of the Thirty-seventh ward Citizens party. Other speeches were made by Charles Whitesides and J. F. Bluestone.

The Citizens party of the Fourteenth ward held a mass meeting last evening in the Holmes school, at which about 300 men and boys were present, the latter were much in evidence by their loud talking and whistling. The meeting was called to order by William Moore, who introduced John Dinling as the chairchairman. Addresses were delivered by E. Y. Breck, Ralph Strawbridge, R. T. McElroy and Daniel P. Crawford.

In the midst of the speech of Mr. Strawbridge, several boys on the stairs ascending to the room where the meeting was in progress, became involved in a quarrel and reported blows. Some man shouted "fight," and several of the audience hearing this understood it to be "fire" and repeated it at the top of their voices. This caused a stampede for the door, the audience rising to a man. With considerable difficulty order was restored and the meeting proceeded. The excitement, however, caused many to leave the building.

Leaders of the Citizens party gave out the glad hand and good cheer in the way of liquid refreshments and "elegant" political advice in the dining room of John Heil's hotel, adjoining the bar, at Forty-fifth and Butler streets last evening.

ADDICKS' MOVE BELIEVED TRICK

Delaware Regulars Are Keeping Out of Senatorial Caucus.

GEN. WILSON TALKS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Dover, Del., Feb. 6.—The senatorial situation is practically unchanged tonight. The regular Republicans did not enter the caucus today with the Addicks wing of the party, asking that they be given until Monday to decide what action to take.

Gen. James H. Wilson, one of the leaders of the anti-Addicks faction of the Republican party, said in a statement:

"I do not consider Addicks' withdrawal as made in good faith. The regulars should not go into caucus with his people, since there would be 21 Addicks men against 10 regular Republicans and Addicks would necessarily dictate both nominees."

"The friends of Col. H. A. Dupont are unquestionably controlling the movements of the regular Republicans and they are advancing the argument that the withdrawal of Mr. Addicks is merely a trick on his part to get into the senate by a circuitous route.

It is understood that the Democrats offered to support Congressman L. Heisler Ball for the long term, allowing the other senatorship to take care of itself. This offer was rejected today, but it may be taken up and considered later.

Col. Dupont and Hon. Anthony Higgins are both spoken of as men whom the Democrats would support. Dupont was given two votes in the ballot today. Otherwise there was little change in the vote.

THIEF CAUSED FIRE.

Attempt to Rob Carpet Store of Davidyan Bros. Results in an Alarm of Fire.

An attempt to rob the carpet store of Davidyan Bros., in the Henry Phipps building, Nos. 930-936 Penn avenue, this morning resulted in setting fire to some furniture and rugs on the first floor. An alarm was sent in and when the firemen arrived they discovered the rear door of the building was standing ajar. While groping about in the dark the police also found a bundle of rugs tied up and ready to be taken away.

The police believe that the thief set fire to the place and dropped his bundle and ran. About a dozen upholstered chairs and a number of rugs were burned. The damage is estimated at about $500.

A gas engine in the basement of the Pittsburgh Misfit Carpet Company at 1206 Penn avenue set fire to the first floor shortly before 2 o'clock this morning and damage to the amount of $100 was done before the flames were extinguished. The family of Dr. T. D. Jenkins occupies the upper floors of the building, but got out before the fire made much progress.

TROLLEY CONTRACTS

New York Branch of Westinghouse Company Preparing Estimates for New Lines.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(Special.)—The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company here is getting out estimates on contracts for G. W. Dukes, O. V. Daily and T. C. McReynolds, directors of the newly organized Kokomo, Marion & Wabash (Indiana) Electric line for a complete equipment for that road, which is to be constructed this season.

The Hakes Angus syndicate of railroad constructors have placed several large orders here for electrical equipment, among which are extended contracts for machinery and material with the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company for the new electric line between Lansing and Pine Lake, Mich.

A road of 130 miles in length, and passing through the richest coal and timber deposits of the little mountain state is to be built at once. A force of 500 laborers is laying the rails.

The estimated cost of the new line is $50,000 a mile, or $6,500,000 for the line. This will connect the two smaller roads owned by the Davis syndicate and form a line which will compete with the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad for all business in the southwestern part of that state.

As yet no arrangements for traffic have been announced by Mr. Davis, but the through lines will connect with his system at Elkins and Belington. The officials recently elected are: Henry G. Davis, president; Arthur Lee, vice president; C. M. Handley, secretary; C. K. McDermott, general superintendent.

When the connections are made, and this will be done at the earliest possible moment, the line will be a much shorter route from Southern West Virginia, Cincinnati and points west than any other line. Not counting the passenger traffic, the freight business, even of coal alone, will make the line an important factor in the delivery of coal in eastern cities, and shipments for export trade.

PENNSY ASKS BIDS FOR DOUBLE TRACKS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—Bids for the grading and masonry for a double track railroad between Parkersburg and Columbia have been asked by the Pennsylvania railroad. This work was authorized by the directors several weeks ago. The new line is part of the plan to connect the Northern Central railroad with the Pennsylvania. It is to give a double track road from a point south of Marysville so that a through freight line can be run to Atglen on the main line near Downingtown.

SITUATION IS CRITICAL IN WATERBURY STRIKE

WATERBURY, CONN., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—Reports come in just now that cars have windows smashed and that this vandalism continues near the power house where the recent Italian attack was, and also at Waterville in a lonely spot near the stone arch of the Highland division. Some of the deputies on the cars had narrow escapes from injury and the situation for tomorrow and tomorrow night now begins to be alarming.

GOULDS MAKE RAMSEY HEAD OF BIG SYSTEM

Won Confidence by Securing an Entrance Into Pittsburgh.

SPHERE OF ACTION LARGELY EXTENDED

Pennsylvania Will Build New Freight Line from Baltimore to Harrisburg.

DAVIS PLANS NEW LINES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Baltimore, Feb. 6.—President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash railroad, is now president of the Western Maryland and West Virginia Central railroads, also having been elected to the presidency of the two last named properties at meetings of the boards of directors in New York.

Winslow S. Pierce, who has been the executive officer of the Western Maryland railroad and the West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh railroad since the Gould interests took charge, resigned the presidency of both companies, and was elected chairman of the boards of directors of the two properties.

F. S. Landstreet remains as vice president of the road. The election of Mr. Ramsey as president, the retirement of Mr. Pierce and the latter's election to the chairmanship of the board of directors were all done without friction, and are the results of a common understanding among the Gould interests that will result in giving Mr. Ramsey a free hand in the working out of the Gould trans-continental systems.

The change in the presidency of the Western Maryland is significant only in this, that the Western Maryland presidency goes to Mr. Gould's most trusted railroad expert. Gould's confidence in Mr. Ramsey has been increased by the success of the president of the Wabash railroad in getting in Pittsburgh.

No Immediate Changes.

"Are any other changes in the Western Maryland and West Virginia Central likely to take place in the immediate future?" was asked.

"None," said President Ramsey, "until I have made a tour of inspection over the lines. The only matter now in contemplation is the prosecuting of the work already laid out. Contracts for the building of the road between Cumberland and Cherry Run are to be executed; and there is work of important character laid out upon the lines of the West Virginia Central road. These matters I can more intelligently discuss after inspecting the roads."

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has a corps of engineers in charge of J. W. Troxell engaged in making a survey which, it is understood, is preliminary to the proposed construction for a new double-track through freight line between Baltimore and Harrisburg. This, it is stated, is one of the improvements to be paid for out of the large loan recently authorized by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

From Phoenix station the new line takes the high ground and spans the Gunpowder and the Western run streams east of the present line. This will give the Pennsylvania, or more specifically, the Northern Central, two independent double-track lines between the points named. This improvement, it is explained, is made necessary by the heavy increase in freight traffic which has caused congestion at all the terminal and junction points so frequently of late on the Baltimore division of the Northern Central, as well as on other divisions of the Pennsylvania.

The destruction of Canton elevator No. 2, thus leaving the Pennsylvania with one elevator of less than 800,000 bushels capacity, has aggravated the condition at this port.

Davis' Large Projects.

Former Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia, who for many years and until his acquirement by the Gould interests was the controlling spirit in the West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh railroad, is the leading factor in a new railroad, the headquarters of which will be in Washington.

Already over $2,000,000 has been invested and contracts for $7,000,000 worth of work are to be awarded within the next few months. The system is to be operated in West Virginia, but will connect with the Baltimore & Ohio as well as the Wabash. Mr. Davis recently purchased the Charleston, Clendennin & Sutherly, extending from Charleston to Otter, W. Va., a point near Sutton. It is a railroad 64 miles in length.

He has owned for some months the Roaring Creek & Charleston road, a small line extending from Elkins, 10 miles into a new coal and timber field. He also owns the coal and coke road, a similar small line connecting with the Baltimore & Ohio at Sutton.

A road of 130 miles in length, and passing through the richest coal and timber deposits of the little mountain state is to be built at once. A force of 500 laborers is laying the rails.

The estimated cost of the new line is $50,000 a mile, or $6,500,000 for the line. This will connect the two smaller roads owned by the Davis syndicate and form a line which will compete with the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad for all business in the southwestern part of that state.

As yet no arrangements for traffic have been announced by Mr. Davis, but the through lines will connect with his system at Elkins and Belington. The officials recently elected are: Henry G. Davis, president; Arthur Lee, vice president; C. M. Handley, secretary; C. K. McDermott, general superintendent.

When the connections are made, and this will be done at the earliest possible moment, the line will be a much shorter route from Southern West Virginia, Cincinnati and points west than any other line. Not counting the passenger traffic, the freight business, even of coal alone, will make the line an important factor in the delivery of coal in eastern cities, and shipments for export trade.

FLIMSY EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT CHARGES

Demmel Investigation by Councilman Develops Into a Farce.

The first meeting of the special councilmanic committee appointed to investigate the charges preferred against Philip Demmel, superintendent of the detective bureau, by three deposed detectives, Charles A. McGovern, William Shore and Harry Jones, was held last night in the select council chamber, presided over by Harry A. Lamb, a Citizens party councilman.

All the testimony was hearsay. Four deposed detectives and three men from Cleveland, O., testified to having heard a statement alleged to have been made by William Sweeney, alias French, that Demmel had taken a valuable diamond stud from Sweeney in lieu of his release from custody.

Demmel was represented at the hearing by Attorney William J. Brennen, and each of the deposed detectives had an attorney present. The first witness was McGovern. McGovern stated that he had arrested Sweeney, who was known to be a professional thief, in a house in Third avenue; that he had taken a diamond stud, watch and chain from Sweeney before he was removed to the police station, and that the articles were turned over to Demmel by order of Roger O'Mara, then superintendent.

McGovern said that Sweeney was released the next morning, and that Sweeney made several trips to the headquarters to get his stud. He said Sweeney told him he got the stud finally by paying $60.

McGovern said he had seen Sweeney in Cleveland last week and that Sweeney had made charges against Demmel in the presence of three men, who had signed an affidavit to this effect. McGovern said Sweeney was afraid to come to Pittsburg to testify.

Mathaw J. Henke and James Seymour, who claim to be saloonkeepers in Cleveland, and Harry L. Wilmore, a police officer of that city, were examined and identified the affidavit, but their testimony was of little importance.

Ex-Detective William Shore said that after Demmel took charge of the detective bureau it was conducted loosely. Shore said he had a dispute with Demmel because the latter wanted him to attend a social function in the East End, attired in a dress suit. William Bradley and Harry Jones were next examined. Jones stated that his signature to the charges against Demmel was a forgery. Jones found fault with Demmel because he had been sent to Allegheny to get acquainted with thieves, and had been nearly killed there. The committee then adjourned.

CHILD'S LETTER FOUND

Frank Pfluel of Allegheny One of Three Victims of Collapsed Building at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—Frank Pfluel, one of the victims in the collapse of the Strauss building this morning in which three men were killed and several injured, came here from Allegheny, Pa. In Allegheny he has a wife and two children, that fact coming out when the dead man's pockets were searched.

Two letters from the little girls in Allegheny were found. The letters were merely childish outbursts of lonesomeness and they wanted "papa."

"Dearest papa," one of the letters began. "It is cold here, but I hope that you are warm. Won't you please come home to us soon. We do want you so much and mamma, too, cries for you; please come home, papa, dear. Love and kisses from your darling daughter."

Several hundred tons of brick caved in on the gang of men, causing the accident.

Eugene Higgins, who had supervision of the work, said the men disobeyed orders, as they had been given specific instructions not to go under the archways, which were known to be weak and liable to collapse.

OFFER TO SELL PRETENDER.

Moorish Rebel Leader May Be Bought by the Sultan.

PARIS, Feb. 6.—A dispatch from Tangier says the Moorish pretender, Bu Hamara, is a prisoner in the hands of the Riata tribesmen, who have offered to sell him to the sultan. El Menebhi, the Moorish minister of war, is negotiating with the Riata tribe and it is believed that the prisoner will be brought to Fez.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—In a report to the state department in regard to the tribal war in Morocco, S. R. Gummere, United States consul general at Tangier, says that Sir Arthur Nicolson, the British minister, has informed him that the American missionaries left Fez with a large caravan on January 12, Sir Arthur having advanced money for their expenses.

They Lose Money

Many people who pride themselves on settling all bills with cash, really lose money by not paying them by check. A checking account in the Pennsylvania Trust Company, 410 Smithfield street, earns 2 per cent interest, and a check is the simplest, safest and most convenient way to settle current obligations. Costs nothing to try it. Four per cent interest on savings accounts. Write for the booklet.

HAYMAKER ASKS FOR AN INQUIRY

Wants Citizens to Investigate His Official Record for Facts.

THEY CAN NAME THE MEN

Denies That He Has "Pigeonholed" Indictments Without Having Good Reason—O'Brien and Stengel Answer Accusers.

John C. Haymaker invites an investigation of his record as district attorney. His opponents in the recordership contest have issued a statement claiming that he has "pigeonholed" over 700 indictments. The Republican candidate suggested in his addresses on the South Side and in the Thirteenth ward last night that a committee of lawyers be named by the citizens to make a thorough inquiry into what was done with these indictments. He will give the investigators every assistance.

The South Side meeting was held in Odd Fellows' hall, Sarah and Eighteenth streets. Every seat was filled and standing room was at a premium.

The meeting was called to order by John Bradley, who introduced Dr. J. P. Kerr as chairman of the meeting. The first speaker was George A. Kambach, one of the young Republicans who is working hard in the interest of the candidacy of John C. Haymaker. He was presented as a man who had been born and raised in the ward and in his speech presented the issues of the campaign in a clear and forceful manner.

O'Brien Answers Charges.

C. A. O'Brien, when he rose to make his address, said that he had something to say before beginning his speech. He said:

I have made it a rule not to use any personalities in any talks, but I will have to ask your indulgence for a few minutes to explain a personal matter between myself and two of the speakers on the other side. One of them said that I was paid for the work I did for the Citizens last spring. The charge is absolutely false. It was made by Joseph Fleschsain. Another said that I was a traitor to the cause and that during one campaign I had called Haymaker a scoundrel. This charge is made by R. H. Douglas and has no foundation. It was made by a man who was elected to select credit on the reform ticket and who has never yet made a single move to carry into effect the principles advanced by the platform on which he was elected.

The "lie factory" in Third avenue has sent out a circular in which they charge that during the term of Mr. Haymaker in the office of district attorney 535 indictments have been "pigeon-holed." By this they mean to convey the impression that they were not acted upon because of political influence or for other reasons. During the eight years Mr. Haymaker has been district attorney there have been in the office more than 30,000 cases, and out of all this number only the small percentage have remained undisposed of, and this was in cases where more than one indictment was found against a man or else there has been a good reason for their not having been acted upon.

Register George H. Stengel received an ovation when he was introduced. He said:

I am not here to make any apology for my position. I stand on one principle I have always stood for the better administration of city affairs, and that is the reason I am advocating the election of John C. Haymaker. I will not express my opinion of W. B. Hays and I am willing to accept the statements made in the newspapers that are now supporting him that he is unfit for the office.

I have been charged by R. H. Douglas with being a Judas Iscariot, a traitor to the cause of reform. I don't like to refer to personal matters in discussing the issues of the campaign, but I will say that I am willing to let my past record and my future conduct in the office to which I was elected speak for themselves, and prove whether I have deserted the cause of reform.

I was elected to common council in 1896, and while there led a little band of determined men fighting against boss rule. R. H. Douglas, who accuses me of being a deserter was also in councils and during that time 25 charters were granted to street railway companies for which the city did not receive any compensation, and Douglas voted for these ordinances.

While Mrs. Stengel was speaking John C. Haymaker came into the hall and was greeted by a burst of applause, which did not subside until he had reached the stage and bowed his acknowledgments.

In answer to the charge that indictments had been "pigeon-holed" Mr. Haymaker said:

Haymaker Wants an Inquiry.

I am willing to agree to the appointment of a committee of lawyers to investigate my office. W. B. Rodgers would be a representative Republican, W. A. Magee for the Democrats and a lawyer for each of the papers publishing the charges. I promise to show them on each of the indictments an indorsement showing just why they have not been acted upon.

Over 900 people crowded into the Polish church hall, Preble street, Thirteenth ward, last evening to listen to the address of Mr. Haymaker. Before the meeting there was a parade participated in by about 800 men.

John Harenski was chairman of the meeting. John C. Haymaker was the first speaker, and made his address very brief, as he had another meeting to attend. He said:

"If I can take this demonstration as an indication of the feeling throughout the city, I may feel certain of being recorder of Pittsburgh after April 1. This is one of the most enthusiastic meetings I have had any time during my campaign."

He then related the fact that he had formerly lived at the edge of the Thirteenth ward, and that he had attended a debating club in the Thirteenth ward at which he got his first training in public speaking. Among other things, he said: "I have said in my letter of acceptance, over my signature, that if I am elected I shall insist upon it that there shall be union hours and union prices for every man that works for the city of Pittsburgh." This was roundly applauded and there were shouts of "Haymaker again" from persons in the audience.

He then referred briefly to the charges recently made against him, that he had, during his terms of office as district attorney, pigeon-holed 700 indictments in order to satisfy political workers. He said:

Handled 30,000 Cases.

During my term of office I have had over 30,000 indictments. In many instances there were as many as 10 indictments against one man. When he was convicted on one, naturally the others were dropped. Indictments had also been made in which the parties making them disappeared. If those who have made the charge will appoint a committee to come to the court house, I shall explain why everyone of the indictments, said to have been pigeon holed, were laid aside."

Edward Steuer said that the citizens of Pittsburgh were to vote on principles. "They have put downtown bosses," he said, "and now some want to put in power another in the form of Thomas Bigelow. Be not deceived. After you have killed one boss here you should not be found napping and allow another one to grow up."

The audience could scarcely wait to hear W. C. McEldowney, a former resident of the ward, and one who is held in the highest esteem by the citizens of that section of the city. He was given a hearty reception when introduced by the chairman. He said:

Almost a year ago today I stood in this hall and advocated the election of the Citizens' ticket. I did that because I was against bossism and for good government, I stand now just where I did then. I am for good government and against bossism, and that is why I am for John C. Haymaker.

I have nothing personally against Mr. Hays, but he is not the man the people want. I deserted the bigelow ranks after Thomas Bigelow refused to let a man be nominated of the people's choice, but one of his own, I believe that in Haymaker you have the right man and I fully believe that he is going to be elected.

Among the other speakers were Jere Cargo, Dr. Leon Sadowski and Andrew Reczkowski.

ANOTHER KILLING IS ON CLAIRTON'S LIST

Quarrel Between White Man and Negro Results in Shooting of Latter.

Another murder was added to the list of Clairton yesterday afternoon, making six in about two weeks in the new town up the Monongahela river. Yesterday's crime was the result of a controversy between Allen McCune, white, and Charles Mack, colored, the latter being shot dead. The two had some words at about 4:30, a few steps from the door of the Hotel Hugo, near Blair. It is alleged that when the argument became warm, being provoked by the white man, who was drunk, the colored man asked one of his negro friends for the loan of some kind of a weapon. At this McCune, it is said, did not hesitate, but pulled a 38-caliber revolver and fired two shots at Mack. One of the bullets penetrated the colored man's brain, going in at the temple, killing him instantly.

The bystanders, most of whom were colored, picked up the victim and carried him into a nearby house. In the excitement McCune escaped. Detective Jesse Kleinfelter, the man in charge of the officers put in the lawless town by District Attorney Haymaker, started on a chase for the fugitive, as soon as he heard of the affair.

Kleinfelter traced McCune to the hills and back to the town. There he found the fugitive in bed in his room in Hugo's hotel, with a revolver under his pillow. Kleinfelter arrested him with the aid of Joseph Lloyd.

A number of witnesses who had seen the shooting identified McCune as the man who had done the shooting. He was handcuffed and put in a buggy by Officer Kleinfelter, who started for Dravosburg with him, whence he was brought to the county jail in Pittsburgh.

McCune is a bridge builder and claimed he came from Sacramento, Cal. He is about 27 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, slim build and smooth face. The dead man was about 30 years of age, and sometimes worked as a laborer, although he was better known as a colored "sport" —one of the kind that generally loaf around settlements of that kind. He came from Harrisville, Ky. The body was taken to J. Abraham's undertaking establishment at West Elizabeth and Coroner McGeary notified.

County Detective Robert Robinson was apprised of the killing at 6:30 last evening, but it was too late for him to catch the 7:40 train for the town. He was getting ready to go on the next train when he received word that McCune had been captured, and was on his way to jail in charge of Officer Kleinfelter.

SKITTISH ALLIES HEADED TO THE HAGUE

could not have prevented the allied powers from repeating their blockade next month if they desired, whereas an adverse verdict from The Hague would add a new canon to the law of nations and stop such a course or practice completely. It was to gain this principle, which necessarily vitally affects not only the future of Venezuela but of the other republics of this continent, that Mr. Bowen stood out for arbitration by The Hague tribunal instead of by the president.

Shortly before midnight tonight the German minister, Baron von Sternberg, made a brief call on Mr. Bowen with reference to the German protocol.

HERBERT WAS OFFENDED AT BOWEN'S PLAIN TALK

Text of Letter Which Caused Most Decided Sensation of Negotiations.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Dispatches from London give this as the text of that part of Mr. Bowen's letter to Sir Michael Herbert which has caused so much trouble.

"That proposition (referring to the allies' proposal, that they be allowed 20 per cent, and the peace powers 10 per cent of the customs set aside for claims), is objectionable because it would keep the allied powers allied for a period of over six years. Venezuela cannot, I am sure, be expected to encourage the maintenance of alliance against her. On this side of the water we want peace, not alliances, and it will occasion great surprise and regret when it becomes generally known that Great Britain has even proposed continuing her present alliance with Germany and Italy one moment longer than she must."

Since Sir Michael Herbert has taken such extreme exception to the publication of the substance of the note in which Mr. Bowen rejected the allies' plea for preferential treatment, it has become known here that Sir Michael induced Mr. Bowen to alter the note before he transmitted copies to his colleagues, the Italian and German ambassadors. Sir Michael asked Mr. Bowen to save him embarrassment by altering the note so that it would eliminate a sentence which said that great surprise and regret would be felt in the Americas, north and south, were England to continue the alliance with Germany and Italy one moment longer than she must. Mr. Bowen consented to eliminate this part in order that Sir Michael Herbert might not be embarrassed by handing such an anti-alliance declaration to his colleagues. But the note as first received was transmitted to London.

GIVES RESULTS EVERY TIME.

The Power of Newspaper Advertising Fully Demonstrated.

From day to day the force and value of using newspaper space becomes more apparent. The old theory that advertising space is simply a matter of secondary importance prevails no longer. Merchants and men of affairs recognize the merits of rightful advertising. Correct advertising in daily newspapers is now indispensable. No business house can afford to go without them. An instance of its effect may be set forth in the following illustration. Beginning with Sunday, January 26, last, the Sorosis Shoe Company (Wm. J. Sloan, Mgr.), made an announcement of their bargain shoe sale for women. On the succeeding days the advertisement was repeated. This display advertisement appeared in The Gazette and three other city mediums. To the utter astonishment of the company's manager the store was besieged with patrons ere 8 o'clock of the morning mentioned. At 10 o'clock it was necessary to close the doors for an hour to arrange the stock. The constant stream of customers made it again necessary for the management to close the doors between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon. By 5 o'clock in the evening of the same day the large force of clerks on the floor had fitted and sold over 400 pairs. The advertisement was thereafter continued during the remainder of the week in most all of the city dailies. During Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and even Saturday, the same unabated demand for bargain shoes prevailed. By Saturday evening the management had disposed of over 2,800 pairs. This, indeed, was a record breaker. Such results could never have been obtained through any other publication agency.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS MAHON AND MORRISON

Fills Vacancies on Soldiers' Orphan School Commission to Please Himself.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Feb. 6.—The controversy over the selection of five members of the Grand Army of the Republic on the Soldiers' Orphan school commission was ended by Gov. Pennypacker today by the appointment of Congressman Thad M. Mahon, Chambersburg, and Col. James F. Morrison, Philadelphia, in places of Dr. A. M. Smith, Beaver Springs, and John L. Grimm, Philadelphia.

Under the law creating the commission the Grand Army is entitled to five commissioners to be named by the department commander of Pennsylvania subject to executive approval. The governor's action in making these appointments is without precedent and shows he does not fear to do that which he regards as a duty.

Col. Robert P. Scott of Butler, department commander, recently submitted to the governor the names of Col. Thomas G. Sample of Allegheny, Maj. Levi G. McCauley of West Chester, and Robert H. Holgate of Scranton for reappointment, together with the names of Smith and Grimm to succeed Morrison and Mahon.

The governor approved the selection of the first three and requested Col. Scott to withdraw the names of Smith and Grimm and appoint the other two old members. This the department commander refused to do, against the advice of Col. Sample and other members of the commission. The governor took the matter in his own hands this afternoon, and without consulting any of the commissioners he appointed Morrison and Mahon.

During the Hastings administration the governor refused to approve the appointments of Sample and Morrison by the late Judge Darte of Wilkesbarre, who refused to withdraw their names, and two vacancies existed on the board until Stone became governor and approved the appointments.

79 MILLIONS FOR NAVAL DEFENSE

Appropriation Bill Doubles Number of Annapolis Appointments.

MORE ENLISTED MEN

Three Thousand Will Be Added to Man New Ships, While 673 Men Will Be Added to the Marine Corps.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The naval appropriation bill reported to the house today carries $79,048,429, or $6,142,089 less than the estimates submitted by the navy department. The current appropriation is $78,856,363.

In addition to the provision for the construction of three first-class battleships, one first-class armored cruiser, two steel training ships and one wooden brig, the bill allows the selection of two midshipmen for each senator, representative and delegate in congress, thus doubling the number. The committee says that with the present deficiency of 577 officers and with the number of officers that will be required for the ships in process of construction, the deficiency in the number of officers at the end of four years will be 1,300 unless additional midshipmen are authorized. Further provision is made for the appointment of 12 ensigns from warrant officers and for the appointment of 30 additional lieutenant commanders, 50 additional lieutenants, 30 additional surgeons, 120 additional passed assistant and assistant surgeons, 28 naval constructors, 84 additional officers for the pay corps and 3,000 enlisted men. To the marine corps the bill adds one colonel, one lieutenant colonel, five majors, 12 captains, 25 first lieutenants, 12 second lieutenants, one assistant adjutant and inspector, with rank of major; two assistant adjutants, with rank of major; one assistant quartermaster, with rank of lieutenant colonel; five assistant quartermasters, with the rank of captain; two assistant paymasters and 673 more enlisted men.

The limit of cost for the building of the naval academy is increased from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000. The sum of $100,000 is appropriated for an experimental station and testing laboratory in the department of marine engineering and naval construction.

CANEVIN'S BRIEFS REACH WASHINGTON

Papers Making Him Coadjutor Bishop of Pittsburgh Will Be Here Next Week.

Pontifical briefs appointing the Rev. Father Francis Regis Canevin coadjutor to Bishop Richard Phelan in the diocese of Pittsburgh were received yesterday by the apostolic delegation in Washington. The papers will be transmitted to Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia and thence will be carried to Pittsburgh.

Shortly after Father Canevin was notified of his selection for coadjutor to Bishop Phelan by the pope he declined the honor, wishing to remain as rector of the new Church of the Epiphany, which is being erected in the hill district.

It is not likely that any action will be taken in the matter until after the briefs are placed in Father Canevin's hands next week. He can then return them to Rome declining the office if he desires. The coadjutorship of Pittsburgh carries with it the right of succession, and Father Canevin, who is the selection of the present bishop, will probably be induced to reconsider his determination to refuse the office. In case of his refusal Rome may upon receiving a negative reply to the appointment either command Father Canevin to take the office or appoint another priest coadjutor.

WILL AVERT WAR

Brazil Agrees to Pay American Syndicate $1,000,000 to Surrender Its Concession.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(Special.)—To avert war between Brazil and Bolivia the former government is ready to pay the Anglo-American syndicate, of which Sir Martin Conway is the president, an indemnity of more than $1,000,000 to relinquish the concession in the rich rubber bearing territory of Acre, which has been the cause of friction between the two governments.

Brazil has contended that Bolivia had no right to grant a foreign syndicate a charter in the territory of Acre, the possession of which is disputed by Brazil, Bolivia and Peru. Furthermore Brazil contends that the concession is a virtual bestowal of sovereign rights upon the syndicate, giving permission of maintenance of a military force, the presence of chartered companies, which Brazil likens to those which caused so much trouble in South Africa, is held by the Rio Janeiro government to be inimical to Brazilian interests.

Many New York capitalists are interested in the Acre syndicate. Immediately the concession is disposed of Peru, Brazil and Bolivia will enter an agreement for determination of the possession of Acre by arbitration.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(Special.)—Test of a new 30-horse power Mercedes automobile, the property of James L. Breck, today, ended in injury to three of the five occupants.

In an attempt to avoid a collision with a market wagon in the Jericho turnpike, Long Island, the chauffeur lost control of the motor. The machine went over an embankment 10 feet high.

Gabriel Calderon and the chauffeur escaped with painful but not serious injuries. The others suffered more severely. Maurice Cropley's shoulder was dislocated, while that of Maurice Nanly was fractured, Ernest Leseaur's nose was broken.

DIES FROM EXPOSURE

Body of Wife of Yale Professor Found at Foot of Cliff Near Morris Cove.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Feb. 6.—The body of Mrs. Tracy Peck, wife of Prof. Peck of Yale university, was found today in Fort Hale park at Morris Cove. Mrs. Peck disappeared yesterday.

When found the body was lying on the beach near the water's edge and immediately below a cliff. There was a slight bruise on the forehead. The theory of the coroner is that Mrs. Peck's death was due to exposure, although she may have been injured somewhat by a fall from the top of the cliff.

Mrs. Peck had been sick with grip of late, but yesterday felt better and left home during the afternoon, saying that she was going to do some shopping.

Ohio Harmony Conferences in Washington Leave Akron Man Out of Figuring.

Must Show Senior Senator Something Tangible to Get His Support for Cleveland Banker in Guberatorial Race.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.

Col. Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland, who was a guest at the White House reception last night, will remain over tomorrow to consult with Ohio leaders regarding his candidacy for governor of Ohio.

Col. Herrick had a long conference with Senator Hanna today at the Arlington hotel when the Ohio situation was fully discussed. Later he went to the capitol and met Representatives Burton, Tayler and others of the Buckeye delegation. He has an appointment with Senator Foraker tomorrow morning and a great deal may depend upon this conference.

It is believed that in order to get the indorsement of Mr. Foraker, Col. Herrick must show a disposition to do the right thing in the way of patronage as governor. But as the colonel is put forward as a harmony candidate, one who is supposed to smooth the differences in the state as well as put Tom Johnson out of the way in Cleveland, his diplomatic task only begins with his interview with Senator Foraker.

A significant fact is that in making his calls at the capitol today Col. Herrick did not see Gen. Dick, whose friends say that he is not yet entirely out of the gubernatorial race. As for the general, he is saying nothing, and watching developments.

BELASCO LOSES CASE.

Order of Arrest for Onoto Watsauna Is Released for Failure to Show Sufficient Facts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The order of arrest obtained by David Belasco for Mrs. Bertram Babcock (Onoto Watsauna) was vacated today by Justice Leventritt.

Mr. Belasco's suit was brought to recover $20,000 damages for alleged malicious libel, and was based on statements made by Mrs. Babcock that a series of scenes and incidents were taken by Belasco from her two books, "The Wooing of Wisteria," and the "Japanese Nightingale," and incorporated in his new play, "The Darling of the Gods."

Justice Leventritt said the order of arrest should be vacated because the proof by affidavit that a sufficient cause of action existed was defective. The affidavit, he held, failed in showing by facts that the action exists against the defendant.

Official Autopsy Disproves Hunter's Charges Against Consul General McNally.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Consul General McNally is in the city again after a visit to Pittsburgh, and will proceed in a week or two to his new post at Liege, Belgium. The state department gave out three or four weeks ago what was said to be the last statement of the case, which was that Judge McNally's transfer from Guatemala to Liege had been approved, and at the expiration of certain leave here he would assume his duties abroad. In view of the very serious charges ex-Minister Hunter made against the judge, openly branding him as a conspirator against the minister's son, Godfrey, and that Godfrey's killing of Fitzgerald was in self-defense, it was thought strange, to say the least, that the department would make such a statement in McNally's favor unless some strong evidence clearing him had been presented.

Some stories went so far as to make the explanation that McNally had been useful in promoting industrial interests in rubber for private gain of persons high in authority, and they were shielding him, going to stand by him, and all of that, and that the announcement was made to have an easy way of leading up to a whitewashing operation. Other stories not so absurd suggested an impropriety in prejudging the case before Mr. Hunter has had time to come to Washington.

The plain truth of the matter is that the official report of the autopsy of Fitzgerald shows the bullets entered his back, the state department took the presumption that under this circumstance young Hunter could not have been acting in self-defense, and for that reason no reliance was placed in the charges against Judge McNally.

FULTON USES UGLY LANGUAGE

Hays Manager Makes an Indecent Reference to Mr. Haymaker.

SCENE IN WOOD STREET

Ex-Mayor Loses His Temper While in Conversation With S. D. Warmcastle and Attracts a Big Crowd.

Ex-Mayor Andrew Fulton, the chief lieutenant of Thomas S. Bigelow and personal manager of William B. Hays in the recordership contest, exhibited himself in an unenviable manner in Wood street yesterday afternoon. The story is told by Samuel D. Warmcastle.

As Mr. Warmcastle was going into a restaurant in Wood street for his midday meal he was hailed by Fulton.

"Look here, I want to see you," said Fulton, with a quaver in his voice and agitation showing itself all over him.

"Well, what is it?" asked Warmcastle, as he approached the Citizens leader.

"I want you to quit making assertions against my character, and to stop talking about me," said Fulton as he became angry.

"I did ——"

"Yes, you did," broke in Fulton before Warmcastle could get in a word of explanation or ask a question. "You are a liar. You have been talking about me, and—and—I want it stopped!" yelled the ex-mayor as he shook his fist in Warmcastle's face and trembled with rage.

"But, 'Andy' ——"

"No, I don't want any explanations!" shouted Fulton, still working his fist like a windmill near Warmcastle's face. "Hays is going to be elected, and I want you to know it."

Warmcastle tried to calm the irate Bigelow agent. He was unsuccessful, for, without regard to the large crowd that had gathered, and without giving a thought to the indecency of the expression, he blurted out in his rage:

"And you can go and tell Haymaker he is a ——"

"What? You don't want me to tell Mr. Haymaker such a thing as that?" asked Warmcastle.

"Yes, I do!" replied Fulton.

This was too much for Warmcastle, and he ended the conversation by walking away. Mr. Warmcastle later told Mr. Haymaker what Fulton had said, but the Republican nominee for recorder showed his high character by simply saying:

"That surprises me. Fulton and I have always been friends, and I did not think that because we differed in politics he would assail me."

Mr. Warmcastle explained that Fulton's outburst was caused by a garbled account he had received of a conversation Warmcastle had with an East End man. The latter had made the stereotyped Citizens expression about the "holiness" of the Republican party, and Mr. Warmcastle came back with a facetious remark regarding the saints on both sides. Among those in the Citizens party he mentioned Fulton, Hays and a few others. This was what caused Fulton to lose his temper.

PAID TO ATTEND HAYS MEETING

Young Man from Carnegie Says He Received $2 and Drink Money.

ODD SCALE OF PRICES

After the Rally He Became Intoxicated and Was Sent to the Workhouse—Men Hired to Make Enthusiasm.

A man who was yesterday sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse contributed some interesting information concerning how a portion of the audience at Kenwood Lawn, on Thursday evening, was secured. A meeting in the interest of Hays' candidacy was being held, and the boss had issued orders to make a good showing, and that he would pay the freight.

It was announced that the audience was to be composed of residents of the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-second wards. Bigelow happening to be shy of supporters out that way this time, gave his agents instructions to find an audience somewhere. Among many others found somewhere was Joseph Euranie of Carnegie. Early yesterday morning he was found acting in a suspicious manner in the vicinity of an East End butcher shop. At the hearing before Magistrate John H. Armstrong he told this story:

"I live in Carnegie, and with a number of friends from that town I agreed to attend the Kenwood Lawn meeting. We were told that our car fare would be paid, and that if we sat through one speech the compensation would be 25 cents. For two speeches we were to get 50 cents, and for the whole show, $2 and booze money. Our crowd remained to a finish, and we got our money. I became intoxicated and thought the butcher shop was a hotel."

Magistrate Armstrong sent the young man to Claremont for 30 days.

Distributed through the Kenwood Lawn meeting were a number of men whose duty it was to shout and applaud. Sometimes they got in at the proper climax, and often they yelled at the wrong time. It appeared like a case where they had contracted to yell so many times, and wanted to deliver the goods and collect. This story is told by a witness:

"Two young men were stationed near the rear of the hall. They paid no attention to the speakers, but were engrossed in some personal conversation. Every minute or two one of them would make a trumpet of his hands and emit a couple of loud "rahs," and then resume the personal conversation. There were at least a dozen persons engaged in contributing to the enthusiasm. Several times men who really wanted to hear the speakers had to tell the paid claqueres to shut up."

Seven hard-working Italians from Webster avenue have a grievance. They were hired to attend the Kenwood Lawn meeting. The compensation was to be a dollar apiece. They performed their part of the contract, and the agent neglected to settle.

ALLEGHENY CASES

Court Takes Testimony in Matter of Objections to Certificates of Nomination.

Before Judge R. S. Frazer in common pleas court No. 2 yesterday a hearing was held on the objections filed to the certificates of nomination of the Democratic party in a number of wards in Allegheny. These objections were made at the same time those were filed against the Democratic nomination of James G. Wyman.

It was shown that at the primary meeting in the First ward there were 29 persons present, when a Citizens party man acted as secretary. At another meeting, when the ticket was fixed up, it was stated there were five or six men present, one of whom was a Republican and another a member of the Citizens party. In the Third ward it was testified 12 persons were present when a committee to confer with the Citizens party was appointed. It was claimed that in the Fifth ward that all the members of the ward committee had not been given notice of a meeting. It was also testified that William Getty, who signed the objections, is not a resident of the ward.

A hearing was held yesterday in common pleas court No. 1 in the matter of objections filed by two factions of the Citizens party of North Braddock. One ticket was headed by A. T. Reed and the other by Elijah Basey, both candidates for the office of burgess.

In the same court the three tickets of the Citizens party of Rankin were declared void

YOUNG MARSHALL INJURES WYMAN

Speaks to Traction Employes and Makes a Bad Break.

DROVE VOTES AWAY

Attacked the Officials of the Road and Secured the Enmity of the Men—Others Charitable in Name of Ex-Mayor.

The indiscretion of Meredith Marshall, one of Wyman's star stump speakers, has cost the latter a large number of votes and has estranged Marshall from the ex-mayor temporarily at least. The cause of the disruption was the speech made Thursday night by Marshall at the annual ball of the United Traction Company's Relief association in Cyclorama hall.

Almost 1,000 people were in the hall and the festivities were at their height when, in pursuance of his method of never passing up a chance to help himself along, Wyman entered the place. With him was Meredith Marshall. Wyman solicited permission from the executive committee of the association to make a brief address. He was followed by Mr. Marshall, who began a tirade against the officials of the United Traction Company, declaring that the men employed by the company were ill-treated and that the company, not the men, were responsible for the numerous accidents that saddened so many homes.

Such talk came as a shock to the men and their families who were participating in the evening's fun. Marshall was given to understand that he was not welcome. He quickly took a seat, and M. J. Maxwell, superintendent of the Allegheny division of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, mounted the platform.

Supt. Maxwell Scores Them.

Mr. Maxwell denied everything Marshall had said, and was cheered long and loudly by the men. He reminded Mr. Wyman and Mr. Marshall that they had come into the house without invitation and had imposed political talk on an assemblage of men that did not care to hear it.

Just about this time "Invincible Jim" slipped out. Mr. Marshall rose and said that he had been speaking as an attorney who had had some interest in the men at times when they were in trouble.

"You did not come here as an attorney, but as a politician," said Mr. Maxwell.

"Your remarks are untrue, and I will leave it to the men to let it be known whether or not they are well treated by the United Traction Company officials."

The tumult that followed was too much for Marshall and he left the building. Nothing else but this blunder of Marshall's was talked about in Allegheny yesterday. At Wyman headquarters everyone was wearing a glum expression and Wyman himself looked as though he had lost something. And he has, for votes that he had felt confident of getting will go the other way. The traction employes are clannish.

Dispatcher William Devlin who mingles with the men on all the lines during the hours of daylight, said last evening:

"I have spoken to scores of the men today and they all condemn Mr. Marshall for his remarks and Mr. Wyman for having such men about him. Wyman lost a lot of votes by that little trick last night."

Why Wyman Was Charitable.

A report published yesterday to the effect that Wyman and his lieutenants were doing charitable work among the poor who suffered from the effects of the flood in lower Allegheny was investigated and found to be untrue. But the report caused to be brought up some stories of Wyman alleged open-handedness during floodtimes. During the flood of one year ago Wyman was in the west. His best friend at that time, and one who had helped him for years financially and otherwise, was Squire Ed Braun. When the flood filled cellars and submerged streets in the lower wards Braun immediately bought large quantities of coal and food and distributed them among the needy at his own expense.

At the time Braun knew that Wyman had the recordership bee in his bonnet and was certain that he would endeavor to get on the Citizens ticket should that latter party win the November fight. Seeing an excellent chance to make Wyman more solid with the residents in the stricken wards Squire Braun spread the news that Wyman was the donor of all the good things. Bogus telegrams purporting to have come from Wayman in the west were read in which Braun was instructed to "Supply the poor with unlimited quantities of coal and food at his (Wyman's) expense."

The result was that when Wyman threw down the respectable element in the Citizens party and grabbed the party name for his own ends, his nomination was loudly acclaimed by the residents of the lower wards who had enjoyed the charity of Square Braun. Wyman never knew how kind he had been until he returned from the west and was shown the telegrams that were supposed to have come from him.

Another story of Wyman's lavish expenditure of money for the benefit of the poor is told by Recorder John R. Murphy who says that in flood times when the Allegheny department of charities does charitable work in the lower wards, Wyman invariably takes credit for it.

CLARK GIVES FAKE FIGURES

BigelowDemocratic Chairman Makes Silly Predictions.

HAYMAKER SURE WINNER

There Are Now 22 Wards Certain to Give Him a Majority, 9 in Doubt and 7 Are Conceded to Hays.

In the possible hope of having the Republican organization give out its estimates on wards, James A. Clark, city chairman of the Bigelow Democracy, yesterday issued a statement claiming the election of William B. Hays by 6,746. It was a fake prediction put out in the hope that the Republicans would be silly enough to make a detailed answer. Clark says that his figures are gotten by a thorough ward canvass, something the Democracy has not undertaken.

Republican City Chairman M. G. Leslie was asked what he thought of the Clark figures, and replied: "Clark has no detailed information as to the condition in each ward. He is laboring under the impression that the figures of last February's election can be used in this contest. This can not be done. In this fight party lines have been obliterated. Hundreds of men who were with the Citizens a year ago are supporting Mr. Haymaker. It is simply a question between Haymaker and Hays and our canvassers had no trouble in learning from the people where they stand.

"We have been at work in a thorough canvass of the city for the past week and by Tuesday the labor will have been completed. The Democrats have made no effort to make a systematic canvass of the voters. I do not propose to give my opinion of how certain wards will go, as we are not in the business of supplying information to the enemy. When the canvass is completed I will make a statement concerning the result in the city generally.

"Our canvass is showing even more gratifying results than we had hoped for. I have enough information at hand now to say that on the present showing Haymaker will have 22 wards certain; 7 are conceded to Hays and 9 are classed as doubtful. Haymaker is daily making inroads on the strength of Hays. His election is now certain and the indications are that his majority over Hays will be extremely large."

The Philadelphia Company, the Pittsburgh Railways Company and affiliated corporations yesterday gave notice to their thousands of employes that the latter must abstain from active participation in politics. In all the car barns, power houses, gas houses and other places where the men congregate the following self-explanatory notice was posted:

It is the desire of these companies that their employes abstain from active participation in politics, and that they devote their time and energies to the performance of the duties for which they are engaged.

It is further the desire of these companies that their employes clearly understand that they do not sanction or permit any one to direct their employes how or for whom to vote, but every employe is entitled to exercise his rights and to vote or not as he pleases, and for whom he pleases, and will be protected in the exercise of those rights.

McKeesport Citizens Hold a Meeting and Dispense Drinks.

GOOD PEOPLE ANGRY

The Ministerial Association Will Probably Take the Matter Up at Its Meeting Monday—Many Votes Made for Falkenstein.

As a result of a meeting held in Cohesim hall by the Citizens-Democratic party of McKeesport, the church people of the city upon whom the Citizens have been depending mainly to pull their candidates through are rapidly declaring for George Falkenstein, the Republican candidate for mayor.

The majority of the church people have been undecided as to which ticket they would support, but the meeting Thursday night, at which four quarters of beer, hundreds of "weiners" and pretzels were dispensed to the audience free of charge, has had the effect of turning them against the candidates on the bogus "reform" ticket.

A large attendance was attracted by the announcement on handbills that "refreshments" would be served. In one corner of the hall a rudely-constructed bar supported a quarter barrel of beer, while under the counter were three others waiting to be tapped. The beer was given out by two hired bartenders, and everybody got all they wanted.

The speakers could not be heard 10 feet from the stage, because of the uproar about the bar and the rattle of beer glasses. The crush around the bar was such that one orator was compelled to stop in the middle of his speech and request the audience to leave off drinking for a few minutes, while he told them about his ticket.

Daniel G. Donovan, candidate for treasurer, was the only candidate to deliver an address, which consisted of a two-minute talk, after which he bolted from the hall. I. S. Stentz spoke in the interests of R. A. Hitchens, candidate for mayor.

At the conclusion of the speeches the meeting was turned into a vaudeville entertainment, with colored singers and dancers occupying the stage. All the speakers escaped and allowed the crowd to finish up the beer. The "refreshments" held the crowd until 10 o'clock, after which the lights were put out.

The meeting has aroused such feeling among the ministers and members of the various churches that it is likely the Ministerial association, which meets on Monday, will condemn the candidates on the Citizens ticket.

NATURE'S OWN CURE.

Hyomei Cures Catarrh Without Dangerous Drugging of the Stomach.

Not until Hyomei was discovered has it been possible to truthfully say that a remedy for catarrh was known.

This remedy is breathed through the Hyomei inhaler for a few minutes four times a day, and during that time every particle of air taken into the air passages and lungs is impregnated with the germ-killing and health-giving Hyomei. It is the only treatment that cures catarrh.

Stomach drugging often causes disordered digestion or brings on some other diseases, and never makes a permanent cure of catarrh. Hyomei not only kills the germs in the throat and nose but penetrates to the minutest air cells in the lungs and enters the blood with the oxygen, killing the germs in the blood. It frees the mucous membrane from poisonous microbes and gives perfect health.

A complete outfit costs but $1, and includes an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomei for more than a month's treatment.

The leading druggists of this city have so much faith in the merit of Hyomei that they agree to return the money to any purchaser who may be dissatisfied.

PIANOS

At Hamilton's Special Price Sale

Hamilton's sale of pianos that were slightly scuffed during the holidays will soon end.

So look out!

If you are in earnest in the matter of wishing to save money, NOW is the time to act.

By coming to this store NOW you can save from $100 to $200 on the price of an instrument. If you delay, the opportunity will be lost.

The point of particular importance in this sale is that these pianos include some of the very best makes. The scuff marks would not be seen by the average person. They are all in the case work—a slight defect in the varnish is all in most instances. No musician would stop to consider such a "defect" for a moment. For it in nowise lessens the piano's worth as a musical instrument.

You know what Hamilton's advertisements mean. They always tell the simple truth, without any attempt at flowery description. You can and do believe in them. This store has been catering to the people of this community for more than a quarter of a century, and the friends it has made are its stanch supporters.

Persons living out of town should write for particulars, in case they find it inconvenient to attend this sale. The saving of money is so great, however, that it would pay anybody handsomely to come, but pianos ordered by mail are sure to give satisfaction. You can depend upon Hamilton's for that.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1903.

There is a revival of activity in the matter of a site for the technological school offered the city by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, and it is to be hoped the New York conference will result in a practical conclusion that will be followed by speedy realization of the project. The Schenley park site would have solved the problem very well, but that matter has been bungled in the handling. The Magee-Flinn property will meet the requirements if the price is within the purchasing power of the city. But whatever site is to be secured ought to be had without further delay. It is discreditable to the city to have dallied so long with this munificent offer for the establishment of an institution of so much importance and so much needed by the community.

Gov. Pennypacker's methods excite continual comment and occasional surprise among the politicians, but the people will have no difficulty in appreciating his motives. He is going about his work with the conscientious attention to detail characteristic of the man. It does not matter with him whether things have been done this way or that way before; what concerns him is the right way, and he moves along that line with severe indifference to the opinions of the politicians. Now that is just what the people expected of him, and they are glad to find that he is handling the public business in the spirit of a trustee. The only regret is that the powers of his office have been so restricted that he cannot make his influence felt in every department of the state government.

Frost boulevard has been a very expensive undertaking for the city. It has cost four times the original estimate already, large claims for extra work caused by changes in contract specifications are still pending and the expense of keeping the boulevard in order promises to be enormous. This last largely arises from the fact that in cutting through the face of the hills a stratum of clay is exposed which acts as a cushion to the rock strata above, so that these tend to slide out and topple into the boulevard. Landslides of this character Thursday night completely blocked the boulevard, and more are likely to occur from time to time, and the city will be charged with continuous expense in removing the debris. In view of the fact that public use of the boulevard is very limited, the return for the investment of city funds seems very disproportionate to the outlay. The one thing which commends it is that it is the only route from downtown to the East End not cumbered by car tracks.

The series of decisions by which the English courts have held trade unions liable to civil damages for unlawful acts done by members in carrying on strikes ordered by the unions have naturally caused great anxiety among the unions. Benefit funds are a prominent feature in the management of English trade unions, and these are now exposed to liabilities of incalculable amount. Legislation defining the powers and responsibilities of trade unions is now being sought, and discussion is going to the root of the trouble—the lack of means for settling disputes without resort to strikes or lockouts. The fact that this has been accomplished in New Zealand by the adoption of compulsory arbitration is familiar knowledge among English trade unionists, and they have close at hand an application of what is practically the same principle in the judicial determination of fair rent in the administration of the Irish land laws. Hence compulsory arbitration is looming up in England as a practical solution of labor troubles. Although the idea has not met with much favor in this country, if the tendency becomes general throughout the civilized world, it will be certain to affect our legislation.

In the current issue of Mr. William J. Bryan's paper he publishes a picture of his new house and also makes a statement of his financial affairs, in which it is gratifying to observe that Mr. Bryan himself shares in the general prosperity which has attended the establishment of the gold standard. The house is a handsome villa residence of 20 rooms and the original tract of five acres purchased by Mr. Bryan in 1895 has been added to from time to time until the grounds about the house now comprise 25 acres. Mr. Bryan, whose characteristic sincerity is marked throughout the statement, says: "The acquaintance and notoriety given me by the presidential campaigns largely augmented my earning power." His principal income has come from lecturing, and his weekly paper, while successful, is not so lucrative a possession as has been imagined, and he says that he has drawn out of it an average of less than $5,000 a year. As the paper was only started two years ago, the showing is decidedly creditable to his business ability. Altogether Mr. Bryan's statement shows that the influence he has acquired is very moderate in view of his decided cleverness, and it is the result of his individual effort and honorable service in behalf of public interests as he understands them.

It is much to be regretted that there should be any personal feeling between Mr. Bowen and the representatives of the European powers at Washington, and particularly so in the case of the British ambassador, representing a country entirely friendly to the United States as regards the Monroe doctrine. If it be true, as reported, that in a note to the British ambassador Mr. Bowen told him that the English people would hardly approve of the methods of their foreign office, the action was a display of shirt-sleeves diplomacy that could not fail to be irritating. It would have been a rude reply, but an altogether truthful one, to say that that was none of Mr. Bowen's business. It is hardly likely, however, that such a capable and experienced diplomatist as Mr. Bowen would make such a tactless blunder as that imputed to him, although it seems certain that there has been some friction. The apparent fact that the irritation seems confined to the British ambassador and is not shared by the German and French conferees would indicate that Great Britain is not so capably represented as the other powers. Arrangements and methods acceptable to Germany should not be objectionable to England, where the aversion of public opinion to the German alliance and desire to get out of it is strongly marked.

MUNICIPAL JUGGLING.

Since it has been reorganized and converted into an instrument of ring rule, the Citizens party organization has been treading the downward path. Originally organized "to secure and maintain an economical and efficient municipal government and to discourage and defeat all efforts to elect incompetent and dishonest men to public office," it has abandoned those principles and descended to the ordinary tricks of ring management. Charter requirements as to the preparation of the appropriation ordinance and the sessions of committees are violated and the municipal budget is being juggled with in a way that is not only opposed to economy and efficiency, but exhibits a purpose to deceive the people. There is no economy in ignoring obligations that must be met sooner or later and which will only grow by postponement; it does not promote municipal efficiency to cripple the health and fire departments or to refuse the means to give the additional police protection which the growth of the city requires. This mere pretense of economy is being already claimed as a reduction of taxation. As a matter of fact the tax levy is unchanged, but one mill is devoted to water pipe extension so as to provide sufficient supply of water to put out fires. Negligence in this particular would cost far more in insurance rates than a one mill tax rate, and the separate treatment of the proposition is a piece of campaign duplicity.

The true situation of municipal affairs does not appear to have been met or even considered in the action of the finance committee. The city has already unpaid obligations, and the levy fixed as compared with the appropriations decided upon, practically means that there will be a huge deficit, unless a bond issue is resorted to. In fact a loan will be necessary to save the city from bankruptcy, under such financial management. The only practical relief for the taxpayers must come from the development of sources of revenue other than direct taxation. Pittsburgh has large resources which have never been utilized for public benefit, but to reach them will require a man of decided force, acumen and ability in the recorder's office. That is the key to the municipal situation, and for the protection of their interests the people should select the most capable man offered to their choice.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION.

From time to time within the past three years proof has been furnished of the inadequacy of the estimates as to the country's requirement of iron and steel products. The large additions made to the producing capacity, which last year was the largest in our history, led some authorities to predict overproduction and a consequent disturbance in the market. In November, 1901, nine months after the organization of the United States Steel Corporation, when that great producer was able to report orders on hand aggregating 2,831,600 tons, the fact was referred to as unprecedented. A year later, or in November, 1902, the orders reported on its books reached 4,968,000 tons. On the first day of the present year it was announced that the total had increased to 5,347,000 tons, and even the most sanguine thought that the figures would stand as a record. But this week the official figures as of the 1st of February show orders booked footing up 5,509,000 tons, an increase for the month of January alone of 161,747 tons by this one corporation. But this does not tell the whole story. The domestic demand continues so great that consumers are still going abroad for supplies.

Iron is only one of the materials entering into construction work. These orders aggregating more than 5,500,000 tons mean that orders for other things have been or will be placed. They mean the production of coal and coke, ore and limestone before the iron and steel can be turned out, and after this orders for lumber, granite, brick, glass, etc. And then all these products must be assembled at the point of final use, which means traffic for the railroads. It might be worth the time of some one to trace a ton of ore from its native bed to the final use of the finished material of which it furnishes the basis. It would probably be found that it touched more lines of business than any other commodity. It was the keen observation of such men as Jay Gould, Abram S. Hewitt and Andrew Carnegie that led them to select the iron trade as the barometer of general trade conditions. Therefore, when the largest producer of iron and steel products furnishes the evidence of an unprecedented demand, the average business man is justified in feeling even greater confidence in the future and laying his plans accordingly.

Another industry which comes very close to the general public is the transportation business, and here also there is not only evidence of an unprecedented volume of traffic, but at the same time evidence of confidence on the part of railway managers that this volume will be indefinitely maintained. There was probably never a time in the history of the country when it was planned to spend a larger sum of money for railroad improvements than is planned for the coming two or three years.

Some slight relief has been experienced from freight blockades, the embargo having been raised during the week on shipments of lumber, grain, hay and ore on Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh. The congestion, however, is still severe and is not confined to a limited area. This week five transatlantic steamships were delayed in sailing from New York on account of inability to obtain coal. The latter had left the mines, but its movement to seaboard had been retarded by the inability of the railroads to forward it promptly. Some manufacturing establishments are still shut down from the same cause.

Growing ease has been the feature of foreign and domestic money markets. Rates of discount have declined to the normal level, and international exchanges do not indicate any special demand for gold in any market. According to the statement of the treasury department, the amount of money in the United States on the 1st inst. was the largest ever reported, both as to the total stock and the amount in circulation. The increase in the latter for the month of January was more than $7,000,000, the total now standing at $2,335,758,853, or nearly $36,000,000 more than the amount in circulation at the corresponding date a year ago. Since 1896, the date of the severest financial and commercial depression in the United States, there has been an increase of more than $766,000,000 in the circulation medium, and the bulk of this increase has been of a quality that is recognized the world over as the best. Some increase in stock market operations was observable during the week, and generally speaking there is a more cheerful tone in financial and industrial circles.

STATEHOOD HOLD-UP.

There is talk again of a compromise on the statehood bill that will permit it to come to a vote. There was talk of the same kind a week ago, but nothing came of it. The advocates of the omnibus bill were then said to be willing to accept an amendment to admit Arizona and New Mexico as one state, but Senator Beveridge spurned the suggestion. Now, after another week spent in pouring into the Congressional Record reasons why the territories are unfit for admission, it is thought the opponents of the measure are softening a little. Thus it appears their oratory tends to conviction that the truth is opposite to the assertion. If they talk on to the end of the session they may be found willing to vote for the three new states, regardless of population or area.

A compromise now would enable the enactment of other important legislation. A week ago would have been better. A continuation of the fight to the end and a final surrender to the adoption of the bill as a rider to the agricultural appropriation will simply defer all necessary business and leave the statehood measure as the sole product of the session. The charge has been freely made that the deadlock on this bill and the hold-up have been engineered for the purpose of again defeating Cuban reciprocity, the Panama canal treaty and the proposed interstate commerce regulation of the big corporations. The senate makes a feature of ignoring popular sentiment, but even the senate cannot afford to continue this policy of blocking every bill or treaty of consequence, and surely the nation cannot afford to have it continued. Cuban reciprocity is for the advantage of the country at large; the Panama canal is a virtual necessity of expanding commerce and extended national responsibilities and the curbing of the trusts is good public policy. There is neither sense nor party advantage in blocking all these by refusing to allow the insignificant and doubtful statehood bill from coming to a vote and being disposed of.

A RIFT IN THE CLOUD.

As an indication of relief from the worst phases of congestion the railroads centering at Pittsburgh have lifted the embargo placed upon certain classes of freight. This order follows closely the abandonment of the "Pennsylvania special," which concluded its last runs east and west on Thursday. It is not assumed this train was responsible for the embargo, but it is interesting to calculate, from a railroader's point of view, the cost of running one such train. The equipment for this pride of the Pennsylvania system must have cost $500,000. Its operation was of the most expensive, for high speed means the maximum of wear and tear, the employment of the best men and all that. That comprises the direct cost.

The indirect cost of an extra fast train is far greater than the direct expense. For an hour before it is due on any part of the road freight trains must hunt sidings and thousands of wheels stand idle while the "flyer" goes thundering past. Ordinary fast trains and accommodations get out of the way, too, but are not kept idle as long as the freights. Hundreds of employes are paid for waiting time, tons of coal are burned getting the trains started again. In fact it is a serious thing to suspend the general "movement" of a railroad for nearly an hour. It means a difference of thousands of ton miles in the day's work, and that is why the famous 20-hour train was sacrificed.

It is in the light of these facts that one can understand the advantages to be derived from abandoning one train. It is almost the equivalent of adding an hour a day to the movement of freight trains between Chicago and New York. But even if the gain was less than a half-hour it would be a big thing. One-fiftieth of the enormous tonnage of the Pennsylvania system is more freight than many important towns originate. It will not give all of the relief Pittsburgh needs so much, but it will mean something even to this great tonnage producing center.

Salvation Army methods are startling at times, but if the Homestead advertisement for 100 drunkards should be answered by twice the number with full evidence of conditions and requirements, the army itself might be shocked.

Wu Ting Fang, formerly Chinese ambassador at Washington, will have his abilities in the query line taxed when he begins to inquire where the money is to come from to carry out the reforms he is to introduce.

Gov. Pennypacker's activity has produced a flood of amendments to the corporation laws. This is the best possible evidence that the governor's points have been well taken by the corporation lawyers.

Senator Beveridge and his following insist that it is Quay that is holding up legislation, on the same principle that the one juror discovered the other eleven to be very stubborn men.

Representative Pusey is confident he will get his bill passed to prevent the cartoonists drawing "unhuman animals," but better bills have died on capitol hill.

Ambassador Herbert informs his government that he doesn't like Mr. Bowen, but he took care not to tell the big fellow anything like that to his face.

Gov. Pennypacker is not just the same as other governors have been, but the opinion is growing that he is "something equally as good," perhaps better.

Cincinnati, New Orleans and other points down the rivers should not suffer from coal famine after the run that is now riding the crest of the wave.

For a short session and a business one the legislature at Harrisburg is a little dilatory in getting at the real work.

It is no violation of confidence to say that Venezuela loves Minister Bowen for the enemies he has made.

Senator Hanna's pension bill, "introduced by request," has excited much comment not by request.

When the Bigelowites can't talk anything else they can talk billingsgate.

Bowen's Brave Answer.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The robust answer of Minister Bowen, on behalf of Venezuela, to the unjustifiable demand of the blockading powers for preferential treatment will command the sympathy and approval of this country. In fact, its vigorous tone and merited rebuke will strike a responsive chord in American sentiment as no previous expression of Venezuela has done.

MANY FATALITIES MARK "DEATH LANE"

Agitation in New York to Bar Railroad from Eleventh Avenue.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Feb. 6.

Metropolis as this city is, the primitive systems of street cars in some parts and the freedom with which railroad trains run on some of the streets provokes the wonder of casual visitors. Now there is renewal of the old-time agitation to make the New York Central cease running its freight trains on Eleventh avenue. So many fatalities have occurred here that it is known in the neighborhood as "Death Lane." It is said that the railroad in 1846 obtained a franchise to run its engines and freight trains along Eleventh avenue, the privilege to cease in 1856. The use of the avenue has continued right along, however, and every year there are fatalities through this use. Among the engines that move up and down the avenue is the famous old "999," which was exhibited at the Chicago World's fair and was for a very long time the motive power of the "Empire State Express"; it has fallen on poorer times now. It draws a milk train along Eleventh avenue and children have to dodge when they see it coming, while cross-town horse cars that move along Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets are obliged to send a conductor ahead to see that the way is clear before venturing to cross. Residents and property owners intend to renew the fight of old days. The legislature, the board of aldermen and other authorities will be asked to help, and unless the railroad company is too strong to be touched by the law, there is a chance that Eleventh avenue may be kept free of trains, at least below Sixtieth street. Pittsburgh knows from its experience with Liberty avenue how hard it is to make a railroad get off a public thoroughfare when once it has been in the habit of using it. There are dummy engines running below Thirtieth street, for which privilege the company pays the city $50 an engine. These dummies have a cab in which the engineer sits and the machine looks as much like a car as possible so that it shall not frighten horses. When the visitor sees Broadway, with its handsome buildings and generally up-to-date aspect, he can hardly understand how such archaic conditions can prevail on an avenue only a few blocks distant.

Winds and Skyscrapers.

Many people gathered at the corner of Twenty-third street and Broadway today to look at the big "Flatiron" building and wonder whether the winds really are endowed with a hundred times their normal strength by rattling against the sides of the great skyscraper. The killing of a boy at that point yesterday by his being blown under the wheels of an automobile has caused many persons to regard the stories of the wind's work there more seriously than they did a week ago. That it is a windy corner is conceded, but whether the great building has anything to do with the power of the blast is what the public would like to know. It looks as if it has, and a law to regulate not only the height but the shape of skyscrapers may not be altogether an impossibility in New York.

Pleasant Weather for Shopping.

The department stores were jammed with shoppers today. This was the first really pleasant day New York has seen for a week or two. There was little wind, the sun shone, the streets were cleaned, the air balmy. Naturally women turned out in large numbers to enjoy a day's shopping. It has been a great day for retail trade. In fact, every kind of business has profited by the pleasant weather. A week or two of it would mean the circulation of millions of dollars here that otherwise would remain stagnant. Bright weather is a great tonic for New York.

Liberty Statue Sees Collision.

Two steamships ran into each other near the statue of Liberty this morning. It was not foggy, and there seemed to be no particular reason for an accident. But it happened just the same, and the dock idlers had their half-hour of pleasurable excitement, just as if the fog had been as thick as an army blanket—as it has been most mornings for the past two weeks.

Theater for the Yiddish.

The opening of a new theater on the East Side expressly for the presentation of plays in the Yiddish tongue is looked on as a good thing for the Ghetto. The question asked along Broadway is whether the vast population of foreign born people in the teeming tenement districts is likely to become Americanized, or whether there will always be a foreign colony there which eventually may become threatening to the whole community.

Another Reed Story.

Although Thomas B. Reed, formerly speaker of the house of representatives, has been dead several weeks, personal anecdotes of him are still current in this city, and are always listened to with interest. Here is one I heard in the lobby of the Fifth Avenue hotel this afternoon, which I believe has never been printed: Some years ago the Canadian commission, headed by the governor general of Canada, Sir Wilfred Laurier, visited Washington. Mr. Reed showed the party through the capitol and after taking them into both ends of the great building, led them to the House restaurant for luncheon. Mr. Reed had instructed the head waiter to have things prepared for his distinguished guests. For some reason the head waiter had fallen a little behind and the party had to wait a few moments while seats were set for them at a big table, where they were to lunch. Sir Wilfred smiled at Mr. Reed's evident annoyance over the delay and remarked: "Mr. Reed, it looks as if your authority were not absolute here." Reed's answer was ready on the instant. His little eyes twinkled and he replied, with his usual drawl: "Wall, it isn't exactly hair-trigger, but it goes." The next minute the head waiter was bowing the party into their places.

Fun at the Arion Ball.

Another "French ball" is on at Madison Square garden tonight. This time it is the Arion ball, which function has for the last few years been a warm rival of the original "French ball" of the Cercle D'Harmonie Francaise. The Arions are just as frisky as their prototypes, and there is always a good time for the casual visitor who drops in with the regulars. It is a wide-open occasion.

A Difficult Question.

There is a discussion in one of the papers here on the burning question, "Does the pretty girl make the best wife?" The man who is to settle it has moved over to New Jersey, and will give his decision by long-distance telephone.

Argument at Philadelphia.

There was a general exodus of sporting men from their rendezvous at Forty-second street and Broadway, and that famous corner is almost deserted this evening. There is an "argument" in Philadelphia between "Terrible Terry" McGovern and Joe Bernstein, the "Champion of the Ghetto."

Women at Murder Trials.

The usual number of women attend the Hooper Young murder trial from day to day. They are the same old crowd—young, middle-aged and old women, with a preponderance of young ones. Many of them sat through the Molineux trial whenever they could get into the court room, and they will follow the Young trial to the very end if the court officers allow it. Some of them went over to Long Island to listen to the proceedings in the trial of Pierrepont, and if there were a sensational trial in Pittsburgh next month they probably would pay railroad fare to get there. It is one of the fads of the times and perhaps is not worse in New York than elsewhere, but it seems so.

Society Is Shocked.

New York was greatly shocked today when the news came from London of the death of Lady Henry Gordon-Lennox. Only a few months ago Lady Lennox was here, attracting general attention because reputed to be the best-dressed woman in English society. She was interviewed by the newspapers, petted by New York society, asked to lecture on clothes, and made a lion—or was it a lioness?—generally. She was a women of great accomplishments and charming manner and New York and Newport society would have kept her here much longer than she could stay, had it been possible.

James R. Keene Laid Up.

Wall street was excited this afternoon over the report that James R. Keene was seriously ill. His secretary says he is not ill, but is staying in his rooms at the Waldorf because of a slight injury to his knee, which his physicians fear might get worse when he tries to move about. He will be out in a day or two, declares the secretary.

Lesson Lost on Little Sinner.

An East Side boy, 7 years old, was playing "hookey" from school this afternoon. Along came an ash-cart, which ran over and killed him. The ash-cart driver was arrested but Magistrate Cornell said to him in court: "I shall not hold you for a minute. You are discharged." Unhappily, the lesson was lost on the poor little sinner who was killed. It was shown to the satisfaction of the magistrate that the boy was playing "tag" and ran right under the wheels before the horse could be stopped, notwithstanding that it was moving very slowly.

Platt Holds Conference.

Senator Platt has come from Washington to have a chat with Gov. Odell and Chairman Dunn of the Republican state committee. The three will confer on legislation and other party matters, but it will be in the retirement of Senator Platt's private apartments in the Fifth Avenue hotel, and only such information as has been well digested and prepared for public consideration will leak out. None of the three leaders is easy to pump.

Police Will Parade.

There will be a police parade this year. Commissioner Greene believes in maintaining the military spirit to the utmost in the police force, and he thinks it will be greatly stimulated by the men marching along Broadway with colors flying and bands playing. He has set the date of the parade for May 2. It used to be held on the day following Memorial Day, but the commissioner says the parade on Memorial Day would overshadow that by the police next day and he does not want the police to play second fiddle to anyone. Commissioner Partridge abolished the parade because he thought it gave the police too much work and took them away from their regular duties too long. There has not been a police parade since "Big Bill" Devery rode at the head of the column. Chief Inspector Cortright will be in charge this time.

Theater to Change Owners.

It is probable that "Bim, the Button Man," will get out of the theatrical business as suddenly as he broke into it. He owns the West End theater in Harlem and has been doing a profitable business. Now it is said that Stair & Havlin want to buy the West End, and as they offer a large advance on the original purchase price the chances are they will get the theater. "Bim" is a man of business first of all, an impresario afterward.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett, aged 57 years, is dead at her home in Homestead, after a short illness from paralysis. She had been a resident of Homestead for 20 years, and is survived by one sister, Miss Ida Stack, and a niece, Mrs. Lawrence Farrell, both of Homestead.

Mrs. Thomas Harding died yesterday at No. 210 Fifth avenue, Homestead, after a brief illness. Mrs. Harding was 40 years of age.

Patrick P. O'Leary, aged 46 years, of Homestead, died yesterday at his residence in Homestead of stomach trouble. He is survived by his wife.

Greater Pittsburgh Sentiment.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The bill now before the legislature to prepare the way for the consolidation of municipalities in Allegheny county with Pittsburgh is different from former measures on that subject. Heretofore the proposition has been to lasso these cities and boroughs and drag them in under one administration. But the present bill proposes to let them all decide it for themselves. No action can be taken until 5 per cent of the taxables of the municipality seeking annexation petition for it. Then the councils must act and finally the people will vote upon it. These provisions cannot be objectionable, and the passage of this measure would not commit annexation in any case. As there is a pretty strong sentiment for legislation of this kind in Pittsburgh and other parts of Allegheny county, and apparently no objection from anywhere else, there is fair prospect for its success.

Not Interested.

From the Baltimore American.

The apathy among the people in Colombia over the Titiana shooting is almost inexplicable. This gives apparent lack of interest in the affair, either through intimidation or callousness to such tragedies, is the most reprehensible feature of the shocking crime and its after-effects.

PERSONALS

"When I sailed from Southampton about 10 days ago, I heard all kinds of war talk," said Herbert D. Compton of St. Paul, Minn., who was a passenger on the Pennsylvania limited last night. "The English seemed ready to plunge Germany into hostilities with Uncle Sam, and the sentiment, strangely enough, was with the United States. The people apparently lost sight of the claims which Great Britain also has on Venezuela. Nobody familiar with the condition of affairs on the continent, however, will have any grave fears, as Germany is unable to go to war with this country. The kaiser may have the arms and the soldiers and the battleships, but his commissary department is in serious straits, and war with Uncle Sam would result in a European famine."

"The output of gold in the United States next year will exceed all past figures," was the sanguine statement made last night by Thomas Colehan of Virginia City, Nev., at the Hotel Lincoln. Mr. Colehan is connected with a number of mining companies. "The chemical process of extracting gold from the ore has been developed to such an extent that the refuse heaps of ore, or 'tailings,' will be worked over, and will yield a surprising amount of gold. This means much for the success of the western mines."

Members of the Theta Delta Chi association of Western Pennsylvania held their first annual banquet at the Hotel Henry last night. This association has just recently been organized with J. R. Mellon as president, Theophilus Sproull as vice president, John F. Him as treasurer and Chauncey Lobingier as secretary. The banquet was attended by 30 of the members here. Among those who responded to toasts were F. I. Carter of New York city, an officer of the grand lodge of the fraternity, Theophilus Sproull and J. R. Mellon.

The Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, D. D., bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, last night went to Boston, where he will deliver an address before the Clerical union of that city tomorrow afternoon on the proposition now before the church to change the name of the Episcopal denomination. Bishop Whitehead has never declared himself on the subject, and his talk in Boston will be of interest locally.

Highway Improvement.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The stolid opposition to state aid for highway improvement which has barred the way so long seems to be disappearing, while the champions of this reform have become more numerous, zealous and powerful. New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts have each gone ahead of us. All over the country the desire for improved hard roads is making itself heard. The old dirt road has been outlived, and Pennsylvania, though it does not lead in the reform, should not lag in it. This session of the legislature should put on the statute books an adequate improved road law, backed by an adequate and immediately available appropriation, and there seems to be a fair prospect that this will be done.

Passing of the Pistol.

From the Savannah News.

The duel has gone and the deadly weapons in personal difficulties will disappear. The war on the practice of carrying deadly weapons must be continued. It ought to be more vigorous than it is. As a matter of fact comparatively few men of the better class now go about armed. It is the exception rather than the rule that a man now carries a pistol. We venture to say that before this century is half gone the sentiment against the use of deadly weapons in personal quarrels will be so strong that encounters with them among people of respectability will be extremely rare.

As to a $10,000,000 Limit.

From the New York World.

Of course neither Senator Wellington nor any sane person takes seriously the joint resolution which the turned-down gentleman from Maryland has introduced, proposing by constitutional amendment to limit private fortunes to $10,000,000. This amendment would not suit—first, the extremists who would consider the limit too high; second, the vast host of hustling Americans in whose springs eternal the hope of gathering more than $10,000,000. Mr. Wellington's joint resolution is out of joint with the times and the aspirations.

HANNA'S PENSION BILL ASSAILED

Senator Hanna has introduced "by request" a bill to pension all ex-slaves. There is no possibility of such a measure ever becoming a law, but it is likely to create much trouble. Among the ignorant classes there will be spread the news, and sharpers of the race will undertake for a consideration to push the plan. In a similar way many sharpers have lived by collecting fees to push claims for losses through the Freedman's bank, which had a short and inglorious career after the war. It brings also to remembrance the "forty acres and a mule" propaganda, when a set of rascals made a living by selling "official posts" to the freedmen with which to stake out their claims.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Senator Hanna has made a serious mistake in introducing, even by request, that preposterous measure to pension former slaves. There were more slaves than soldiers, and they live longer. Three hundred millions annually would not suffice, and there is no reason at all in the proposition. The evil is that the promoters are taxing the credulous negroes to support the movement, and in this work of working the ignorant they are greatly assisted by Senator Hanna's good nature.—Louisville Post.

Of course Senator Hanna will disclaim any intention of supporting the bill he has consented to introduce, paying pensions and bounties to negroes who have been slaves. The bounties proposed run from $100 for persons between 50 and 60 years of age to $500 to persons of 70 and upwards; the pension to be from $8 to $15 per month. This measure might be made supplementary to one compensating the southern whites for the losses suffered by them through the emancipation proclamation.—Buffalo Commercial.

Of course the senator introduced the bill "by request," but still is not deeply chagrined to have it known that he introduced it. The bill is ridiculous. It is like the Mason bill, which was merely the cover for monstrous frauds on the poor, deluded negroes, who fell ready victims to the "promoters," who collected the monthly dues for the ostensible purpose of getting legislation through congress in behalf of the negro. The pension bureau protested against the operations of the promoters, and the postoffice department issued a fraud order against the scheme.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

It seems strange to hear that a proposition to pension ex-slaves has been taken seriously by such a sensible man of affairs as Senator Hanna, especially in view of the fact that the distinguished Ohioan has repeatedly disclaimed a desire to become a presidential candidate. Pensions of the character proposed are entirely out of the province of government expenses, and it is to be feared that the introduction of the Hanna measure will only result in the unintentional encouragement of human sharks.—Baltimore Herald.

Not even Senator Hanna could keep his face straight were he asked if he believed the measure will become a law. In fact, he excuses its introduction by apologetically indorsing it as presented "by request." It was a most mischievous thing, however, to have done. It will arouse a vain hope among the negroes of the south that they are to be pensioned by the government, and it will stir into activity those who on various occasions have deluded these poor people with such hopes and induced them to part with their little savings to "help it along." If Senator Hanna isn't ashamed of himself he ought to be. Even the "by request" indorsement on the bill will not relieve him of responsibility for what may follow.—New York Herald.

Mr. Hanna will have occasion to thank his stars if the bill for pensioning ex-slaves, introduced by him in the senate by request, does not become an instrument for deceiving ignorant and credulous colored people all over the south out of many a dollar of their small hoardings. His own intentions are not to be questioned. His own views of the measure do not as yet proclaimed. But the measure

ARGUMENTS REFUTED

Littlefield Traces Trust Question Back to 2300 B. C.—Shows They Existed Long Before Protective Tariff Was Devised.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—General debate on the anti-trust bill closed in the house shortly before 6 o'clock this evening. The debate had proceeded since 10 o'clock this morning. More interest was aroused as it proceeded and the closing speeches by Mr. DeArmond (Dem., Mo.) and Mr. Littlefield (Rep., Me.) were delivered to crowded galleries and to a very full attendance on the floor. Tomorrow for three hours the bill will be considered under the five-minute rule, after which the final vote will be taken.

Mr. DeArmond (Mo.) closed the general debate for his side. He said he realized how difficult it was to deal adequately with the trust question. Human greed with the best human intellect at its command, was not to be easily baffled, and therefore a solution of the problem required sincere and honest endeavor. He was one of those, he said, who believed that a revision of the tariff could accomplish much. He did not believe that the tariff sheltered all trusts. Still, if it would break the bones of any of the giant trusts why should the remedy not be applied? His side proposed an amendment to clothe the president with the power to suspend duties on trust-made articles whenever necessary to protect the public. Why would not the other side join in the enactment of that amendment?

Poked Fun at Littlefield.

"Do you prefer," he asked, addressing the Republican side, "to trust the trusts rather than your own president?"

Mr. DeArmond said the bill reported from the judiciary committee was quite a different measure from that originally introduced by Mr. Littlefield. "When the gentleman from Maine started out," said he, "he had blood in his eye and a tomahawk in his hand. But by the time he and his colleagues caught up with the trusts they were smoking the pipe of peace. The sky was clear and the pickings were to continue good for the trusts." (Democratic laughter and applause.)

Mr. Littlefield closed the debate for the majority. He said that no one seriously believed, with the existing constitutional limitations, that a bill could be prepared that would fully and adequately meet the situation. But he believed the committee had presented a "fair, reasonable and constitutional measure," and as such he hoped it would address itself to the members of the house.

Mr. Littlefield created considerable amusement by reading a most extravagant denunciation of combination, and then announcing that the extract was not from the speech of any gentleman on the other side, but from a speech of Sir John Culpepper, delivered in the English parliament 262 years ago.

"They had 'em then," said he, "just as we have 'em now. (Laughter.) I call your attention to the fact that there was no protective tariff in those days."

Traced Them to 2300 B. C.

He traced the history of combinations back to 2300 B. C. to show, he said, that combinations always had existed and that there had been an outcry against them. It showed further, he said, how old and how difficult the problem before congress was.

Speaking of the bill Mr. Littlefield said it was not contended that the publicity feature was a specific or cure-all for monopoly, but only that it was a step in the right direction, helpful to the public in the three connections where corporations touched the people—namely, as investors, creditors and consumers. In reply to a question Mr. Littlefield said he did not believe congress should penalize over-capitalization. To do so would produce a panic. But publicity would acquaint the people with the facts and the evils of over-capitalization gradually would be corrected. Toward the close of his speech Mr. Littlefield was frequently interrupted with questions. When he concluded the general debate was formally declared closed, and at 5:45 p. m. the house adjourned.

Morgan Predicts War.

For a time today in the senate it looked as if the question of construction of an isthmian canal would be discussed in open session. Mr. Morgan spoke on his resolution, introduced yesterday, calling on the secretary of the navy for correspondence regarding the military occupation of the bays of Panama and Colon. He had not proceeded far, however, when Mr. Cullom interrupted with a motion for an executive session, which Mr. Morgan resisted. The chair overruled Mr. Morgan's objection and the doors were closed.

Mr. Morgan continued his remarks in executive session, alleging that $8,000,000, which the United States paid to Colombia would go to the insurgents who made peace last year. When open session was resumed, Mr. Morgan predicted that if the United States continued its policy with reference to the construction of an isthmian canal war with Colombia was inevitable.

After Mr. Kean had spoken a short time in opposition to the statehood bill, the senate adjourned out of respect to the memory of the late Representative Moody of North Carolina, who died yesterday.

The senate committee on agriculture today considered but took no final action on the agricultural appropriation bill. The general understanding is that the bill will be held up for a time in order to ascertain whether it is possible to dispose of the statehood bill without putting it on the agricultural appropriation bill as an amendment. The committee still stands by its decision, however, to connect the two measures if necessary.

DIFFERENTIALS POINT AT ISSUE

Only Question Yet to Be Settled Between Miners and Operators.

ARE STILL IN DEADLOCK

Today's Meeting Is Expected to Settle Question and Bind Peace Agreement for Another Year. Wage Advance Is Fixed.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 8.—The operators and miners of the central bituminous competitive district will reach a wage scale agreement tomorrow, and the joint conference will sign and ratify the scale before final adjournment tomorrow night.

The entire session today of the sub-committee, and later of the committee in full, was devoted to arguments on the subject of the differential. The arguments were exhausted tonight, and the fight along this line has come to be nothing more than an endurance test. Neither side appears disposed to make any further concessions and until a point is yielded by each faction the conference is again held in a deadlock.

The question of differential is an old one, and an operator who was formerly a miner, said today it was one of those questions on which either side could make a strong argument.

Simmered down, the 12½ per cent advance offered by the operators to the pick miners and the inside day labor would increase the cost of pick mining 10 cents a ton, while it would only increase the cost of machine production about 6 cents, leaving practically a 4-cent difference between the two coals, and wiening a present big differential.

The miners take the ground that the widening of this differential is not only unfair to the miners, but is also unfair to a class of operators, and that widening this differential threatens the peace that is now maintained by the interstate central competitive agreement. The differential at present is different in three sections of the central competitive district.

It is believed tonight, however, that the differential will not prevent a final adjustment and ratification of the new scale agreement.

APPROPRIATIONS A "FAKE," SAYS WASSON

Declares Finance Committee Meeting Illegal—Ajax Is Indignant.

Common Councilman J. C. Wasson of the Twentieth ward, a member of the finance committee of councils and of the sub-committee on appropriations, declares that the secret session of meeting of the sub-committee Thursday afternoon was illegal, because in violation of one of the provisions of the new city charter.

Mr. Wasson repeated yesterday the story published in The Gazette that he had been notified to attend the sub-committee meeting an hour after the Citizens members had been at work. He said that he arrived at the time appointed to find that the work had been practically concluded by Messrs. Stevenson, Shaw, Soffel and Larkin. He said he was surprised to find the door shut and the newspaper men excluded.

Mr. Wasson says the appropriation ordinance, framed by Controller Larkin and the Citizens party leaders, is a "fake" ordinance and will not stand investigation. He says it will not pass either branch of councils in its present shape.

Ajax Jones, the colored messenger of the city recorder's office, is one of the numerous individuals who have a grievance against the finance committee. Ajax finds fault because the committee proposes to reduce his salary from $75 a month to $50.

"I have been messenger under five mayors and two recorders," said Ajax yesterday in giving vent to his indignation. "I am not only the messenger of the recorder, but I am the custodian of all the police magistrate's documents, and keep their daily reports. I am more than a messenger. I receive visitors and decide who shall and who shall not see the recorder. Why, $50 a month would not feed my chickens. The recorder's messenger in Allegheny gets $100 a month, although he does not do half the work and does not have half the responsibility that I have."

WABASH BRIDGE BILL CORRECTED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(Special.)—The bill authorizing the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad to build a bridge over the Allegheny river was reconsidered in the senate today, on motion of Senator Elkins. This action was taken merely for the purpose of correcting the wording of the bill and without changing the provisions. It was speedily passed today.

PROTESTS FROM MANY QUARTERS

Citizens Finance Committee Arouses Complaints in All Parts of City.

TWO DIRECTORS' VIEWS

They Allege Ill-Kept and Unlighted Streets, Inadequate Protection Against Fire and Smallpox.

Ill-kept and unlighted streets, a city without adequate fire protection and no money to fight the ravages of contagious diseases will be some of the results, Directors McCandless and Leslie claim, of the system of expenditures devised by Controller Larkin and the finance committee of councils.

Directors McCandless and Leslie were much surprised when they learned of the changes that had been made in the appropriations reported to the finance committee Thursday afternoon.

"I would like to know what good it did us or the sub-committee to attend meeting after meeting for several weeks to consider estimates which we had submitted if, after the amounts had been fixed and agreed to, they could be changed in a secret session," said Director McCandless yesterday. The same expression was made by Director Leslie.

New Lights Cut Out.

Of the items of which Director McCandless most complains is the appropriation for street lighting. The sub-committee allowed $280,000 for street lighting for this year. This included about $20,000 for new lights which the director proposed to put on streets which are now in darkness. The increase asked for new lights was considered conservative in view of the large number of new streets which have no lights at all and the many paved streets in the East End that are only partially lighted.

In the sub-committee the members agreed with Director McCandless that the new lights were needed, and the amount was fixed while the director was present. When the appropriation reached the finance committee it had been changed to $305,250.

"With this amount of money we cannot put up a new arc light in the city this year. The residents of streets who will be left in darkness during the next 12 months must blame the finance committee," said the director.

No Street Repairs.

Director McCandless stated that the streets of the city will suffer seriously from the $120,000 reduction made in the appropriation for the bureau of highways and sewers. He said:

"During the past year the department was frequently complimented on the condition of the streets, scores of persons stating that they had never seen them as well kept before. I was often told that the people would not permit the streets to be kept as they had been before. With the cut in the appropriation a couple hundred or more 'white wings' will have to be dropped, as there will be no money to pay them or to pay for keeping the streets in repair."

Director McCandless severely criticised the reduction of $4,000 made in the appropriation for the bureau of water assessments. "The water assessments must all be made during the months of April and May in time for the June collection of water taxes. With the force of men we had last year we were hardly able to make the assessments, and I know that with the amount of money voted for the bureau this year the assessments cannot be made at all. The appropriation was reduced from $15,000 to $8,000. We could not have done the work last year for $13,000 had it not been for the fact that a couple of the clerks were laid off for several months by sickness," said the director.

The director also complained of the reduction that had been made in the bureau of construction. He had asked for an increase of $20,000 to prepare a plot showing the location of water mains and connections with private property. Director Biglow had failed to keep this record while in office and Director McCandless claimed that it was badly needed. The sub-committee promised to consider this request and gave $80,000 for salaries and maintenance of the bureau. When the sub-committee made its report, after holding its secret sessions, this item had been cut down to $61,000. Director McCandless stated yesterday that this meant that several engineers and draughtsmen and a whole engineer corps would be cut off. "This bureau is now away behind in its work, which is constantly piling up and increasing every year," said Director McCandless.

The plan of the Citizens to combine the bureaus of surveys and deed registry and adopt the system in vogue in Allegheny will create dissatisfaction among property owners who visit this bureau. It will also add to the duties of Supt. W. E. Browne of the bureau of surveys, who is considered one of the hardest working men in the city hall.

Fire Force Reduced.

Director Leslie stated yesterday that he was at a loss to understand how the finance committee intended to keep up the fire service and reduce the appropriation from $675,000 to $584,000, a cut of $91,000. The director said that the only way the cut could be made was by throwing a large number of firemen out of employment. He said that he did not think property owners who demand fire protection would sanction such a proposition.

The director also stated that the increase given the police bureau was not sufficient to provide the proposed advance in the wages of policemen. For this $80,000 will be required, while but $51,000 increase has been granted. He said that he understood that it was proposed to cut out the park policemen and the entire sub-list of 60 men.

The cut of $40,000 in the health bureau in order to provide for the $46,000 foot bridge which Controller Larkin and Chairman Stevenson want built at Wilmot street, in the Fourteenth ward, is also causing much adverse comment. The amount set aside for the finance fund is another illustration of the fact that Controller Larkin wants all the money he can spend himself, while he wants other departments cut down. The finance fund was increased from $20,000 to $48,000.

Larkin Gets All Increases.

The contingent fund, which has always been held for emergencies, is reduced by the "reformers" from $40,000 to $20,000. Controller Larkin has also asked for increases in salaries for favored men in his office, and they are the only individuals in the City hall who get an advance in pay.

The residents of the Thirty-first ward are protesting because they did not get money for a sewer through McKinley park to drain the sewerage in that neighborhood. A committee from the ward called upon the sub-committee and were led to believe that an appropriation would be granted when they explained the unsanitary condition in the Thirty-first ward.

The South Side residents are also finding fault with the finance committee because a small appropriation was not granted for a public bath house. A committee appeared before the finance committee Thursday afternoon in behalf of the project, but got nothing more than a pleasant smile.

East End Residents Displeased.

The residents of the Twenty-second ward are protesting because their appropriation for water extension was cut in half. The Twenty-second ward is practically without water service except the private lines constructed by property owners, although the ward is one of the finest residence districts of the city.

James S. Wightman, Citizens select councilman from the Twenty-second ward, says he will make a fight for an appropriation double that made by the finance committee. Owing to his demands Councilman Wightman was not invited to the secret sessions of the committee at the Citizens headquarters Monday night when the appropriations were shaved down.

There are a number of other districts of the East End without water service that are complaining because the finance committee turned a deaf ear to their requests.

PRESIDENT SUFFERS FROM SEVERE COLD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—President Roosevelt is suffering from the effects of a cold contracted recently. It has not incapacitated him and he is attending to his usual duties without serious inconvenience, but he is troubled by an aggravated hoarseness. The ill feeling is yielding to treatment, however, and it is expected to pass away in a few days.

OLD HOME WEEK

A Letter From the Author of the "Old Homestead"

DENMAN THOMPSON.

It is particularly appropriate at this time, when Old Home Week has recently been observed in so many cities and towns, to refer to a letter from Denman Thompson, he who made the "Old Homestead" a household name in America. This noted author and artist, who has done so much to encourage love of home, writes: "I am glad to indorse Father John's Medicine as a tonic and body builder and an excellent remedy for colds and lung troubles." The importance of avoiding patent medicines containing poisonous nerve-deadening drugs and weakening stimulants, warrants again calling your attention to the fact that Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of an eminent specialist who prescribed it for the late Rev. Fr. John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., fifty years ago, by whom it was recommended and from whom it derives its name. It is a pure food medicine, free from alcohol, morphine, opium or poisonous drugs or weakening stimulants in any form. It nourishes the blood and drives out all impurities. Its gentle laxative effect strengthens the stomach and corrects the digestion. It restores health and strength to run-down systems. When you ask your druggist for Father John's Medicine, remember that the $1 bottles contain three times the quantity of the 50-cent size. No honest druggist will try to force you to take some other preparation when you call for Father John's Medicine whose history of 50 years of success and its reliable indorsements proves beyond doubt its remarkable value.

APPROVED PLANS FOR MEMORIAL

Grand Jury Recommends That $600,000 Be Spent in Erecting G. A. R. Monument.

VETERANS ENCOURAGED

Before Building Can Be Started the Plans Will Have to Be Passed Upon by Another Grand Jury and the Courts.

Action looking toward the success of a project started several years ago by the Allegheny County G. A. R. association has been taken which will likely result in the erection of a memorial to the Allegheny county soldiers who fell in the war of the rebellion. Among the returns made by the grand jury yesterday was the approval of the petition of the association for such a memorial.

The monument, according to plans submitted by Architect T. D. Evans for the association, takes the form of a building, and the grand jury in its return recommends that $600,000 be expended upon it. Under the law, the plans will have to be approved by two successive grand juries of this county. If the plans are approved by the second grand jury the matter will then be submitted to the courts for approval, and in this event it will be up to the county commissioners to arrange for the appropriation of the sum needed for the erection of the building.

About eight or ten years ago a bill was passed by the legislature authorizing the erection of such a monument, but when the matter was brought to the attention of the late Judge Ewing he turned it down because the committee had gone into court without first submitting plans of the monument to be erected. After preliminary plans had been prepared for a building the question arose as to whether the term monument could be construed to mean a building which would be a memorial. The definition of the word monument has never been passed upon legally in this case, although the majority of Grand Army veterans and business men who are interested in the movement favored the building rather than a monument in the shape of a shaft.

Recently an amendment to the bill was presented in the legislature by Representative William S. Kirker of Bellevue, defining the meaning of the term monument so that a building according to the plans prepared could be built.

The plan of the committee of which Thomas G. Sample is chairman, is to have erected a two and one-half-story building in a place where it can be of easy access to the public. The specifications call for a building constructed of granite, to be fire proof, and to have a large dome for a roof. At the corners are to be placed bronze figures of prominent generals of the civil war. The interior of the building is to contain a large auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,400 or 1,500 persons. The building will also contain rooms for the storing of relics of the war and records containing the names and recounting the deeds of the men who enlisted for the rebellion from this county.

Mr. Sample last night said that all the G. A. R., Veteran Legion, and other veterans of the war and a large number of business men who are interested in the erection of the memorial have expressed their preference for a downtown location for the proposed building. Mr. Sample said that as Allegheny county is one of the richest counties in the country and men who enlisted from here took a very active part in the great war it is but fitting that such a memorial should be erected in their honor.

ELEVATORS STOP, COAL IS CUT OFF

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Tenants in many large office buildings found considerable inconvenience in getting to and from their offices today owing to the strike of elevator conductors, who, with starters, janitors and window washers, are seeking to enforce recognition of their unions by the Building Managers association. The support being given the strikers by the coal teamsters threatens to leave the buildings in darkness and without heat. The Teamsters union ordered the drivers to stop hauling coal to the buildings affected by the strike.

LARGE DEFICIT FOR THIS YEAR

Levy Fixed by Citizens Not Enough to Meet Appropriations.

BIGELOW'S HEAVY DEBTS

Former Director Responsible for Pennsylvania Railroad and Grant Boulevard Damages of Nearly a Million.

There is a problem for the taxpayers of the city to work on, and which Controller J. B. Larkin and the other Citizens party financiers have not solved:

If a 15-mill levy last year did not produce sufficient revenue to meet the city's expenses, how can enough money be raised this year, with only a 14-mill levy, with an increase of $628,480 in expenses?

The deficiency for 1902 is said by Controller Larkin to be in the neighborhood of $400,000. This deficiency occurred in spite of Controller Larkin's promise when he went into office that there would be no deficiency at the end of the year. He pledged himself to keep the expenditures within the revenues and to give the people a 14-mill levy this year. Notwithstanding he has failed utterly to keep either of these pledges, he proposes now to raise $8,836,134 by a 14-mill levy to meet the appropriations for 1903.

A calculation will show that a levy of 14 mills on the present taxable valuation of all city property will produce just $8,596,774, not allowing for reductions to be made on appeals from assessments.

This leaves a balance of $2,379,380 to be provided by revenues from other sources.

What are these other sources, and what will they yield?

Other Sources of Revenue.

The principal sources of revenue, outside of taxes on real estate are liquor licenses, state appropriation to city for schools, interest on deposits, markets, wharves, vehicle licenses, department of charities and delinquent taxes. An estimate shows that the total revenue from these sources will average annually about $1,500,000. In 1901 they amounted to $1,478,083. The amounts for 1902 will not be known until the controller makes his report—about April.

Any person who can add and subtract can figure that an additional revenue of $1,500,000 from miscellaneous sources will not make up the difference between the appropriations and the taxes on real estate, at a 14-mill levy.

A simple calculation will show, allowing an extra $400,000 to revenues from miscellanies, making a total of $1,900,000, that the deficiency at the end of the present fiscal year will not be less than $500,000.

Deficiency Not Provided For.

This makes no provision for the deficiency of last year, which the controller says will be $400,000. Nor does it provide for any of the numerous items left out of the appropriations which must be met.

The councils have heretofore made provision in the annual appropriations for assessments against the city. Last year $295,000 was appropriated for this purpose. The total assessments against the city this year are $1,113,000. This has been taken out of the first appropriation, and must be provided for in the next series of appropriations this year, or be put into the bond issue. It is a question whether they can legally be incorporated in a bond issue, as the debts have already been incurred.

Debts Contracted by Bigelow.

Of the $1,113,000 debt against the city $762,088 is from the Grant boulevard, due to the extravagant mistakes of E. M. Bigelow, when director of public works.

Another item which the finance committee and Controller Larkin refused to put in the first appropriations was $204,370, due the Pennsylvania Company for the costs of improvements at the Union depot, which E. M. Bigelow also put upon the city when he was director of public works. This debt was incurred three years ago and has been drawing interest at 4 per cent per annum.

This money, which Director Bigelow virtually gave the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, is to be provided by an emergency appropriation or a bond issue. If W. B. Hays is elected recorder it will be paid by an emergency appropriation, which can be made jointly by the recorder and controller. Otherwise the item will go into the bond issue.

Many Items Left Out.

Another item left out of the first appropriation, which also must be met, was $12,000 for the Firemen's Relief and Benevolent association. This appropriation was made last year and was approved by the sub-committee this year in open session, but cut out in secret session.

The item for interest on contracts was also left out of the appropriations. Last year $50,000 was appropriated. The amount estimated for this year is considerably larger.

In the list of appropriations adopted for this year there is no mention of the $900,000 item for interest and tax on city loans. It is said that this may have been put by the finance committee in the appropriation for the sinking funds, but there is nothing in the schedule to indicate that this was done.

Levy Will Be 20 Mills.

As shown by The Gazette yesterday, the total of the first appropriations for this year is $628,480 in excess of last year's appropriations, yet the millage is reduced 1 mill, with a deficiency amounting to 1 1-3 mills left over from last year.

To recapitulate: The increase of $628,480 in the appropriations this year and the $400,000 deficiency from last year require an extra 2½ mills to a 15-mill levy. This makes a levy of 17½ mills. This will be reduced half a mill by the increase in the valuations caused by new buildings erected during the past year, making a net levy of 17 mills. To this must be added a mill for water extension, increasing the levy to 18 mills. At least 2 mills more will have to be levied for the assessments against the city and to provide for other items left out of the first appropriations, making the total a levy of 20 mills, based upon the appropriations compiled by Controller Larkin and the finance committee.

VERY LAST DAY FOR LIQUOR MEN

Grand Rush for Filing Applications for Licenses Will Be Over Tonight.

MAY REACH 1902 TOTAL

Every Borough and Township in the County, Including Local Option Districts, Represented. New Legal Point to Be Raised.

The clerk of courts' office was busy yesterday and at the close of office hours a total of 1,801 applications for retail and wholesale liquor licenses had been filed. Today is the last for filing applications, and Clerk of Courts Barr, as an accommodation to those who intend to apply for licenses, will keep the office open until 6 p. m. Over 200 applications were received yesterday, and today a great rush of late applicants is expected, which may run the total over that of last year—2,011.

Chief Clerk David McGuanigle said that this year has been a record-breaker for clean papers, less mistakes having been made by the applicants and more attorneys placed on record as representing those who intend to apply. More surety bonds have accompanied the papers than in any year in the history of the license court, probably 70 per cent of the sureties being trust companies that are acceptable to the courts. Personal bonds have heretofore been in the majority, but this has been discouraged. When a trust company is surety only $2,000 is required, while two persons on the papers requires surety of $2,000 each or $4,000.

The number of new applicants are in about the same ratio as last year, while but a small percentage of old applicants who were refused licenses last year have failed to again apply, hoping for better luck this year.

Every borough and township in the county and every ward in the three cities are represented. There are several applicants from the Thirty-seventh ward of Pittsburgh, formerly a portion of Sterrett township. This has always been a prohibition district, and there are no saloons in the ward. The question is to be raised this year that as the ward is now a part of the city the old laws do not stand and that it is within the jurisdiction of the license court judges to grant licenses for this district. A number of local option townships and boroughs, such as Glassport and Springdale, are represented. These communities vote every three years on the question of prohibition, and as they have heretofore been "dry" districts, the applicants are basing their applications on the hope that on February 17 the voters will decide on having the "wet" goods dispensed. In that event they will be in a position to get a license if the judges see fit to grant them.

THIRTEENTH CONCERT WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Henri Merck Adds to Attractiveness of Program Offered by Pittsburgh Orchestra.

An audience of good size heard the 13th concert of the Pittsburgh orchestra at Carnegie Music hall last evening. Henri Merck, the principal violincellist of the orchestra, was the soloist. This is the third season he has appeared in this capacity. The program was shorter than usual, only three orchestra numbers being included. The first of these was the Beethoven "Heroic" symphony, a very important and dignified composition, which was played very well. The interpretation of the second movement, the "Marche Funebre," was especially fine. More attractive to the general taste, however, was the bright scherzo, the third movement. The purely symphonic number on the orchestra program is ever the most important, but Liszt's symphonic poem, "Les Preludes," won a very gratifying meed of applause. This work was founded on a passage from Lamartine's "Meditations Poetique," and is full of the most melodic charm. Mr. Herbert might well have risked a repetition of this number, so appreciative was his audience. A very graceful and brilliant composition, "La Jota Aragonaise," by Saint Saens, made the fitting close to a thoroughly fine concert.

The soloist, Mr. Merck, appeared twice on the program, selecting for his chief number the allegro moderato movement from Haydn's concerto in D major for violincello and orchestra. This gave him ample opportunity to display his virtuosity. Mr. Merck's playing is broad and easy, his tone very strong and yet expressive, while his technique is equal to any difficulty. The more piano passages, though perfectly harmonious, rang clear above the orchestra. For his second number Mr. Merck played a serenade by Fritz Stahlberg, one of the orchestras first violins, and the Popper "Tarentella." Mr. Merck's playing aroused much enthusiasm and he was encored each time he appeared.

Mr. Merck will appear again with the Pittsburgh orchestra this afternoon at 2:15.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

James Kirkland, Jr., of Westmoreland County Is Arrested.

GREENSBURG, PA., Feb. 6.—James Kirkland, Jr., a member of a prominent family of Derry township, was arrested charged with being implicated in the attempted robbery at the home of Samuel and Henry Fishel, wealthy farmers of near Livermore, last September.

Kirkland is believed to be one of the band of five men who forced an entrance into the Fishel home. The men of the house were driven to an upstairs room, the robbers having placed their wives in front of them as shields from the brothers' fusillade of bullets. The robbers looted the downstairs rooms, but secured nothing.

Other arrests will be made this week, it is stated, and it is understood that the men under suspicion are as prominently connected as young Kirkland.

MISS ELIZABETH HOWE gave a large theater party last evening at the Alvin, her guests occupying all the lower boxes. After the play the party drove to the Pittsburgh club, where supper was served. The supper table was one of the handsomest set in the supper dining room this season. It was large and round and covers were laid for 30. The decorations were superb. A centerpiece of pink and white azaleas spread over the table and was the largest, being fully seven feet in diameter, that has been arranged for a supper table at the Pittsburgh club. The azaleas formed a mound, the beautiful stemless flowers appearing in relief against the background of dark green foliage. At each cover were dainty cards with corsage bouquets for the ladies and boutonnieres for the men.

Next week a number of theater parties will be given at the Alvin, beginning with Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Henderson Stevens on Monday evening. Mrs. Langtry, with her many beautiful gowns, will be the attraction beyond the footlights in her play, "The Crossways." Mr. and Mrs. Stewart's theater party, which will occupy several boxes, will be given in honor of Mrs. Louis Allen and Miss Hay, a sister of the hostess. Supper will be served at the Pittsburgh club after the play is over.

An at Home.

One of the largest entertainments of yesterday was the at home which Mrs. William Wilson Maxwell gave at her residence in Liberty avenue, Shadyside. The hours were from 2 o'clock until 6, and receiving with Mrs. Wilson was her mother, Mrs. William Dickie, Sr. It was a very pretty and delightful at home. The house was beautifully decorated. The hostess received in the library, which was adorned with yellow blossoms, roses and caffodils, while the chandelier, with its dainty yellow shades was wreathed with graceful vines. In the hall red was the dominant color, poinsetta and red roses adding vividness and brilliancy of tone. In the dining room pink roses were used, a pretty center piece standing on the table, while pink shades covered the candles, and the lights overhead were screened in dainty shades.

The hostess wore a handsome gown of white silk, trimmed with lace. Mrs. Dickey, Sr., was gowned in soft gray silk, adorned with beautiful lace. In the group of assisting ladies were Mrs. John D. Nicholson, Mrs. T. J. Gillespie, Mrs. Frank Estep, Mrs. William Dickie, Jr., Mrs. S. K. Brown, Mrs. Hudson F. Layton, Mrs. Thomas K. Ray, Miss Elizabeth McCague and Miss Mary Estep. A dinner followed the afternoon reception, the guests including the assisting ladies. It was an informal affair.

Reception for Two Brides.

Probably the largest reception of the season in the Valley was the one given in the Edgeworth club house, Sewickley, yesterday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock. Mrs. Joseph N. Dickson of Edgeworth and her cousin, Miss Jean Henerie of Sewickley were hostesses, entertaining in honor of two recent brides, Mrs. Robert Watson Dickson of Edgeworth and Mrs. Louis Boyce Dickey of Allegheny. The hostesses and honor guests received together, all being handsomely gowned, the honor guests both wearing their wedding gowns, which were elaborate. There were between 300 and 400 guests present from both the Valley and city, the reception room being very delightfully decorated in red and green, red roses with palms and ferns being used. The assistants were Mrs. Charles Watts, Mrs. Agnes Graff, Mrs. Hepburn Johns, Mrs. John Reno, Mrs. Frank Straw, Mrs. John T. Findley, Mrs. Joseph T. Nevin, Mrs. Percy Graff, Mrs. Harry Campbell, Miss Dickson, Miss Baird, Miss Colley, Miss Thompson, Mrs. Eugene Murray, Mrs. Fred Way, Mrs. Percy Bishop, Miss Wallace, Miss Atwell, Miss Bessie Cunningham, Miss Smith, Miss Bertha Taylor and Miss Clyde Nichols. Miss Robert Dickson was formerly Miss Hortense Elaine Watts of Edgeworth and Mrs. Tracy was Miss Katherine McDonald of Sewickley.

Reception in Shadyside.

Mrs. Gerson A. Samuels was hostess yesterday afternoon at a reception at her home in South Negley avenue. The guests of honor were Mrs. George Birkhoff of Chicago and Mrs. William Moxley, a recent bride. It was a very pretty entertainment, conducted between the hours of 3 o'clock and 6, and the guests included over a hundred friends of the hostess. The house was decorated with flowers and tropical plants, the prevailing colors being pink and white. Pink roses appeared in the parlors and pink roses and white lilacs composed the center piece in the dining room. Throughout the afternoon there was exquisite music provided by the harp and violin. Mrs. Samuels and her honor guests received together, and assisting were Mrs. Andrew W. Herron, Mrs. William Alfred Herron, Mrs. Elizabeth Herron, Mrs. Elizabeth Dickey and Mrs. Samuel Waddle.

Miss Riddle Entertained.

Miss Evelyn Riddle gave a very pretty euchre yesterday afternoon at her home in North avenue, Allegheny. Her sister, Mrs. Walter Stewart Lang, a bride of last summer, was the guest of honor. Six-hand euchre was the game played and the hostess offered six handsome prizes. The decorations of the house were especially dainty and pretty. Pink roses and white carnations were the flowers which filled tall vases and strings of flowers, pink and white, were wreathed about the chandeliers. Ferns banked the mantels. Eight tables were placed in the drawing room and the library. Miss Riddle and Mrs. Lang were assisted by a third sister, Miss Anna Riddle.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lang have been living in Sewickley since they returned from their wedding trip, and their new home is in Maple avenue.

Dickie-Smith.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dickie in Indiana, Pa., was the scene of a pretty wedding last evening, when their daughter, Miss Mabel Dickie, and Clarence Smith of Glen Campbell were married in the presence of 100 guests by the Rev. R. Reynolds, pastor of the Indiana Methodist church. The attendants were Miss Laura Dickie of Indiana and Mr. Munsch of DuBois. Miss Nell Herrick of Indiana played Mendelssohn's wedding march. After the ceremony the young couple went away for a two months' tour of Florida, Cuba and Mexico. The bride is a graduate of the Indiana Normal school and a trained reader of much talent. The groom is a Glen Campbell business man and an extensive coal buyer.

Cards for an Ogontz Girl.

A pretty card party was given yesterday afternoon by Miss Eliza Munhall at her home in Winebiddle street, the guest of honor being her sister, Miss Lucila Munhall, an Ogontz girl. Hearts was the game played and handsome prizes were provided by the hostess. It was quite a large affair, 150 guests being entertained, chiefly the younger girls and young married women. The decorations were tastefully arranged, clusters of white carnations appearing in the different apartments.

French Lecture.

"Un Tour de Grand Prix" will be the title of the next French lecture to be given at the Berlitz School of Languages. It will be an interesting and humorous description of a day in Paris and will amuse every body who has been in Paris or who would like to know something about it. M. Louis Le Febvre will be the speaker and the lecture will be given on Saturday, February 14, at 11 a. m. A limited number of invitations will be mailed upon request.

Theater Party at the Grand.

Mrs. Alexander Arbuthnot will give a theater party to a dozen young friends at the Grand opera house tonight in honor of several members of the Gettysburg College Mandolin and Glee club. After the play the party will be entertained at supper at Mrs. Arbuthnot's home in Halkett place. Mrs. Arbuthnot has as her house guest for February and March Miss Mary Louise Givler of Gettysburg.

Received Afternoon and Evening.

RULES TO BE OBSERVED DURING LENT'S 40 DAYS

Bishop Phelan Also Recommends Abstinence from Liquor. Collections for Missions.

The season of Lent, generally observed throughout Christendom by Roman Catholics and some Protestants, will begin on February 25, which day is known on the church calendar as Ash Wednesday. The feast of Lent is one of the most important festivals of the year in Roman Catholic churches, and the Rt. Rev. Richard Phelan, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, has issued the rules and regulations to be observed during the 40 days of the season.

Bishop Phelan states the following conditions of dispensation: "On fast days those working people who are not exempt from the law of fast on account of hard labor may use meat only at the principal meal on the day which its use is allowed. Those who make use of this indult are admonished to perform other works of penance in place of the abstinence from which they are dispensed."

The abstinence from intoxicating liquors is also recommended.

The annual collection for the mission among the Indians and colored people, decreed by the third plenary council of Baltimore, is to be taken up in all the Roman Catholic churches in the diocese of Pittsburgh on the first Sunday of Lent, March 1. Where this Sunday will be inconvenient collections may be taken up on either of the two following Sundays.

COUNCILMEN MET LOGAN.

Arrangements Made for Trip to Harrisburg Next Week.

Councilmen D. F. Crawford, John A. Murphy, Samuel J. Wainwright, Jr., and Henry Fitzpatrick of the joint council committee on Greater Pittsburgh met yesterday afternoon to confer with President A. J. Logan of the chamber of commerce relative to going to Harrisburg next Tuesday.

Attorney W. B. Rodgers, the author of the Greater Pittsburgh bill, was present but did not promise to go to Harrisburg. Col. Logan stated that five or six members of the chamber of commerce would accompany the councilmen.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

THE Daughters of the American Revolution held a very enthusiastic meeting yesterday morning at the Twentieth Century club. It was the regular meeting of the Pittsburgh chapter, preceded by a short business meeting of the Allegheny County Society Daughters of the American Revolution. At the first meeting the officers of the board of directors having charge of the block house property reported the result of the litigation over the property, and the treasurer's report showed the payment of all bills resulting from that litigation.

Then followed the meeting of the Pittsburgh chapter. Several committees had reports to make, one of the most interesting being that of the committee appointed to arrange some special entertainment for the Daughters attending the annual state conference of the Pennsylvania society, which will be held in Pittsburgh next fall. The plan of entertainment announced consisted of a symphony concert in Carnegie Music hall by the Pittsburgh orchestra, Victor Herbert conducting. The report was unanimously accepted, the Daughters considering it the greatest compliment they can pay the visiting ladies. The concert will be held the second week in November, the week following Founders' Day.

The registrar yesterday announced the approval by the national board of the applications for membership received from Mrs. Lovere C. Dickey, Mrs. Annabella E. McLain, Mrs. Mary D. Wilson, Mrs. Agnes Graff, Mrs. Carroll Miller, the recent bride, whose application was presented while she was still Miss M. Emma Guffey; Miss Mary R. Moorhead, Mrs. Nettie A. G. Deymer, Mrs. Margaret L. Askine, Mrs. Minnie B. Prichard, Mrs. Carrie Lawrence and Miss Mabel Miller. The acceptance of their applications by the national board in Washington was their formal admission to the Pittsburgh chapter. Miss Florence W. Brown was transferred to the Pittsburgh chapter from the chapter in Rochester, N. Y., her former home.

A very interesting feature of the meeting yesterday morning was the reading of a paper written by Mrs. William M. Darlington and entitled "Colonel Bouquet." It was read by her daughter, Miss Darlington. The most interesting periods in the life of Col. Bouquet, the builder of the block house at the Point, were followed by the writer, and his death and burial at Pensacola, Fla. The information contained in the paper was largely secured by William M. Darlington on a visit to London a number of years ago, when he studied the records and documents in the possession of the British museum. He secured certified copies of some of the papers and deeds. The block house, aside from its historic interest to Pittsburgh, is valued by the Pittsburgh chapter as the only existing monument to Col. Bouquet.

At the meeting yesterday morning the amendments proposed a year ago at the eleventh continental congress in Washington, D. C., and to be voted upon at the twelfth continental congress, which will open Monday, February 23, were discussed. The chapter decided not to instruct its delegates, leaving their action when the amendments are called up to their own discretion. One of the amendments, however, the chapter did instruct its delegates to oppose. That is the one stipulating that the insignia of the society, the pin showing the wheel and distaff, shall only be worn on social or business occasions, and not continually. The Pittsburgh chapter delegates were instructed to vote against this, the Daughters deeming it better that the insignia be always worn, whether in America or traveling in Europe.

A number of letters have been received by the chapter from other state societies and chapters heartily indorsing the renomination of Mrs. James R. Mellon as vice president general of the national society. Each year 10 vice presidents general are elected. Mrs. Mellon has served two years and will be renominated at the state meeting of the Pennsylvania Daughters in Washington, and her name again nominated in the general congress. The rules of the national society allow a vice president general two terms of two years each. Mrs. Mellon has been a very efficient officer during her term of service, and has a large indorsement for reelection.

Mrs. Mellon will receive with Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, the regent, and the other officers of the Pittsburgh chapter on the occasion of the celebration of Washington's birthday, next Wednesday, February 19, in the new building of the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music, in Fifth ridge street. Dr. Everett T. Tomlinson will lecture on "George Washington, the Man," and individual cards of invitation have been sent to the students of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny High schools, and to the members of the graduating class of the Sewickley High school. The lecture will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

The Press Club Morning.

Music will play an important part in the entertainment which the Women's Press club has arranged for Monday morning, February 9. An exceptionally interesting feature will be the songs of Robert Pigott, and the violin solos of Emil S. Schmidt, a first violin of the Pittsburgh orchestra. The pianist and accompanist will be Mr. Alvin, a talented musician and a former pupil of a celebrated European master of the piano in Vienna. Senor d'Ovde's psychological lectures will begin at 11 o'clock, and for the occasion the large assembly room on the second floor of the Hotel Henry has been secured.

Remonstrate Against the Bill.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union of Wilkinsburg held an interesting meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. R. C. Wylie, in South avenue last evening. The women remonstrated against the passage of the bill now pending in the legislature for the repeal of the prohibitory liquor law of Wilkinsburg and vicinity. Various committees were appointed to co-operate in the movement that was started last week.

TALKED OF SOCIAL PROBLEMS.

Amy Canteen and Norwegian Liquor Laws Advocated by Prof. Zueblin.

Prof. Charles Zueblin, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, delivered the fifth in the series of lectures before the University Extension society of Pittsburgh at the Lawrenceville branch of the Carnegie library last night. The subject was "Sociability" and was treated from many standpoints.

Secret societies, political organizations, race problems, factory system, differences between employer and employe, and the saloon, were all discussed at some length. Prof. Zueblin would have the canteen restored in the army in preference to the present system, and said that the best system of liquor traffic known is that of Norway and Sweden, where the desire for sociability was satisfied in one place and the desire for drink in another.

Blairsville Man Disappears.

FELS-NAPTHA

Actual tests have shown that clothes washed with Fels-Naptha soap last twice as long. Why?

There's no boiling or scalding with Fels-Naptha. Boiling the wash rots the fibres; then hard rubbing wears away the already weakened threads. Fels-Naptha is used in cold or lukewarm water only. Simply a half hour's soaking to give the naptha time to do its work; then a light rubbing and thorough rinsing, and the week's washing is beautifully done in half the time.

Cuticura Resolvent Pills (chocolate coated) are the product of twenty-five years' practical laboratory experience in the preparation of remedies for the treatment of humors of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, and are confidently believed to be superior to all other alteratives as well as liquid blood purifiers, however expensive, while enabling all to enjoy the curative properties of precious medicinal agents without consuming needless expenses and often injurious portions of alcohol in which such medicines have heretofore been preserved.

Cuticura Pills are alterative, antiseptic, tonic and digestive and beyond question the purest, sweetest, most successful and economical blood and skin purifiers, humor cures and tonic-digestives yet compounded. Medium adult dose, one pill.

Complete external and internal treatment for every humor may now be had for one dollar, consisting of Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the skin, Cuticura Ointment, to heal the skin, and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, to cool and cleanse the blood. A single set, costing but one dollar, is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp and blood humors, eczemas, rashes, itchings and irritations, with loss of hair, from infancy to age, when physicians and all other remedies fail.

WITNESSES CONTRADICT MISS FULTON'S EVIDENCE

Claim Conlin and Simpson Were in Allegheny on Night of Robbery.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Feb. 6.—In contradiction of the positive identification of "Farmer John" Conlin and Robert Simpson by Miss Bessie Fulton and Miss Mary Sylvester, the defense today produced five witnesses who testified that the suspects were not in Irwin the night the First National bank was robbed. According to the evidence, Conlin and Simpson were in Allegheny the entire night of December 8. The defendants were in turn placed on the witness stand, and both said they had never been in Irwin until taken there for their preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Mary Heintz and Miss Bertha Wood were the first witnesses called. Miss Wood is a domestic in the Heintz family, and on the night of December 8 she said she went to the Conlin home and spent a portion of the night with Conlin and his wife.

Joseph Geier, a son of the proprietor of the Geier hotel, Second and James streets, Allegheny, testified that Conlin and his wife came to the hotel about 10:30 o'clock on the night of December 8 and remained until after 11 o'clock. He fixed the date positively for the reason that James O. Wyman was nominated that day as the Citizens party candidate for recorder of Allegheny.

The defense endeavored to prove that Miss Fulton was wrong in her identification of Conlin for the reason that Conlin, from September 15 until December 18 wore a mustache. Miss Fulton had identified Conlin as smooth faced, but Andrew Dobner, a barber at Federal and Lacock streets, swore that Conlin had had a mustache until the latter date, when it had been shaved off by the witness.

Mrs. Kate McCurdy corroborated Geier's testimony, saying that she had eaten lunch with Conlin and his wife on the night of the robbery and they had not left the hotel until after 11 o'clock. She said that she remembered Conlin had a mustache that night. The case was given to the jury.

The club house was presented to the workingmen of Franklin two years ago by Congressman J. C. Sibley and the membership is over 800. Doherty is said to have left town several weeks ago.

POLICEMAN ARRAIGNED IN THEATER AND CROWD PAID ADMISSION FEE

FINDLAY, O., Feb. 6.—The Anti-Saloon League of McComb, near here, introduced an innovation in municipal investigation last evening. Last fall the village voted the saloons out of existence, but none of them went out of business. They continued to sell intoxicants on the quiet under disguised names and drunkenness became much more prevalent.

The league then filed complaint against Special Night Policeman N. R. Crumrine, who, they alleged was not doing his duty in enforcing the prohibitory law. His hearing took place last night and, the council chamber being too small to hold the crowd, it was adjourned to the opera house, where an admission fee of 10 cents was charged and the proceeds placed in a fund to carry on the fight against the saloons.

The citizens are about equally divided on the question and several riots have occurred on the streets.

BUILDING COLLAPSED KILLING A WORKMAN

Two Are Also Injured and New Structure Wrecked at New Castle.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Feb. 6.—The collapsing of a large section of the heavy concrete roofing of the new seven-story building of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company here today caused the instant death of one man, the serious injury of another and slight injuries to several. The dead:

GILBERT ACHRE, a carpenter, aged 45, married and resided in Elmer avenue, this city; crushed under tons of iron and concrete.

The injured:

JOHN McCLURE of this city, employed by the Cleveland Fire Proofing Company; badly cut and bruised by falling from the sixth story to the basement.

ARCHITECT H. GILVERY of New York, cut and bruised by flying slabs while standing on the second floor.

The accident occurred but a moment before the noon whistle blew, when many of the workmen were leaving. About 40 men were working in the building.

A section 16x30 feet dropped, carrying the six floors beneath it to the basement. Achre and McClure were down with the falling floors and roof. Achre's body was not recovered for nearly two hours. McClure was picked up unconscious near the upper part of the wreckage.

The accident is caused by the removal by Achre and McClure of the prop under the portion of the roof which collapsed. McClure says he and Achre were removing a heavy timber when he saw the roof give way.

Coroner Porter will make an investigation. The contract for the erection of the building is held by William Hanley of Bradford.

WYMAN WARD HEELERS ATTACK PEDESTRIANS

Two Respectable Residents of Fourth Ward Badly Beaten by Toughs.

Supt. Henry Muth of the Allegheny police last night closed up the Perry club in the Fourth ward, Allegheny, and several of its members will likely be arrested on charges of assault and battery. The order to close the place followed a brutal assault on Jacob Smith and Albert Hohman, two respectable residents of the Fourth ward. On Thursday night a gang of Wyman followers held a meeting at the Perry club and free beer was handed out to all comers. The beverage, it is said, was furnished by the Wyman organization, and more than a few of those participating in the evening's proceedings became intoxicated.

Shortly after midnight, Smith and Hohman were returning to their homes, and while passing the Perry club, in Perry street, were knocked off the sidewalk by a gang of the Wyman rooters. Both men remonstrated with their assailants and both were jumped upon and badly beaten.

Smith was rendered unconscious and was carried into the office of Dr. A. J. Boucek, at No. 822 Chestnut street, where he had five stitches put into a wound on his head. Hohman was able to walk, and went to the office of Dr. Martin Greer, where his injuries were attended to. The gang that made the assault dispersed immediately.

Officer Cyrus Coulter reported the matter to police headquarters. He was instructed by Supt. Henry Muth to see both of the injured men, who declare they know several of the Wyman gang that made the assault. Both assured Supt. Muth that as soon as they were able to leave their homes they would swear out warrants, charging their assailants with assault and battery.

This information was sufficient for Supt. Muth, who sent Lieut. Adam Neumar and a squad of officers to close the club.

Lieut. Neumar and his men closed the place and turned out on the streets a gang of Wyman heelers who congregate there each night.

Wyman, when his candidacy was first announced, was strong in the Fourth ward, but the numerous so-called "clubs" have hurt his chances greatly. The ex-mayor, who controls the troublesome element in the ward, has made no effort to stop the disturbances, that have become so frequent.

Supt. Henry Muth said last night: "It would be an unfortunate state of affairs if respectable people could not pass along the streets without being assaulted by a gang of political hoodlums who think they are in no danger of being punished because of their political affiliations."

A rousing meeting of the Tenth ward Republicans is scheduled for tonight. It will be held in the Republican Progressive association rooms in Charles street. The speakers will be Francis J. Torrance, S. S. Robertson, W. H. Baird and Dr. J. S. Woodburn.

Pastor Russell at Allegheny Carnegie Hall Again.

Three more chart talks are promised for Sundays at 3 p. m. The one for tomorrow will be on "The Narrow Way—and Other Ways." As we understand the gentleman's views, the narrow way alone is open now, and its narrowness tests and proves who shall constitute the "very elect;" but this narrowness of the way will cease with the close of the gospel age. During the millennium a much less difficult way of life will be opened; but its salvation will be to a lower though still a glorious plane of being. He is sure to have, as always, an intelligent and closely attentive audience, and this people is a very interesting one. Elderly and deaf people would best go in good season.

The usual praise service will begin at 2:30 o'clock. B. F. Walters, director; D. C. Hemmings, organist. Seats free. No collections.

RECOGNITION FOR PITTSBURGH MEN

NEW TAX BILL APPEARS

Measure Provides for an Assessment of One Mill on All Manufacturing Corporations—Would Produce Much Revenue.

Speaker Walton today announced the names of members appointed by him to attend the National Roadmakers' association convention, which will be held at Detroit on February 13 and 14. Allegheny county was recognized. The committee is one of 10 members, four appointed by the governor, four by the speaker and two by the president pro tem of the senate.

Gov. Pennypacker appointed William H. Brooks, chief of the highways department of Philadelphia; Prof. Herman Haupt of the University of Pennsylvania; Prof. Hill, president of the State Grange, and Prof. Sunderland of Luzerne. The senate appointments were Senator Crawford of Allegheny and Senator Sproul of Delaware, and Speaker Walton named Representatives Esler of Allegheny, Wayne of Chester, Hunter of Mercer and Cressy of Columbia.

The house this morning received from committee and read first time the bill placing a tax of one mill on all manufacturing corporations. This bill is of deep interest to Pittsburgh and will produce debate later. It is urged in support of the measure that, because of present prosperity, manufacturing corporations should contribute to the state's finances. A tax of one mill on the dollar will produce much revenue.

The house of representatives met this morning, was in session a little more than an hour and adjourned to meet again on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Among the bills introduced was one by Representative Vasbinder of Jefferson county, placing a tax of $250 on cigarette dealers.

Representative Frederick D. Pusey, author of the anti-cartoon bill, is confident that his dislike to see himself and his friends pictured as birds, beasts, fish, insects or other "inhuman" animals will be crystallized into statute law, and he is working hard for the passage of the bill.

Kind friends have sent him copies of English illustrated publications in which great British statesmen are pictured as carnivore ruminants, and feathered bipeds, but the Delaware county member, unconverted, insists that his bill ought to be and will pass. He is positive that Gov. Pennypacker will approve it if it should go through the house and senate.

Speaker Walton received today from the son of Representative Anderson a telegram saying that Mr. Anderson is suffering from pneumonia and his family is much alarmed about his condition.

Representative Ferry of Luzerne county introduced again in the house today the old bill to make a new county out of parts of Schuylkill and Luzerne counties. Mr. Ferry not being dismayed that the attempt has been made seven times, failure following the efforts of the promoters each time.

Hazleton is expected to be the county seat of the new county, and had not Gov. Hastings vetoed a similar bill that passed both houses, the new county would already be in existence.

Heretofore it was thought that to give the proposed county the name of Quay would help to pass the bill, but Representative Ferry has not given the county a name in his production.

The people of Hazleton and many politicians of the districts affected by the bill are in favor of having a new county, but the corporations, paying as they do the bulk of the taxes, are opposed to the project and will defeat it again.

ALIENIST KEEPS WATCH ON YOUNG'S DARK MOOD

Alleged Murderer Ignores Order to Allow Himself to Be Identified.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The taking of testimony in the trial of William Hooper Young, charged with the murder of Mrs. Anna Pulitzer last September, began today, the jury box having been filled by the acceptance of George H. Wells, a clerk, and Michael Cunningham, a real estate dealer, as the 11th and 12th jurors.

Young, whose appearance was slightly improved, was half-dragged, half-carried into court, by a deputy sheriff and, at once sank down in his wonted listless attitude. He was closely studied by an alienist, employed by the defense, who sat near him engaged in the preparation of testimony which he will give later on.

Dan E. Powell, who found the body of Mrs. Pulitzer, related the incidents and described the locality.

James B. Lynch, a policeman, testified that he saw a man, assisted by the bell boy of the house, carry a trunk from the Clarence apartment house and load it in a buggy at about 9:20 o'clock on the evening of September 17. The trunk looked like the one in court.

James J. Moore, a youthful employe of the livery stable in Hoboken, where the buggy was hired, identified Young as the man who hired it at about 6 p. m. on September 17.

When the assistant district attorney told Young to hold up his head that the witness might see him, Young took no notice of the command. It was necessary for his lawyer to take him forcibly by the chin and lift his head from the table.

GOV. TAFT'S HEALTH MUCH IMPROVED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—In response to a cable inquiry to Gov. Taft at Manila for definite information as to the state of his health, reported in press dispatches as bad, Secretary Root today received the following personal cable message from Gov. Taft, dated Manila, today: "Lack of care of drinking water during provincial trip caused attack of tropical diarrhoea. Secured absolutely necessary quiet by remaining away from office. Recovery almost complete."

THE RIGHT THING.

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly Coming to the Front.

For many years, Red Gum, Blood root and Hydrastin have been recognized as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles, but they have always been given separately and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them, together with other antiseptics into a pleasant, effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark house, Troy, N. Y., says: "When I run up against anything that is good I like to tell people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago I bought a 50-cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and I am glad to say that they have done wonders for me and I do not hesitate to let all my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing."

Mr. George J. Cassovy of Hotel Griffon, West Ninth street, New York city, writes: "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried."

A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of head and throat or stomach.

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are much more convenient and pleasant to take and are no harmless that little children take them with benefit, as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drug.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone.

Help and happiness surely awaits you if you accept Mrs. Pinkham's advice. Disease makes women nervous, irritable, and easily annoyed by children and household duties; such women need the counsel and help of a woman who understands the peculiar troubles of her sex; that woman is Mrs. Pinkham, who with her famous medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have restored more sick and discouraged women to health and happiness than any other one person. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free. Write today, do not wait.

Will not the volumes of letters from women who have been made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince others of the virtues of this great medicine?

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. If you have some derangement of the feminine organism try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will surely help you.

Mrs. Emilie Seering, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—If women who are always blue and depressed and nervous would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would find it the medicine they need to bring them to a more cheerful frame of mind. I was terribly worried and downcast, and was thin and bloodless. My back ached all the time, no matter how hard I tried to forget it or change my position to ease it, and the pain at the base of my brain was so bad that I sometimes thought that I would grow crazy; I had the blues so much and was always so depressed I could not seem to shake them off; half of the time I did not seem to have the courage to do my work; everything seemed to go wrong with me, and I was always worrying and fearing the worst. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After the first few doses a load seemed lifted from my shoulders, I felt better in every way. The blues left me and my head stopped aching; before long my back was better too, and I looked younger and stronger. I took six bottles in all, and it is with thankfulness that I acknowledge that my present good health is due to the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. No man will see your letter. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass., and her advice is free. You are very foolish if you do not accept her kind invitation.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness.

Pay-Day Possibilities

—Editor Hirsch of the Volksblatt and Freiheits-Freund sent one of the "Pittsburgh Pictures," which we publish to U. S. Consul Diederich at Bremen, with his compliments, early in the year. The following response indicates how much the courtesy was appreciated:

CONSULATE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.
BREMEN, January 16, 1903.

I. E. HIRSCH, Esquire,
Care Volksblatt and Freiheits-Freund, Pittsburgh, Pa.

My Dear Friend:—
Please accept heartfelt thanks for the beautiful panoramic view of Pittsburgh which I received today. It has started within me a number of reminiscences that carry me back to my boyhood days, when Pittsburgh was a town of much less than 100,000 people, and when Fifth avenue had but few houses beyond Washington and Elm streets; and when Lippincott's factory was way out on the edge of the town; and when the Two-Mile Run was way out in the country, whither we would venture only occasionally to "snoop" some green apples or walnuts. Gen. Cole passed through here recently and conveyed to me your kind greetings. He also gave me a long description of the changes that he saw in the old, smoky, grimy burgh.

With best wishes for continued success and prosperity, I am,
Sincerely yours,
(Signed) HENRY W. DIEDERICH,
U. S. Consul.

Perhaps you, too, have a friend abroad or in some other state who was a Pittsburgher in past years, who would like to see how the city looks now, with the Frick Building and the Farmers Bank Building, and half a dozen other skyscrapers rising high above the level of the six-story buildings that were deemed high enough before the days of steel construction and fast elevators.

We will sell you one of these pictures, more than a yard long, carefully rolled, inserted in a mailing tube, wrapped and ready to go to the postoffice, for Twenty-five Cents.

It shows the entire business part of the city and miles of the three river valleys, as seen from Duquesne Heights on Mount Washington.

DEDICATION OF NEW CHURCHES

Three Edifices Nearing Completion—One to Be Occupied Tomorrow.

TWO NOTABLE REVIVALS

Evangelists Will Conduct Services in the Third Cumberland and Wilkinsburg Presbyterian Churches Next Week.

The new Second Cumberland Presbyterian church, Brushton and Penn avenues, Wilkinsburg, will be dedicated tomorrow. The Rev. A. E. Turner, president of the Waynesburg college, will preach the dedicatory sermon, and the services will be in charge of the pastor, the Rev. W. F. Silveus. A union service will be held in the church at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, to which all the ministers of the vicinity have been invited.

The Second United Presbyterian church, North Negley and Stanton avenues, the Rev. D. S. Littell, pastor, will be dedicated tomorrow week, February 15. The dedicatory sermon will be preached by the Rev. Thomas H. Hanna, at 10:45 o'clock in the morning. Dr. Hanna is well known in this city, having been pastor of the Second church about 30 years ago. At present he is pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, Monmouth, Ill. The Rev. J. K. McClurkin, pastor of the Shadyside United Presbyterian church, will preach in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The new United Presbyterian church in East McKeesport, near Wilmerding, will also be dedicated on February 15. The new church replaces the edifice that was destroyed by fire last summer and is built upon the same site and in the same general design as the old one. The Rev. J. G. Houston is pastor of the church.

Building for a Mission.

The Tabernacle Bible school, a mission of the Third United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, will soon worship in a building of its own. A lot has been purchased at Bedford avenue and Kirkpatrick street for $2,000 upon which a church will be erected to cost $5,000. Work on the new building will be begun at once.

The Rev. E. Payson Hammond will begin a week's revival at the Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church tomorrow. Meetings will be held every night next week, and the pastor of the church, the Rev. Thomas Parry, will assist in the services.

The Rev. George W. Eichelberger of Baltimore has been conducting a successful revival in the Third Cumberland Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, during the past week. With the assistance of the pastor, the Rev. C. R. Zahniser, these services will be continued this week.

The Rev. J. H. Craig, pastor of the Bellevue Christian church, will read a paper before the Christian ministers on Monday morning, on "The History and Proper Environment of Institutional Church Work." At the meeting of the United Presbyterian ministers the Rev. R. J. Miller will present a paper on "The Downtown Church and the Downtown Masses." The Rev. B. B. Wolf will read a paper on "Relation of Shakespeare to the Pulpit" before the Methodist Episcopal ministers.

Special Evangelistic Services.

The Lincoln Avenue United Presbyterian church, the Rev. W. A. Philips, pastor, is making the last month of its worship in the old mission building in Larimer avenue a memorable one. Work on the new chapel at Lincoln and Shetland avenues, is progressing rapidly. It is the intention of the church to celebrate the last two weeks of the congregation's worship in the old building with special evangelistic services, which will begin tomorrow.

The First Christian church of Crafton expects to erect a new building in Craft avenue, Crafton, this spring. An option has been taken on a lot costing $2,800, and the purchase price has been pledged. An edifice costing about $20,000 will be erected. At present the congregation is worshipping in Lawson's hall. The officers of the church have completed the steps necessary to incorporate the church, and a charter is expected soon.

A special committee of the Pittsburgh presbytery of the Presbyterian churches has decided to sell the property of the Apple Avenue mission of the Park Avenue Presbyterian church. It is said the population for whose interest the mission was established has gradually drifted elsewhere.

Prof. H. M. Hamill of Nashville, Tenn., will deliver a lecture on "The Training of the Teacher," at the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, on Monday night. This will be the first of three lectures arranged by the Pennsylvania state and Allegheny county Sabbath school associations for Sabbath school workers.

The Rev. J. Leonard Levy, rabbi of the Reform congregation, Rodeph Shalom, will deliver a lecture in the temple, tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock on "The Messiah."

Other pulpit announcements follow.

Wayne lodge of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, including President Shaffer and other officials, will be present. Mr. Young will speak on "The Model Worker."

CHART-TALK ON "THE NARROW WAY."

Allegheny Carnegie Hall, Tomorrow, 3 p. m.

Pastor Russell will give three concluding chart talks on the tower portion of the Chart of the Ages. The one for tomorrow afternoon should be of deep interest to all Bible students, namely, "The Narrow Way—and Other Ways." One peculiarity of this teacher is his fidelity to the Bible and his aptness to bring forth from it "things new and old." If the weather be favorable, the audience will surely be large, and the deaf and aged should go early, secure good seats and enjoy the preceding 30-minute praise service. Seats free. No collections.

In all the territory between Pittsburgh and Baltimore there is now no embargo on the Baltimore & Ohio. The embargo on the same road for freight over the Wheeling division destined to points west of Wheeling has likewise been raised. As announced in yesterday's Gazette, the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh have removed the embargo they maintained for a few weeks on ore, lumber, grain and hay.

This leaves the entire Pittsburgh district free from the troubles of embargoed traffic except so far as the Lake Erie's connection with the Erie for east and west business is concerned. No public announcement has been made yet of the lifting of that restriction. The Erie traffic from the Lake Erie from Youngstown to Cleveland has never been under the ban.

Raising these embargoes is important, in addition to the fact that certain commodities will again be received for shipment. It indicates a closer approach to normal conditions of transportation. The time is far from present when Pittsburgh will receive the rapidity and accuracy of shipments which other cities enjoy nearly always. It has been several years since this city's facilities equaled its demands for freight shipment, and with all the plans which are now being carried out, of which the principal one is the entrance of the Wabash, it will still be months before the railroads catch up to the business.

FLIRTED WITH SANTA FE.

Rock Island Brings Southern Pacific to Time in Traffic Exchange.

The Rock Island has forced a very favorable traffic agreement from the Southern Pacific by using the Santa Fe as a threat. The reports of an alliance between the Rock Island and the Santa Fe which have been current for a couple of weeks were based on the conference between officials of the two companies, and the Southern Pacific has been brought to time in short order by the fear of losing its most valuable connection.

The trouble started over the Rock Island's request for a larger share of the traffic from the Harriman lines. It also asked that the Choctaw line be granted a share of the passenger traffic divided by the western immigrant pool. On the first request the Southern Pacific turned the Rock Island down. On the second it refused to let the question go to arbitration. The result in the latter case was the withdrawal of the Rock Island from the pool and the initiation of a vigorous individual fight for the business. Then started the flirtation with the Santa Fe, which led to the whole matter being patched up.

E. B. Pryor in Town.

E. B. Pryor, assistant to President Ramsey of the Wabash, was in Pittsburgh yesterday in connection with financial matters of the Pittsburgh & Toledo syndicate. Mr. Ramsey is expected within a few days, although he has not yet notified the Pittsburgh officials of his coming. Several matters of importance await him and the next conference is expected to result in the Wabash starting several of the new plans authorized by the ordinance but so far not begun.

Record Price for Coal Land.

The record price for coal land in the vicinity of Fairchance, in Fayette county, was paid this week, when W. H. Riffle of McClellandtown sold to J. V. Thompson of Uniontown 224 acres at $800 an acre. Some of the holders of coal land there refuse to dispose of it at present market prices, holding out for $1,200 an acre. The price has been steadily going up for a long time.

RAILROAD NOTES.

H. Fernstrom is the new chief engineer of the New York Central.

R. H. Hill has been appointed auditor of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling to succeed Frank B. Everett, deceased. The road is now controlled by the Lake Shore.

The Rock Island and St. Louis terminal dispute over the Wiggins ferry ownership has been settled amicably out of court and the Rock Island has withdrawn its suits.

James Speyer of Speyer & Co., bankers, has been elected a director of the Baltimore & Ohio. The firm has long been associated with Baltimore & Ohio finances.

H. F. Fitch has resigned as trainmaster of the Erie at Meadville and will take a train dispatcher's position on the Big Four. He is succeeded by S. B. Ferguson, hitherto train dispatcher of the division.

The executive officers of western trunk lines have renewed their agreement to grant no passes to agents of fast freight lines which operate in whole or in part over trunk lines. Those that have been issued have been recalled. They will issue in return for eastern transportation the same number they receive from eastern lines and to officials of the same rank only. As usual the small official is getting the worst of the situation.

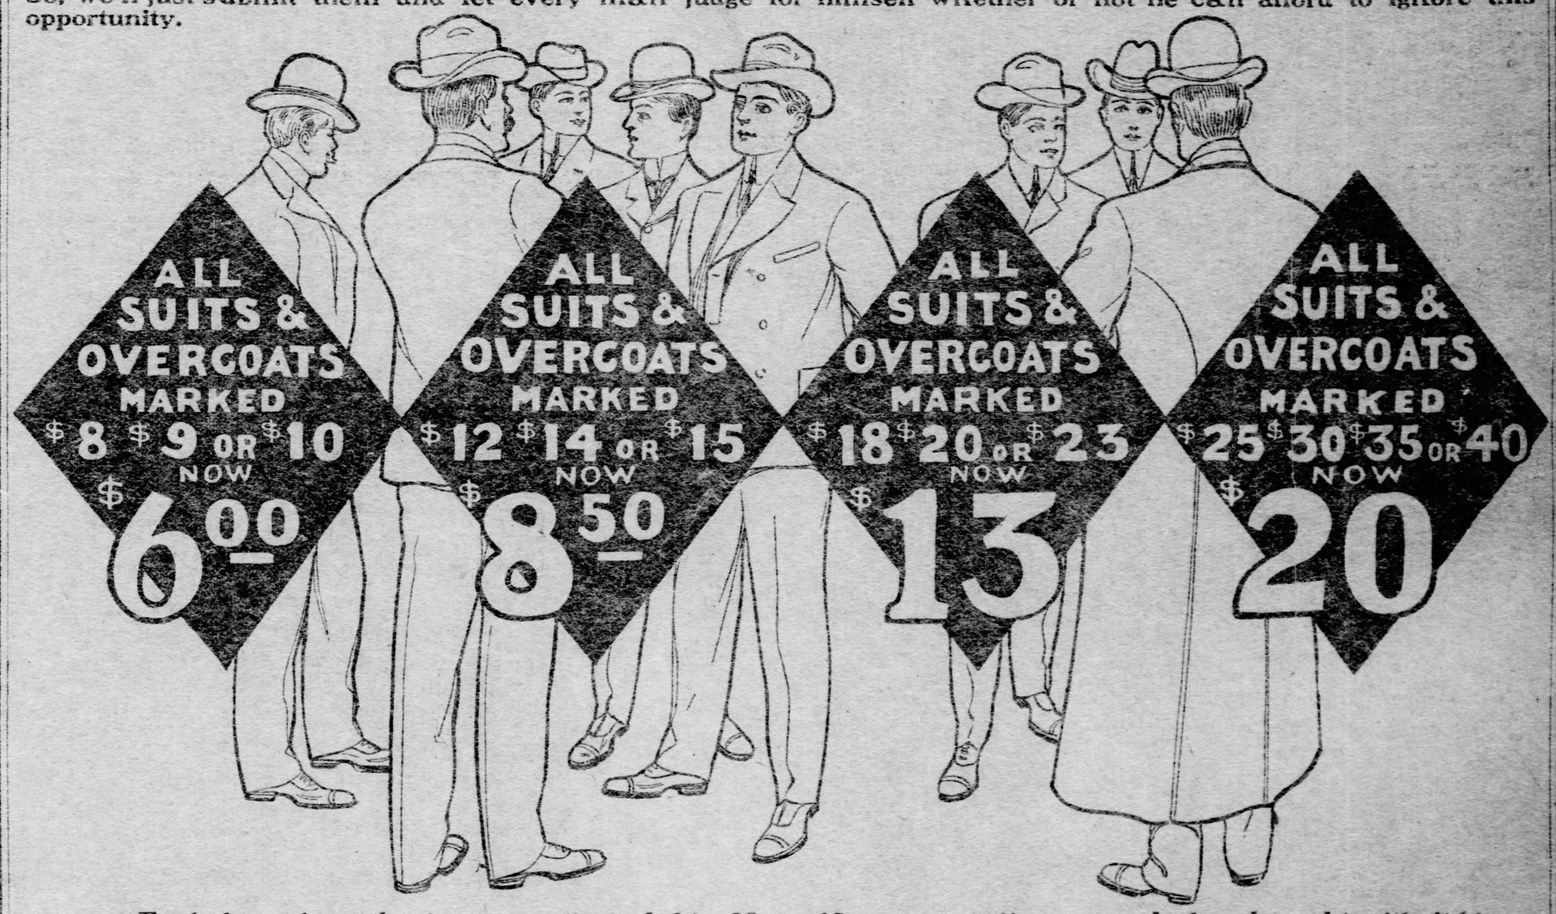
KAUFMANN'S

"THE BIG STORE"

A price-lowering that stirs men to action

"Necessity knows no law," and necessity is at the bottom of this clothing clearing. Our always-strictly-adhered-to policy of "never to pack goods away from one season to the next" makes it imperative for us to hasten the departure of present stocks before the arrival of the Spring goods. "But February is too late to buy winter clothing," you say. Not a bit of it—providing the inducements are great enough—and they certainly ARE. Besides, winter is not over by any means. "The ground hog saw his shadow," so we can expect at the least six weeks of cold weather—more than likely the coldest of the year. Then, too, the foresighted man will need no urging to provide for next winter's needs NOW—now when he can save 20 to 45 per cent. But, we might talk for weeks and in the end say nothing more convincing than a mere statement of the facts and figures in the case. So, we'll just submit them and let every man judge for himself whether or not he can afford to ignore this opportunity.



ALL SUITS & OVERCOATS MARKED $8 $9 OR $10 NOW $6.00
ALL SUITS & OVERCOATS MARKED $12 $14 OR $15 NOW $8.50
ALL SUITS & OVERCOATS MARKED $18 $20 OR $23 NOW $13
ALL SUITS & OVERCOATS MARKED $25 $30 $35 OR $40 NOW $20

Each day since the inauguration of this 20 to 45 per cent discount sale has brought with it bigger throngs of eager and enthusiastic purchasers. Last Saturday sales touched high water mark—this week, they've gone over it—are at flood stage.

And remember, this is a clearance sale without any conditions or exceptions—each and every suit and overcoat in the house is under the ban. We've simply divided the entire stock (outside the $5.50, $6, $6.50, $7 and $7.50 goods, which go at 4.50) into four parts from which you can take your unrestricted choice for $6, $8.50, $13 and $20, as above. And there's no mistake about your getting the reductions, either—YOU MAKE THEM YOURSELF. The old prices remain on the tickets. You do your own price cutting. For instance: if the suit or overcoat you select is marked $8, $9 or $10, you pay only 6.00—or if marked $12, $14 or $15, you pay only 8.50—or if marked $18, $20 or $23, you pay only 13.00—or if marked $25, $30, $35 or $40 you pay only 20.00.

The same discount also applies to all men's pants

TWO SHROUDS BEAR WITNESS IN GHOUL CASE

Found in Basement of Central Medical College in Indianapolis.

PRICE OF BODIES GREATLY VARIED

Two Witnesses Say Dr. Alexander Posted Them Where to Find Subjects.

NEW YORK MARKET POOR

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 6.—At the trial of Dr. Joseph Alexander, charged with being the chief and principal of the organization of ghouls whose operations have devastated 1,000 graves in the vicinity of Indianapolis today's session was replete with tragic details. The climax came when the prosecuting attorney stepped before the jury and laid at the feet of a witness a wrinkled and blood-stained silken garment.

Men and women in the court room crowded forward to catch a glimpse of the article of apparel and before order was restored it was necessary for the trial judge to send his bailiffs into the audience. William Patty was the witness on the stand at the time.

"Have you ever seen this before?" asked the prosecutor.

"I have."

"What is it?"

"It is the silken shroud in which the body of Catherine Doehring was buried," answered the witness.

The soiled and wrinkled object was the burial gown torn from the body when it was carted to the college from the grave. The prosecution introduced testimony to show that Dr. Alexander had market the Doehring grave to be robbed and that Cantrell followed out his instructions, visited the spot and secured the body.

This garment and another similar one were found in the basement of the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Samuel Martin, colored, who was prominently identified with Cantrell in the grave-robbing business, testified that Dr. Alexander told him he wanted from 17 to 20 subjects for dissection and would pay $30 each.

Martin said Dr. Alexander told Rufus Cantrell that he would watch the death returns at the board of health offices and would notify Cantrell. The first trip, he said, was made in July, when, with Cantrell and the others, he went to the Anderson cemetery and secured the body of Glendore Gates and handed it over to the Central college. The next day Dr. Alexander paid him $10.

His next trip was to the Ebenezer cemetery, when the body of Wallace Johnson was secured. Dr. Alexander told him the subject was not a good one, because it had been mangled by the cars, and Martin received but $5. At the same graveyard he assisted in getting the body of Johanna Stiltz, for which Dr. Alexander paid him $8. In addition to these bodies, Martin said he got a body at the Insane hospital cemetery, which Dr. Alexander said was a good subject, but the witness did not remember how much money had been paid for it.

The witness gave further particulars of securing several other bodies, which he said were delivered at the college and for which he received pay from Dr. Alexander.

Walter Daniels said he first met Dr. Alexander with Cantrell in July. Daniels said:

"Cantrell told him I had worked for Thornton J. Barnes, demonstrator of anatomy at the Northwestern college in Chicago. Cantrell said bodies were not worth much in Chicago, and Dr. Alexander said they were worth but $1 in New York city. He said he had nothing on hand then, but he would watch the returns and let us know when we would be needed.

"The following Saturday night we went to Dr. Alexander's office, and he told us there was a good colored subject in the Anderson cemetery, and he wanted us boys to go out and get it. I asked him what my share of the job would be, and he said he would give me $3. So we went out to Anderson graveyard and got the body of Estelle Middleton. Dr. Alexander said it was a good subject and paid me $3."

Daniels' testimony was not shaken on cross-examination.

Liveryman Case testified that Dr. Alexander had paid him $40 for rigs used by Cantrell. Charles Medlras, a pawnbroker, said Dr. Alexander had twice taken Cantrell's clothes out of pawn and paid him $20.

COAL RATES EAST TO BE ADVANCED

Increase of 15 Cents a Ton Reported to Take Effect in Few Days.

Reports from the east say that rates on bituminous coal from Western Pennsylvania to eastern tidewater will be advanced 15 cents a ton. The raise is to become effective in a few days. Local railroad and coal company officials profess to have no knowledge of the matter.

The present rate from the soft coal region of Western Pennsylvania to Philadelphia is $1 10, and to New York $1 45 the ton. The advance, therefore, would make the rates $1 25 and $1 60 the ton.

This increase will bring great additional earnings to the Baltimore & Ohio and the Pennsylvania, which carry the bulk of the coal between Pittsburgh and the east. On its lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie, the Pennsylvania carried last year 26,000,000 tons of bituminous coal. This increase would mean therefore an addition of between $8,000,000 and $4,000,000 to the company's earnings, based on the 1902 tonnage, and it is certain that the present year will exceed those figures.

BRILLIANT BANQUET AND BALL GIVEN BY SHRINERS OF ALTOONA

Feast at Logan House and Dance at Masonic Temple Attended by Many Society People. Pittsburgher Responded to Toast.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALTOONA, PA., Feb. 6.—The most brilliant society event held in this city during the winter was the banquet and ball given this evening by the Ancient Allah order and Noble Mystic shriners of Altoona and vicinity. About 150 Shriners, together with their ladies, were in attendance.

The banquet took place at the Logan house from 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock. The dining hall was beautifully decorated. George F. Jackson of Altoona presided at the feast. Toasts were responded to in a manner befitting the occasion by W. H. Walker of Pittsburgh, W. Harrison Walker of Bellefonte and Boyd Steele of this city.

The ball which was held immediately after the banquet the Masonic temple, presented a scene of rare beauty and the guests embraced the opportunity offered of ideal pleasure and enjoyment. The ladies were charming in appearance, wearing most tasteful as well as neat, attractive gowns, with a choice assortment of fragrant flowers. Mrs. I. C. Mishler of Altoona was a favorite among the assemblage. The same may also be said of Mrs. W. W. Blake. Mrs. Blake was the recipient of a general handshaking and best wishes in her trip to be made very soon in company with Mr. Blake across the continent. Miss Mabel Lee Hughes of Altoona was another popular member of the party.

Others present were Dr. A. S. Stayer, who enjoyed the distinction of being the first Shriner at Altoona, and T. D. Hughes, well known in Masonry. The committee having charge of the affair was composed of George F. Jackson, J. MacWilliam, W. W. Rudisill, H. E. Ferguson, J. Harry Lampe, C. G. Derrick and T. J. Hemphill, all of Altoona; Mahlon Crider and John K. Ray of Tyrone, and Kuhn Wentrof of Cressen.

TRUSTEES HAVE LOST FAITH IN COUNCILS

Citizen Leaders' Delay Choice of School Site and Endanger Gift.

The delay and the dilatory action of the Citizens leaders of councils in negotiating for a site for the Carnegie polytechnic school has caused the directors of Carnegie institute to take a hand in the matter. The directors realize that if the "reform" members of councils are depended upon Pittsburgh will lose the generous gift which Mr. Carnegie has offered.

W. N. Frew, president of the board of trustees of the institute, is in New York to propose a new site to Mr. Carnegie, which has not heretofore been considered. It lies in Forbes street, west of the institute, and the 11-acre tract which was first picked by Mr. Carnegie. The statement published in an evening paper yesterday that the Flinn-Magee site, east of the institute had been decided upon, was denied last night by a prominent member of the board of trustees.

He said President Frew had secured options on a new piece of land west of the 11-acre tract, and that this site would be offered to Mr. Carnegie. It is understood that the price of this property is over $500,000, and that a bond issue will be necessary to buy it.

Mr. Frew went to New York a few days ago on a visit and was to have a conference with Mr. Carnegie at the same time. It was also stated that Councilmann W. H. Stevenson and W. E. Banker had gone to New York to confer with Mr. Frew and Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Stevenson went to New York Thursday night and Mr. Sankey is said to have accompanied him.

A Gazette correspondent saw Mr. Frew in New York last night and Mr. Frew stated that he had not yet seen the two councilmen. He said that the matter was still status quo and that nothing new would be known for a day or two.

Slashed Wife in a Saloon.

Mrs. David Madden, colored, of Gazzam street, before Alderman Charles Kaltenhauser yesterday charged her husband with felonious cutting. She claims that while she was seated drinking with a friend in a Fifth avenue saloon on Thursday night, her husband entered and slashed her across the shoulder with a penknife. Madden escaped and cannot be located.

TRAFFIC CLUB HAS SUCCESSFUL START

Judge Reed, James Francis Burke and Others Address Banqueters at the Henry.

Seated at a great table in the form of the letter "T" 76 members and guests of the Traffic club of Pittsburgh initiated last evening at the Hotel Henry the career of an organization which has for its purpose the formation of closer personal relations between the representatives of the Pittsburgh shipping interests and the freight officials of the Pittsburgh and foreign lines with whom the shippers come into touch.

The affair was thoroughly successful. Nearly all the members were present, the guests numbering about 10. The menu served was excellent, the decorations harmonious, and the speeches of the best. Those who addressed the gathering were the Hon. James H. Reed, president of the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad, the Philadelphia Company and a director of the United States Steel Corporation, whose topic was "Pittsburgh: The City of Opportunity for Young Men!" James Francis Burke, Esq., on "An Outline of Usefulness for the Traffic Club of Pittsburgh;" C. W. Clarke, general agent, Erie railroad, president of the club, "Our New Organization;" S. P. Woodaldg, traffic manager, Pittsburgh Coal Company, "A View of Both Sides—Railroad and Industrial;" D. H. Maloney, commercial agent, Rock Island, "How Pittsburgh Impresses a Newcomer," and C. H. Kingsbury, commercial agent, Norfolk & Western, "Unmade History."

Judge Reed created much interest by his reply to charges that the large corporations of today hurt the individual. He gave instances of rapid success by those fitted to advance, and called Pittsburgh pre-eminently a place that looks for such men. The address of Mr. Burke was filled equally with wit and wisdom, and throughout the whole ran a vein of humor. Each of the other speakers was likewise well received. S. L. Seymour, as toastmaster, gave happy introductions to each address, and did much to render the toasts the success they proved.

The committee in charge of the evening was composed of D. F. Hurd, commercial agent, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern; A. Q. Tallant, general agent, Chicago & Northwestern, and O. D. Hammon, general freight agent, Bessemer & Lake Erie.

The club plans to have similar dinners and meetings of various kinds every now and then. The members are greatly pleased with the successful initial meeting last evening.

CAPT. SIBERT'S REPORT IN FULL

Fate of Somerset Camp Site Rests Mainly on Word of Geologist.

EXAMINED COAL FIELD

George M. Lehman, Assistant Local Government Engineer, Has Reported on "Smokeless" Coal Underlying Tract.

The fate of the site optioned at Somerset for a government military camp hangs largely upon the report of George M. Lehman, assistant to United States Engineer William L. Sibert. Capt. Sibert's report on the camp site is herewith given in full. The price asked—$175 an acre—includes not only the surface but a vein of the Ligty, or "smokeless" coal, now being supplied to the United States navy by the Somerset Coal Company.

Copies of Capt. Sibert's report were received yesterday. It is now in the hands of the senate committee on military affairs. The advisability of purchasing the coal at the price named was not touched upon in this report, but Mr. Lehman, who is an expert geologist, spent several days examining the coal tracts, and his report will probably determine whether the site will be accepted by the government.

Capt. Sibert's report is as follows:

Engineer Office, U. S. Army,
Pittsburgh, Pa., P. O. Box 1240.
January 31, 1903.

Brig. Gen. C. L. Gillespie,
Chief of Engineers, U. S. Army,
Washington, D. C.

General: I have the honor to submit the following report on preliminary examination of a site near Somerset, Pa., with a view to ascertaining its fitness for a permanent encampment for a large body of troops, made in compliance with your letter of instruction dated January 12, 1903.

High Above Sea Level.

The site in question lies to the southwest of Somerset, Pa. It is a portion of the high, rolling plateau lying between Negro mountain and Laurel hill. It is broken here and there by streams whose valleys are in places narrow and confined to steep slopes, but frequently abruptly widening for long distances into broad, flat bottom land, with gradual hill slopes, sometimes resulting in a topography, which presents a hill standing boldly before the eye at the end of a long, clear reach, with an elevation above the low land of about 250 feet. A photograph is enclosed that gives an idea of the topography of the country.

The highest elevation above tide within the proposed site is something over 2,300 feet; the lowest about 1,760 feet, and the average elevation of the hilltops in the upper half of the property is about 2,225 feet.

The property is drained by five small streams, and the water beds of three of them are entirely within the boundary lines of the property. The most important stream entirely within the boundary is Scrub Glade run, which is five miles long and centrally situated, emptying into Casselman river, about one mile east of Rockwood.

The Sewerage Question.

The site in question abounds in springs and wells of constant supply, and it is my opinion that there will be no difficulty in maintaining a sufficient and pure supply for a large encampment of troops. The sewerage of the town of Somerset empties into Coxs creek. Rockwood empties into Casselman river at Rockwood. From such information as could be obtained, the sewage of this town of about 2,000 people, has not polluted Coxs creek, at least to the extent of causing people along it to complain. It is not thought that any additional sewage could be carried by this stream without polluting it. If that be true, a sewerage system from a large encampment could not well be emptied into Coxs creek, and it is not thought that any of the other creeks inside of the boundary are large enough to carry such sewage without undue pollution. This would not necessitate making Casselman river the outlet of a sewerage system for a permanent encampment. This could be done by encircling the troops on the south end of the property, utilizing the northern portion of it for maneuvers. No material difficulties seem to present themselves to a system of sewage disposal in this locality.

Some Good Points.

The property, generally speaking is suitable for maneuvering all arms of the service. A suitable range for rifle and field artillery practice can be found in several places within the tract, the butts being placed at the foot of the hills having an elevation of 200 to 250 feet above the range. By extending the property to the southwest, taking in the hills of Middle creek, near its mouth, hills of 300 to 400 feet height could be utilized as butts.

In general, the site is well watered, well drained, and it is thought to be suited to the safe and healthful encampment of troops.

A map is enclosed herewith on which is marked the approximate boundary of the site in question. This boundary includes about 15,800 acres. Mr. W. A. Scott, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., has an option on this property and his price, as stated in letter enclosed, is $175 per acre. At this price the cost of the tract of land enclosed by boundary line in red on map would be approximately $2,712,500. Should this area be extended to the southwest to take in the hills west of Middle creek, near its mouth, as indicated on map hereewith in yellow, the total acreage would be 17,500, and the total cost $3,062,500. The land in question is good, average agricultural land, producing about 50 bushels of corn per acre, and about 30 bushels of wheat, when cared for and fertilized. There is on the tract sufficient firewood for use while maneuvering troops.

Coal Value Uncertain as Yet.

The price per acre is based not only upon the value of the surface, but upon the value of the coal under the surface.

There is enclosed herewith a report from Mr. George M. Lehman, assistant engineer, on the geology of the country southwest of Somerset, Pa. He accompanied me in my inspection of this site, and was once connected with the state geological survey.

I hardly feel competent to express an opinion concerning the value of the coal per acre without a more thorough examination and the ascertaining of absolute sections in different places for the purpose of determing the persistence of the veins in question, these facts not having been established by any extensive mining in the territory. A thorough examination as to the geology of the country on which depends largely the value is not practicable during the winter season when the country is covered with snow, as it was when this examination was made.

An inspection of the map will show that the tract of land lies at its southern end on the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Along its eastern border runs the Somerset & Cambria branch of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. This branch connects with the Pennsylvania railroad at Johnstown, Pa., a distance of 45 miles from Rockwood.

It is understood that the Baltimore & Ohio railroad intends building a connection from Geigers, Pa., toward the northwest, connecting with the Baltimore & Ohio or Pennsylvania railroads. Should the Somerset & Cambria branch be double-tracked, it is thought the railroad facilities would be sufficient for a camp site. The topography of the country is such that switch tracks to suitable storehouses could be easily built. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WM. L. SIBERT,
Captain Corps of Engineers.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad has agreed to double-track the Somerset & Cambria branch, if the government accepts the site. The lower end of the tract lies along the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio near Casselman station. W. A. Scott, Jr., yesterday said that if the government desires it, 5,000 acres more can be bought at the same price.

Blood Flowed in Rough Hockey Contest

ANOTHER GAME FOR THE BANKERS

Defeated P. A. C. Seven in a Rough and Exciting Game.

BIG CROWD THERE

The largest crowd of the season was out at Duquesne garden last night, and for an hour and a half there was more real excitement and enthusiasm than has been furnished by any hockey contest in years. It was the second game of the week between the P. A. C. and bankers series, and as on Tuesday night the money lenders secured the victory 4 to 3, but it took 10 minutes of additional playing time to reach that result.

The people who had witnessed Tuesday night's contest had sent word to everybody they knew not to miss the game on Friday night, because there would be some lively doings and that status sent was a true one. There were lively doings all right, in fact things became so lively that at times it looked as though the police would have to be called in to separate the combatants. Strenuous hockey is hardly strong enough to cover last night's display, and killing a celery would suit it much better. Not that any one was killed, but it wasn't the fault of the players that the morgue record was not put in to service.

The first half of the contest was something like a nice game of shinny between teams selected from Sunday school classes. The only player to suffer a penalty in this half was "Harry" Robinson, who was caught in the act of tripping an opponent, and got a siege of bench duty for so doing. It was really an excellent offense on "digger's" part, for then Bob Hamilton, who was umpiring, had to let the people know that he was out on the ice for some purpose. This half ended 2 to 0 in P. A. C.'s favor, the goals being shot by McKeown and Shields, the last one being a scorching 30-foot long; shot almost half the length of the rink.

When the teams appeared on the ice for the second half the crowd commenced to show signs in anticipation of trouble and there was trouble sure enough. The referee's whistle had no sooner started than the rough work started and for 20 minutes there was doing and lots of fighting. Umpire Hamilton was so busy putting players out of the game for rough work that he got himself mixed up once and penalized a scrapping player. The spectators lent approval to the rough scenes for while when were enough to frighten a band of Indians.

The ice was stained in spots by blood which flowed in a stream from the nose and mouth of Keenan of P. A. C. and from Lifton of the bankers. At one stage time had to be called to allow Lifton to go into the dressing room and have his head bandaged as there was a four-inch cut above his left eye. This same little Lifton was there with the goods all right, and no matter how big an opponent was he would not hesitate about going into him, and some one suggested his name should start with a "B" instead of an "L."

Shortly after the start of the second half McKeown secured the third point for P. A. C., and it looked like a walkover for the P. A. C.'s, but appearances are deceiving. The Bankers now started an aggressive work and in a short time Lifton had scored after securing the puck from a scrimmage. Shields followed with a second score on a pass from Lifton, and Howard evened matters up by a pretty run which wound up with a clever shot which counted. The crowd went almost wild with delight and some of the more excited tossed their hats out on the ice.

It was agreed that an additional ten minute half should be played in answer to the clamor of the crowd that the game be finished, and it was about as rough ten-minutes' work as has been seen this winter. The players went after each other with a vengeance and sticks were used to beat each other with. In the midst of these wild scenes Had Stuart of the Bankers carried the puck down and shot the goal that gave Bankers the victory. The score and line-up:

BARTH AND ATHERTON

Will Wrestle for Middleweight Championship of World at Kittanning This Month.

KITTANNING, PA., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—After considerable negotiating articles have been signed by Fred Barth of this place to wrestle E. J. Atherton for the middleweight championship of the world, on February 17. Several weeks ago Barth wrestled Atherton to a two-hour each man, securing one fall and then wrestling until 12 o'clock, when neither man had the advantage the bout was a draw, according to agreement. This match was at catchweights, and Atherton outweighed Barth about 20 pounds.

Since then Atherton, who is the acknowledged middleweight champion of the world, has challenged Barth for a finish match, which has been arranged on the following terms: The men are to wrestle for a purse of $400, side receipts and the championship belt, which Atherton now holds. The match will be a three one, as Atherton is a past master at the game, while Barth is equally as clever and as strong. Barth, who came from Pittsburgh to this place, is well known in the wrestling world and has never been thrown by a man near his weight, and he has wrestled all the good ones.

Barth is one of the cleverest men on the ice-fence in the business and a man can get a line of his scientific tactics. Since Barth has been in this town he has wrestled and thrown the following men: Charles Reinecke of Allegheny, twice; Charles Condle of East Palestine, O., twice; Pat Donahue of Punxsutawney, Tom Riley, English champion, twice, and a fall and draw with Ed Atherton, the world's champion. Barth wrestles Eddie Connoley, champion of Ohio, at Vandergrift, February 9. Following this bout Barth is known in the coming match, as Atherton is determined if possible to regain the laurels he lost to Barth, while Barth is determined to wrest the championship from Atherton. No referee has as yet been selected.

TERRY MAY COME HERE

Sam Harris Writes Manager Corcoran for a Date for the Brooklyn Wonder in a Local Ring.

Terry McGovern may be the first fighter of any great prominence to make his appearance in a local ring in the near future. Manager Billy Corcoran yesterday received a communication from Sam Harris, Terry's manager, asking if he could arrange for a bout to be pulled off in Pittsburgh with any one in the exchampion's class.

Corcoran replied favorably to the letter, offering Terry a date here in March, and it is believed the Brooklyn lad will avail himself of the opportunity to appear before the Pittsburgh fistic fans. The opponent Manager Corcoran is after Buddy Ryan, the Chicago featherweight, who defeated Kid Broad, to meet Terrible Terry here.

Matty Matthews and Couhig are matched to go to the limit route on February 23, and Manager Corcoran has also scheduled Eddie Kennedy and Jimmy Handler or Christ Himmler to meet the last of March. Corcoran insists on pitching the men he wants McGovern and will not allow the ex-champion to come to Pittsburgh and battle with a pugilist who is not his equal. Corcoran is also after a match between Broad and Young Corbett, to take place here next month.

The Railroad Seven Won.

One of the most interesting amateur league games of hockey played this season at the Duquesne gardens was played between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Lawrenceville A. A. C. of Allegheny. Lawrenceville team has been together longer, they claim, than any other every respect by the P. R. R. The star performer of the evening was Hill of the P. R. R. who skated circles around the Lawrenceville players. By securing the puck at the end of the rink and dribbling it the length of the rink he scored the first goal. The Pennsylvania R. R. is getting team work down and in a few weeks will be putting up a star game.

No Chance for Tenney.

The manager of Eddie Tenney, the Philadelphia featherweight, writes to James Mason wanting to match him against McClelland at 126 pounds, and says Tenney had the best of Young Corbett when they met. It will be impossible to do anything for Tenney at present, as Jack has several matches in view with more prominent men.

Among the Amateurs.

The Ben Avon basketball team has organized for the season of 1903. During the meeting the matter of entering the proposed Junior league was discussed and all of the members seemed to favor such a movement.

The Catalpa A. C. of Economy has reorganized for the season of 1903, with the following officers: H. Jessel, Jr., Campbell, D. See, William Rinker, Joseph J. Bruh, W. Kline, Jr., Peter J. Zeigler, Morgan Roberts, Irving A. Ruf, J. Pandy. Any 14 to 14-year-old teams wishing games address John Handler, Economy, Pa.

WANT FOOTBALL RULES MATERIALLY CHANGED

Many School Professors Sign Petition to Have Mass Plays Abolished.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A petition signed by about 70 head-masters of schools, representing many states, looking to the modification of the present playing rules of football has been presented to the inter-collegiate football rules committee. The petition is one phase of the movement for the abolishment of mass plays and had its inception at a conference held in connection with the meeting of the Head Masters association in Boston in December last. A committee was appointed, which drew up the following circular letter:

"The inter-collegiate committee on football rules, gentlemen:

"The undersigned, head masters of schools in which football is played, take this method of urging upon your committee the desirability of so modifying the present rules as to eliminate, as far as is possible without sacrificing the game, the objectionable and dangerous features that exist at the present time. The objections to these features have already been publicly made, and we are bringing forward no new proposition.

"We, however, possess peculiar opportunity for observing in detail the effects of the game on those who play it, and our experience with football teams made up of boys below the college age, shows us, in their extreme form, the evil results of the game as at present played. We also feel, in view of the fact that the large majority of college players learn the game and secure their preliminary training on our school teams, and in view of the consequent importance to college football of having the game fully developed in the secondary schools, that our testimony as to the points in question is at least entitled to careful consideration.

"We wish to express in emphatic terms our judgment, based on experience, that football as at present played, is too severe and too dangerous, and our belief that it is possible, by modification of the rules, to develop a style of football that will retain the unique and characteristic advantages of the present game without its most serious attendant evils.

"We present no arguments on the subject, as these are already familiar to you. We make no specific suggestions, for you are the most competent ones to decide how the desired result can be secured. We simply present our testimony, and urge you, in the interest of college and school athletics, to take speedy action for the elimination of the present objectionable and dangerous features of football."

The petition was signed by almost every head master to whom it was sent, and the signatures represent all the leading football schools of the east, as well as the champion schools of the west.

FIRST PLACE FIGHT.

Carnegie and South Side Teams Will Do Battle and Warm Game Expected.

Tonight at Odd Fellows hall, South Side, Hans Wagner's Carnegie team and the champion South Side five will come together, and one of the greatest struggles in the history of the game in this locality is expected. The teams are again tied for the lead in the race for the championship of the Allegheny County league, as has been the case twice before. Wagner's team coming out ahead in both games.

This game will have a great deal to do with the ultimate ending of the championship race, as Manchester, Carnegie and South Side are running neck and neck for the lead. The Carnegie team seems to have the South Side boys hoodooed, as the champions easily disposed of Manchester last Saturday, who followed this up by taking revenge on Carnegie on their own floor, but South Side seems to be unable to get the speedy work which has given them their reputation, started against this latter team. Following will be the lineup:

Carnegie.	South Side.
Seibel	Right forward
Stehle	Center
H. Wagner	Right guard

THE PREP.'S VICTORS.

Defeated Heavy W. U. P. Freshman Five.

The Allegheny Preps defeated the W. U. P. freshmen in a fast and furious game by the score of 18 to 13. The Preps had an exceedingly light team, the heaviest man going only 130 pounds, while the Freshmen had a large and heavy team. Before the game it looked as though they would walk away with the small Prep boys, but the score shows different.

Knox, one of Allegheny's star players, was out of the game on account of illness, and Denny took his place. Witherow had a bad foot and had to retire. Carson, a new man, played his first game and did fine, getting two baskets. The excellent condition of the visiting team and the rough game played by the freshmen, Allegheny's team work was shy and this accounted for their low score. Many fouls were called on both sides, but only those thrown. Score:

Riverview appeared at Bohemia hall last night determined to give the champion Sterlings their first defeat of the season, but in this they found their mistake, and resorted to playing on the defensive. NEW ORLEANS SPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6.—Monos and Brief were the only winning favorites, and the latter's victory was won at the price of serious injury to Jockey Redfern. The lad's good riding overcame the obstacles which the mare met in the race and just as her nose crossed the finish, she stepped in a hole in the track, stumbled and fell. WESTON A WINNER.

Cowboy Player Is Now Tied for First Place.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Harry P. Stoff of Cleveland and Charles Weston of Chicago are tied for first place in the professional sweepstakes pool tournament, which began four weeks ago at the Montauk Billiard academy, Brooklyn.

They met tonight and Weston won by a score of 125 to 44. This was Stoff's first defeat, as he had won eight straight games while Weston had lost two. Weston's Chicago team-mate tonight made him even with the Cleveland expert, each having won eight and lost one game out of nine games decided.

They will play the deciding game tomorrow night. The scores of tonight's contest were: Weston 125, high run 42, scratches 2; Stoff 44, high run 20, scratches 2.

M'GOVERN MADE VERY POOR SHOW IN BOUT

Was Wild, Rough and Foul. Bernstein Saved Himself by Clinching in Fifth Round.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 6.—(Special.)—Terry McGovern emerged from his ring retirement since his contest with Dave Sullivan at Louisville almost a year ago by boxing six poor, unsatisfactory rounds with Joe Bernstein of New York this evening in the ring of the Industrial A. C. McGovern showed his wild, unconvertable ring tactics was as rough and foul as ever, but could not put out his dangerous opponent, who resorted to hugging and clinching in every round to avoid taking punishment.

Bernstein seemed afraid to lead, but the few times that he did cease to stick out his left it went full against the ex-champion's face. McGovern fought wildly all through the six rounds. In only one round, the fifth, did he catch Bernstein with his swinging blow. In this round, when near the end, he landed upon his opponent with a terrific swinging right and Bernstein was staggered.

Before the latter could throw up his guard or protect himself McGovern whipped across his left with lightning rapidity, the blow taking effect upon the point of the jaw and Bernstein went down considerably dazed. He raised himself to one knee immediately, but did not regain his feet until the full count had been tolled off.

McGovern then rushed at him to finish him in short order, but clinching and the bell saved him. The other rounds were very unsatisfactory, most of the time being consumed in hugging and clinching.

AN EXCITING FINISH

Scritchfield Shot Goal in Last Minute That Gave Shadyside Victory Over Kiski.

INDIANA, PA., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—Shadyside defeated Kiskiminetas here this evening in a nerve racking battle with a finish that the Saltsburg boys will never forget. Library hall, the scene of so many great basketball battles, never saw a fight like Kiski made to overcome the score as it stood at the end of the first half—14 to 8 in Shadyside's favor.

Just at the finish big Scritchfield threw a goal from the foul line and won the championship for his school. The greatest battle ever fought in Indiana was over and the mill spectators went home to sympathize with the team. The first half was all Shadyside. Pew always got the ball at center and between "Midget" Cochran and Big Scritchfield Shadyside kept the ball. These three were in almost every play. There was some team work at times and nice shooting by Pew, but Cochran's work was the real feature.

Kiski had new life in the second half and soon had Shadyside on the run. M. Porterfield, Long and McClintock were passing and shooting the ball with an occasional nice dribble in a manner that startled all. But Shadyside's weight and team play finally won. Lineup:

Shadyside—20.	Kiski—12.
Cochran	R. F.

Pew	Center
Scritchfield	R. G.

PIRATES WON'T PLAY

President Dreyfuss Gives Reason for Refusing to Meet Connie Mack's Team.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—The challenge of Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, champions of the American league, for a series of games with Barney Dreyfuss' Pittsburgh National league champions has been turned down by the latter. Mr. Dreyfuss cannot see his way clear to be pushed into such a series, but he is confident that if the two teams ever meet his aggregation will so far out-class the Athletics that it will be like a cricket team trying to play with a professional baseball team.

"Connie's challenge was made in good faith, I know," said he. "But what chance is there for playing games in either Philadelphia or Pittsburgh in the middle of April? The weather will not permit it. Furthermore, our team is going to Hot Springs to train, a won't get home until a day or so before the season opens. There is also a question of our getting together. I would like nothing better. Connie's team does not compare with ours, and we should prove that to him in a series for both of us, but I don't care about that. What I want is to get my players into condition as soon as the money that I may be overlooking by not playing games with the Athletics. Furthermore, it would not be a fair trial for either side, for the players cannot get in good condition before the season opens."

The Knickerbockers Beaten.

LATROBE PA., Feb. 6.—(Special.)—The Knickerbocker A. C. team of Allegheny was defeated here tonight in one of the fastest games seen in this gymnasium. The visitors were a little off in the first half, allowing Latrobe to roll up 15 points while they themselves managed to squeeze in three. But in the second half the large and enthusiastic audience was given a treat to a battle royal, neither side gaining any advantage, the half ending 12 to 12. The score and line-up:

COURT OVERRULES REFEREE IN LEVY CASE

Judge Buffington Says Fraud Was Not Proved in Bankruptcy Matter Involving Composition With Creditors.

Judge Buffington handed down a decision in the United States district court yesterday reversing the referee in the case of John Z. Levy, a bankrupt, and ordering the discharge of the bankrupt. The case has been one of the hardest fought in the court, the contest having gone on for three years. Way, Walker & Morris represented the creditors, who filed objections to the discharge, and Levy & Sachs watched the interests of Levy.

Levy was in business in McKees Rocks and failed three years ago for $11,000. He offered two compositions to the creditors. The first of 33 1-3 per cent was refused by the creditors. The second of 25 per cent was withdrawn by the bankrupt. The distribution was computed last week, and the creditors received 20 per cent. The creditors filed seven specifications of objections.

The referee decided that all except the first should be overruled; that the first exception should be granted, and that the discharge of the bankrupt be refused. The first exception claimed the bankrupt had knowingly and fraudulently used a false claim in composition.

It was proved that Weinman & Co., who were owed $4 85, had received 66 2-3 per cent in cash and then were asked to and agreed to the composition. It was alleged that the filing of the acceptance of Weinman & Co. to the 66 2-3 per cent composition when they had received two-thirds of their money was presenting a false claim against the estate. Levy's attorneys held that the claim was genuine; that he had a right to pay the money out of his own estate, but that it would vitiate the composition because it would be unequal. Yet it did not constitute the presenting of a false claim; the claim was unprovable, but not false. Judge Buffington's decision was as follows:

"The section of the bankruptcy law defining crime thereunder, like all criminal laws, must be strictly construed. We are of the opinion the facts in this case do not bring it within the purview if so construed. No other cause to refuse a discharge being shown, the clerk will perform the usual order of discharge."

Levy is now living in Apollo. He failed once before for about $17,000 in that town about 10 years ago and went through bankruptcy about four years ago. If his case had come under the new constitutional amendment, he could not have been discharged in the present case, as at present a man can go through bankruptcy but once every six years. It is likely the attorneys for the creditors will take the case to the circuit court of appeals.

BYERS CASE ENDED.

Question of Who Gets Profits Arising from $40,000 Investment Raised.

The hearing in the equity case of Jacob Byers against Attorney William S. Byers, to obtain possession of over $200,000 worth of bonds and money, came to an end yesterday, after arguments of counsel. It was developed that the $40,000 supposed to have been in the vault of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company had been placed for investment by the defendant. The question then arose as to whether the plaintiff, if a decree is made in his favor, is entitled to the profits from the money. Judge Elliott Rodgers said he would decide this point with the others.

All of the lawyers interested in the case made addresses, and after briefs were submitted the court took the papers.

COKE PRODUCTION SHOWS A DECREASE

However, Greater Tonnage Is Moved from Connellsville Yards.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Feb. 6.—The Courier will say tomorrow:

Both production and output of coke from the Connellsville region last week were below the previous week's record. The output, however, received more coke because most of the great tonnage tied up in the yards was moved out by the railroads. The smaller operators are holding about from long contracts. They in many instances have themselves up. With the railroad service in the shape it is they figure that it is a wiser policy to take chances of securing spot delivery contracts before calling them to bind themselves to long contracts. For reasonably early shipments the operators are not cutting much below $3 50 to $4 a ton for furnace coke and $6 50 and $7 for foundry. If the market is bid needed offers are made at double these figures.

Last week's shipments of coke from the Connellsville region to the Mahoning and Shenango valleys ran to the best those districts have had in six months. In fact, they were almost normal with receipts when the cars the region needed were available and when the railroads were able to move trains freely. The freight embargo in Pittsburgh and upon tonnage from western points was responsible. Coke and coal had the right of way over every other kind of freight. There was more activity in the Ohio valley trade than in consequence than there has been in a long time. Only one stack, a small one, was idle, because it had no coke. All the regular furnaces are in blast and turning out their usual tonnage of iron. The same conditions are holding out this week. While there has been a little easing as far as precedence is concerned for the movement of the coke and coal trains and for the ironclad rule that has prevailed over mines. In this region the companies that have been shipping coal besides making coke have found it difficult to get cars for shipping of coal. One mine operator overcame the difficulty by shipping a choice spot delivery order of selected coal in barrels. The freight cost more, but the consumer was willing to stand that.

The detailed report of the operation and output of the Connellsville region for the week ending on Saturday, January 31, shows a total of 271,900 ovens, of which 21,317 were active and 9,483 were idle, the changes being very slight. The estimated tonnage was 239,886, compared with 241,786 the week before. Poor time was made at many of the plants. Some only worked a little more than half time, and worked one day. Four-day runs were numerous, though they do not show up in the tabulated figures given above.

Shipments last week were 9,321 cars, distributed as follows: To Pittsburgh and river tipples, 3,902 cars; to points west of Pittsburgh, 4,288 cars; to points east of Connellsville, 1,131 cars. Compared with the shipments of the previous week this was a decrease of 952 cars.

In the lower Connellsville region there were no changes in the seven list. The estimated tonnage was 48,926, compared with 49,220 the previous week. Shipments were 1,578 cars last week.

COFFEE'S PLACE.

A Tennessee Physician's Experience.

The man of medicine can tell many interesting tales when he has a mind to, but the most interesting of all is when he tells of the benefits to be had from pure, scientific food and drink (such as Postum Food Coffee) used in place of ordinary coffee.

In an explicit letter from a physician of Henderson's Cross Roads, Tenn., he says: "I drank coffee until I was a physical wreck, suffering with constant and severe headaches, heartburn and extreme nervousness. Finally I became a confirmed dyspeptic and consequently weak and irritable, although I am by nature very strong and cheerful. I lost about 25 pounds.

"Finally my nerves were shattered to such an extent that I would regularly wake from sleep in a highly nervous and excited condition. By day I suffered from attacks of vertigo and palpitation of the heart, then I began to believe it was the work of coffee. The constant over-stimulation of the cardiac ganglia of nerves from coffee had produced exhaustion of the governing apparatus of the heart. The slightest exertion worried me almost to collapse. My hair grew gray, although I was but 35.

"My knowledge as a physician told me my condition was serious. I quit the use of coffee and improved for a while, but very slowly. Then my attention was called to Postum. I got some, made it right, and found it delicious.

"In a week I could eat as heartily as ever without the least distress to my stomach or injury to my nerves. I gained flesh up to 155 pounds, and the disordered condition of the heart ceased. I am now free from rheumatism, which oppressed me steadily while I was using coffee.

"Postum's discovery has been and will continue to be a blessing. I hope its use will extend until coffee, one of the most widespread and physically injurious of all stimulants known to materia medica, shall be relegated to its proper place beside morphine and cocaine." Name given upon application to Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

As directed by said tenth section of the act of June 26, 1895, I hereby give notice that every person (excepting justices of the peace) who shall hold any office or appointment of profit or trust under the government of the United States, of this state, or any city or incorporated district, whether a commissioned officer or otherwise, a subordinate officer or agent who is or shall be employed under the legislative, executive or judicial departments of this state or of the United States or of any city or incorporated district and also that every member of congress and of the state legislature and of the select or common council of any city, or commissioner of any incorporated district, is by law incapable of holding or exercising at the same time the office of appointment of judge, inspector or clerk of any election of this commonwealth, and that no inspector, judge or other officer of any such elections shall be eligible to any office to be then voted for, except that of an elective office.

And whereas, By virtue of the constitution of the state of Pennsylvania, adopted December 16, 1873:

Every male citizen 21 years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections: First—He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month. Second—He shall have resided in the state one year (or, if having previously been a qualified elector or native-born citizen of the state, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election. Third—He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election. Fourth—If 22 years or upward, he shall have paid within two years a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election.

MODERATE REACTION IN EASTERN STOCKS

The Most Active Issues Closed at the Lowest Prices of the Day--Bank Statement Forecast Unfavorable--Local Stocks Irregular.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Dealings in the eastern stock market were only a little more than one-half the total for the preceding day, and there was a rather marked change in the tone of speculation. There were no influential developments to account for the change, but some stress was again laid upon the status of the Venezuelan negotiations, which seemed to have a depressing effect upon the London market at the opening and caused foreigners to sell moderately. Disappointment was also expressed in Wall street that London did not follow our advance in United States Steel. The latter opened firm, but both the common and the preferred declined a point and closed at the lowest prices. No announcement has been made by the corporation as to what action it will take as a result of the favorable decision in the bond conversion suit. It is understood that the meeting of the board of directors had adjourned Thursday before the announcement of the decision, and no official statement is likely to be made until after the matter has been discussed at a regular meeting of the board. The feeling is growing rapidly that since the proposition was first broached a year ago the corporation has so strengthened its position, both financially and in the matter of acquiring additional properties, that the conditions which prompted the bond conversion scheme have passed away, and that it can now proceed with the issue of bonds and the retirement of preferred stock, or it can abandon the entire plan without detriment to its affairs. If it should be decided not to carry out the proposition, and formal announcement were made to that effect, there is a strong feeling that the sentimental effect upon the market value of its stocks would be quite pronounced, and that the preferred at least would steadily appreciate to the neighborhood of par.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

The news of the action of the leading directors in restoring the old rate of dividend on the first preferred stock to 2 per cent semi-annual did not reach the street in time to have any effect upon the market. Last October, owing to the losses incurred in the labor strike, this dividend was reduced to 1 per cent. Since then, however, the higher prices for coal and the unprecedented demand are rapidly wiping out the losses incurred during the summer. Reading common and second preferred were moderately active, but they closed at the lowest prices of the day. The Wabash issues were active, and in the last dealings recovered a part of the earlier losses. There were heavy dealings in Rock Island and the soft coal stocks but during the afternoon buying was not aggressive, and traders succeeded in depressing prices. Wisconsin Central common and preferred were conspicuous for strength while the rest of the market was heavy, and closed at moderate gains. In the high-priced stocks the weakness of New York Central, in the face of the large gain reported in January gross earnings was without explanation. Pennsylvania, St. Paul and the Pacifics eased off fractionally and closed at the lowest. Amalgamated Copper was strong most of the day, on the advancing tendency in the metal market. At the close trading was light and the tone of the market heavy.

Forecasts of today's bank statement are not favorable to a further accumulation of money. In their operations with the sub-treasury the banks lost $5,555,000 for the week, but they gained somewhat in the currency movement, so that the estimated net loss was placed at about $3,000,000. There was the usual guessing as to the probable change in the loan item, the average being an increase of $6,000,000. The statement for the corresponding week a year ago made a remarkable showing and was the cause of a sharp decline in the stock market. At that date the banks reported an expansion of no less than $28,974,300 in loans and a net loss of about $2,500,000 in cash. The surplus reserve decreased $8,721,325, and the total surplus was reduced to $17,806,000. At the present time it is $27,800,000. There have been no transactions during the past week that would warrant any such changes in the statement today. There was also nothing in the rates for sterling exchange to justify the revival of talk as to the possibility of gold exports in the near future. Call rates yesterday remained unchanged at 2½@3 per cent.

In the local stock market yesterday 15 different bank and trust company stocks were dealt in, but the total transactions in this class of shares were not so large. The most active was Safe Deposit, which sold all day at 140, and closed at 139½@140½. It is announced that considerably more than half the stockholders of the company have signified their approval of the proposition of the board to merge with the Peoples Savings bank, and the probability is that a large number will take the same action within the next few days. Peoples Savings bank was quoted at 311 bid, which is slightly above the present book value, but there were no offerings of the stock. American Trust on sales of 215 shares ranged between 282 and 288, closing at 282 bid, 287 asked. Every day during the past week the stock has been made to appear weak at the close, which seems to be a part of the manipulation that has attended its movements for more than a month. One small lot of Columbia National bank changed hands at 492, a record price and 318 a share above the last previous sale. The stock closed at 490 bid, 490 asked. As stated yesterday, street gossip places the price at which this bank will figure in the impending deal at $500 a share. Pennsylvania Trust, another institution that has been mentioned as in the plans of the promoters of the deal, sold at 310@315, and closed at 305 bid. Allegheny Trust, after selling 2½ points higher at 155, closed at 156 bid. Commonwealth Trust reacted to 254, while Real Estate, North American Savings, Merchants Savings, Colonial and Diamond National all advanced.

The principal activity in the industrial list was in United States Steel and River Coal common. The former reacted in sympathy with the decline in the east and closed at the low point. River Coal advanced to 11¾ and was in good demand at 11¾ bid. Westinghouse Electric first preferred declined to 107¾ and the second preferred to 106½. Airbrake was unchanged at 174. Window Glass sold at 35¾@35¾, but closed firm at 35¾ bid. Crucible Steel common sold at 71½@72¼, and the preferred remained unchanged at 85½.

PITTSBURGH STOCKS.

Transactions on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday aggregated 5,702 shares stock, $3,000 bonds and $85 scrip. Sales:

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Bank exchanges increased $1,700,000 for the day.

Sales on the stock exchange aggregated 5,702 shares stock and $6,000 bonds.

Columbia National bank advanced 18 points to 493.

American Trust ranged between 282 and 288, closing at 282 bid.

United States Steel declined to 38¾ and Crucible Steel to 71½.

IN WALL STREET

Total sales for the day 451,600 shares.

Support was taken from the market and reaction came as result.

Amalgamated Copper showed remarkable strength in face of decline.

Hocking Valley took on rise on rumored change in control.

Bonds active but irregular; total sales (par value) $3,500,000.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

There was some activity in Harbison & Walker Refractories, the common stock reporting at 12, 300 shares going at 12¼, 10 shares at 14 and the stock closing at 13 bid for quotable lots. Miller was a seller and Crawford & Eberman and Speer Bros. were buyers. The preferred stock was quoted at 106@75.

United States Steel 5s, series A, sold at 100½ and accrued interest, Masten & Co. to Speer Bros.

There were no new developments in the pending trust company deal. While no official information has yet been made public, and while officers of some of the institutions mentioned as likely to enter the deal continue to make denial that any formal negotiations are in progress, the street is confident that an announcement in the matter will come in the near future.

Lawrence & Co. were the heaviest sellers and Robinson Bros. the largest buyers of River Coal just before the close of the market.

Ohio Fuel Supply was quoted at 29¾@23¾.

First National bank was higher at 652 bid. Peoples Savings was wanted at 311 bid.

Diamond Savings bank was offered at 226, German-American Savings, and Trust, 160 bid, 163 asked; Iron City Trust 138½@140½, Colonial Trust 570@575, Merchants Savings and Trust 83½@84½, North American Savings 122½ bid.

Pittsburgh drygoods was quoted at 115 bid.

January gross earnings of Chesapeake & Ohio increased $200,159, and Norfolk & Western increased $268,096.

The net earnings of Southern Pacific for December increased $17,671; deficit, $330,501.

A Wall street house wired: "We have been bullish on Copper from 60 up. We still notice accumulation rather than distribution of stock. There seems to be an impression that Copper people are rather more in control of the trade situation than heretofore. In the matter of metal, two cents higher, ought to mean greater earnings. After the adjournment of the Montana legislature on March 1 these rumors of consolidation may become more active. If the stock crosses 70 it means not cents higher prices, but that insiders again have most of the floating stock."

J. J. Hill says Northern Securities will earn this year $42,000,000, which is 10 per cent on the stock. He figures the three roads will increase their gross income 5 per cent a year for the next eight years, which means at that time Northern Securities will be earning 20 per cent.

At a meeting yesterday of the directors of the Manufacturers bank, Carson and South Eighteenth streets, William E. Sankey was elected to the board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George K. Easton.

The annual stockholders' meeting of United States Steel will be held April 20. Books close March 16 and reopen April 21.

When the market turned heavy yesterday a report gained currency in Wall street that Mr. Keene was seriously ill.

An officer of the American Can Company is quoted as saying: "While January was the best month for gross earnings we have had, it may be said the net results were equally as good. Concentration of plant capacity, which in 50 per cent since the movement was begun 18 months ago, not only has enabled us to make great reductions in operating expenses, but has made it possible to supply the demand for cans practically, and at prices advantageous to the customer. It is my opinion that the company is in excellent condition, and that the time is rapidly approaching when the dividend policy will be announced."

The annual report of the Diamond Match Company shows: Net earnings, $1,957,674, a decrease of $63,468. Total surplus, $2,184,593; an increase of $457,674. The directors have declared the usual quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, payable in March. Dividend disbursements for the past year were $1,150,000, as against $1,482,787 the previous year.

A Wall street expert figures that conversion of Steel preferred into bonds under the plan at today's price, say, would work as follows:

500 shares Steel preferred at 89 cost... $44,500
$50,000 5 per cent bonds sold at, say 90, cost... 45,000
Leaves cost of remaining Steel preferred $25,500, or $3 1-3 per cent.

If the bonds brought 98 the remaining stock would cost $8; if the bonds brought only 95, the remaining stock would cost $4. The effect of the plan is to materially reduce to preferred stockholders the cost of their remaining stock.

Manhattan reports as follows for the quarter ended December 31:

	1902.	Changes.
Gross	$3,211,572	Increase $174,224
Expenses	1,855,635	Decrease 46,335
Net	$1,355,737	Increase $423,559
Other income	65,287	Decrease 136,000
Total increase	$1,921,024	Increase $287,559
Interest and taxes	747,954	Decrease 5,181
Surplus	$1,173,070	Increase $292,740
Dividends	720,000	Increase 240,000
Surplus	$ 453,070	Increase $ 52,740

Passengers carried 64,297,676, increase 7,506,825. This showing is all the more remarkable in that the increased cost of fuel was $150,000 for the quarter.

The gross earnings of New York Central for January increased $838,000.

The gross earnings of Wabash for January were $1,672,453, an increase of $42,000.

The surplus earnings of Columbus & Hocking Valley Coal and Iron for December were $71,675, an increase of $31,000.

The Illinois Central reports increases of $373,976 in gross, $224,376 in expenses and $149,600 in net for December and a gain of $421,955 in gross and a decrease of $140,153 in net for the first half of the fiscal year.

The enormous business of the United States Steel Corporation is indicated by the amount of orders on the company's books. On February 1 the amount of unfilled orders was the largest in the history of the corporation, as is shown by the following table:

	Tons.
February 1, 1903	5,909,000

November 1, 1902	4,908,660

PROFESSIONALS TAKE PROPS FROM MARKET

General Declines Are Registered in Wall Street on Dull Day's Business.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Today's stock market fell back into dullness and the price level yielded. There were some professions of depressed feeling over the prospect of a weak bank return and over the upward course of sterling exchange. The hitch in the proceedings for a settlement of the vexed Venezuelan question induced some selling here for London account and added another nominal reason for the reaction. But the obvious fact was that the activity and apparent strength of yesterday covered large realizing operations by the professional leaders of the market who have conducted this week's campaign for a rise.

When it was perceived that this support was relaxed, room traders offered prices down and found vulnerable spots. The selling was not urgent nor long continued and the buying to cover by room shorts caused some recovery from the lowest. The closing, however, was heavy and very dull.

The week's heavy sub-treasury requirements, which amounted to $6,360,000, have been offset by receipts from the interior which seem to be less than $3,000,000, so that the banks have lost cash during the week to the extent of upwards of $3,000,000. The loss to the sub-treasury was more than half accounted for by last Saturday's payment to the government of a Central Pacific note, but the government operations have taken a sum daily from the money market.

There is excellent authority for asserting that a growing disposition is manifest, especially in France, to invest in American securities. This process is not perceived in the stock market and probably does not involve the old and seasoned securities which figure in the international markets, and which are at a price level to induce selling rather than buying by foreigners. It is said in possible explanation of the French buying of securities that it represents reinvestment in anticipation of the payment which is to be made to Panama canal shareholders by the United States government. There were few features in today's market. The Wisconsin Central stocks were bought on rumors of changing control. Amalgamated showed strength in face of the reactionary market, and there were advances in a number of low priced industrial stocks. The rise in Hocking Valley was supposed to be connected with the undisclosed plan for the disposition of that property.

The bond market was quite broad and active, but irregular in tone. Total sales, par value, $3,500,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

MARKET STREET LOT BRINGS A BIG PRICE

P. J. McNulty Buys Property at No. 503--Maloney Will Build Twelve-Story Office Building to Cost $200,000.

Another important deal in downtown real estate was consummated yesterday, when Liggett & Goehring sold for John Sauers to P. J. McNulty the property at No. 503 Market street, for $160,000. The lot has only 15 feet frontage and is but 35 feet deep, so that the transaction comes very nearly establishing a record for that district, the price being $10,000 per foot front. However, the lot has frontage in Liberty avenue also.

This property furnishes a striking example of the unprecedented rise in property values downtown. About six months ago it was bought by Nicholas Seibert for $86,000, and only about one month ago was sold by him to Mr. Sauers for $105,000. A three-story brick building occupies the ground.

Mr. McNulty, the new owner, states that his purchase was made purely for investment, and that the property is not concerned in any of the plans for the new Stair theater, projected by the owners of the Eliza, in which Mr. McNulty is interested.

The Maloney office building at the southeast corner of Grant and Diamond streets is assured. The owner of the property, M. F. Maloney, yesterday commissioned Architect Charles Bickel to prepare plans for the structure and work will be started early in the spring.

To Have Twelve Stories.

The building will cover a lot 66x80 feet and will be 12 stories high. It will be constructed on the skyscraper plan, with a steel frame, and will be fireproof throughout. The walls will be of brick trimmed with terra cotta, and the front will be of stone. The building will be provided with all the latest appliances, and the estimated cost, about $200,000, is evidence that it will afford to the tenants all the comfort and convenience to be found in the modern office structure. Bids on the erection will be received about February 20. The building of such a structure on this well known "bump" corner is sure to add considerably to the value of property in the vicinity, and will also be a welcome office home for a large number of business and professional men who have tried in vain to get good quarters near the court house.

The city of Allegheny yesterday closed the deal by which it secures a property in Wabash avenue and Broadway, Fifteenth ward, as a site for a new pumping station. The price paid the former owners, Marion Lyons, C. G. Crawford and William Lyons, was $8,000. Plans have been prepared for the new pumping station, and the contract will be let as soon as bids can be advertised for and opened.

Wabash in McKeesport.

A number of Pittsburgh real estate dealers spent yesterday in McKeesport, where they are said to have been trying to option property in the First ward, near the confluence of the Youghiogheny and Monongahela rivers. The Wabash railroad is reported to be under McKeesport at the point, and it is said that the Pittsburghers were working in the interests of the railroad.

A new bridge is under consideration, by means of which the Wabash will be enabled to enter the Tube City within a short distance of the mammoth tube works that is to be constructed along Fourth avenue.

Henry W. Armstrong sold to Catherine A. Clark the following described properties in Shady avenue, Eastwood: For Jeanie S. Morrison, lot 16 front, by 100 deep, with new frame dwelling, for $7,500; for Jennie Morrison, lot 50x137 feet, with new frame dwelling, for $8,500, and for Maggie L. Rowland, a lot 50x137 feet, for $750; total of $16,750.

George C. Norris, of the Consolidated Real Estate Company has sold for Eliza W. Irwin to Thomas Brown, jr., a lot 26x123 feet, in Crawford street, near Webster avenue, for $675.

Three Big Downtown Buildings.

Architect Bickel has also been commissioned to prepare plans for the Weaver-Costello building on the south side of Second avenue near Wood street. This will be an eight-story brick and steel structure, 40x80, and will cost $50,000. The owners bought the site a few months ago and will start the building April 1, when they secure possession of the property.

The same architect will design the Lyle & McCance building, which is to be erected on a site lately bought on the north side of Penn avenue near Ninth street. This will be a seven-story structure, with a steel frame, and will cover a lot 40x160 feet. The estimated cost is $75,000.

The Pittsburgh Supply Company store and warehouse, which will be built in Water street near Smithfield street, will be constructed from plans already drawn by Architect Bickel. The site is a lot 90x160 feet, extending through to Flat avenue. The building will be seven stories high, of extra heavy construction, and will cost $90,000.

Architect F. J. Osterling has awarded to William Daniels of Allegheny the contract for the erection of the Woods Run industrial house, to cost $18,000. The building will be a handsome three-story brick structure provided with baths, gymnasium, etc. It will be located in Petrel street and work is to be started at once.

Estimates are being taken in the offices of Architect Sidney F. Heckert on the Holy Family Roman Catholic church to be built at the corner of Forty-first and Foster streets. The church will be of brick and terra cotta and handsomely finished. The estimated cost is $40,000, and bids will be closed February 12. The Rev. Peter Hehir is the pastor.

A new of 18 brick houses is to be built shortly in South Eighteenth street by Oliver G. Phillips. Plans for the dwellings have been drawn by Architect T. P. Evans, who is now taking bids on the work. They will cost about $50,000.

Bought the Leasehold Only.

It develops that the deal for the McIntosh property at No. 625 Federal street, Allegheny, mentioned in The Gazette yesterday, includes only the leasehold. This was bought by Thornton Bros. through the agency of H. C. Mendel & Co. for about $15,000. The property belongs to the Ferguson estate, which owns several other properties adjoining and cannot be sold.

Through the agency of Joseph P. Rankin & Co. the Fidelity Title and Trust Company has sold to William C. Dunbar and William M. Dwyne of Sewickley the property at No. 2518 Carson street, South Side, for $12,000. The lot measures 24x120 feet and has erected on it a three-story brick store and dwelling and a six-room frame house in the rear. The purchase was made for an investment.

Through the office of George F. Snyder of Wilmerding, T. T. Watty has sold to Mrs. Cook an improved property on the east side of Station street, Wilmerding, for $13,000. The lot is 48x75 feet and is improved with a frame house. This makes over $20,000 worth of property in Station street this week, changed hands within the week, the boom being attributed to the starting of the new Pennsylvania railroad station near by.

Wilkinsburg is called for a large auction sale that will determine the property being that of George S. Martin, a bankrupt. It will be sold by Referee in Bankruptcy, W. R. Blair, as trustee of the Martin estate. The properties include a 2½ story frame dwelling and about 15 houses in Coal street and other streets of Wilkinsburg.

FLOUR MARKET IS MUCH STRONGER

Florida Strawberries Lower in Price—Millfeed Quotations Advance.

Receipts of hay and grain were lighter yesterday than the average for the past few days, but the effect upon the market was not perceptible, prices remaining steady in nearly all lines, with millfeed going higher. The only weakening shown was in oat corn, which was offered at reduced figures, and quotations went off fully 1c per bushel. May is firm at figures quoted, with receipts light. As the hay is nearly all coming from the northwest, where it must travel over other roads to connect with the Ft. Wayne and Panhandle lines, the lifting of the embargo has not brought much relief to the situation.

Wheat is firm and flour is strong at advanced quotations. Jobbers do not find it hard to maintain St. Cloud 40 as the range for fancy spring patent. Chorels are steady, with western consignments arriving slowly.

The sugar market had to be adjusted again yesterday to take care of the reduction of 10 points made by refiners and which, coming as it did right on the heels of the adjustment to new conditions made locally, confused the trade. Standard granulated is now 25 points lower than it was at the beginning of the week, and other sugars have declined 10 points.

Produce Market Quiet.

There is a very quiet movement of fruits and produce, and quotations show few changes. Cucumbers are higher and oysts are lower. Florida egg plant has advanced, while tomatoes from the same state are a little easier, and prices have declined. Rhubarb is coming in more freely, and is offered at lower figures. Florida strawberries took another drop of 5c a quart. Dealers are trying to get prices down to where they will prove attractive, and start more active movement at that. They are not coming forward in very liberal quantities, but there are enough to supply more demand than has yet arisen, and the lowered quotations will no doubt increase the request. Potatoes are approximately as former prices.

Tropical fruits are unchanged, except for a stronger feeling in Messina lemons, which has resulted in higher prices. Oranges and bananas are unchanged, with demand fairly active.

Butter is selling at last week's prices, and is going out with more activity than before last Monday. Eggs are weak, and prices are gradually working lower both for fresh and storage stock. There are many unsalable eggs on the market, and delayed shipments from the south bring in some too long on the way, which would have been in good condition if received on time. However, the situation is really easier, and it is hardly possible to secure over 25 cents for the fanciest stock.

The poultry market remains as it has been all week, demand yesterday being quite active.

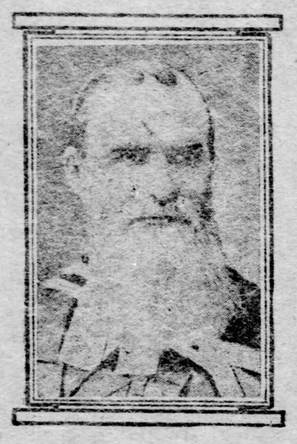
ANARCHIST PLANNED GENERAL ASSASSINATION OF MONARCHS

Rubino Makes Startling Confession While on Trial in Brussels.

EXULTANT OVER CRIME

Besides Attempting the Life of King Leopold He Contemplated Killing Italy's Ruler and Edward VII. of England.



KING LEOPOLD, of Belgium.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BRUSSELS, Feb. 6.—The trial of Gennaro Rubino, the Italian anarchist, on the charge of attempting to assassinate King Leopold November 15 by firing three shots at him while he was returning from the cathedral here, was opened today in the assize court. Large crowds gathered in the vicinity of the court, but only the witnesses, lawyers and reporters were admitted. A detachment of police of considerable strength maintained order.

Rubino replied volubly to all interrogations, and whenever he uttered the word "anarchy" he raised his voice as though exulting in his connection therewith. The prisoner bitterly assailed modern society as the cause of all evil, declaring he only attempted to take the life of the king because the latter was the highest representative of society.

Rubino added that he had intended going to Italy for the purpose of making an attempt on the life of the Italian monarch, but he did not have sufficient funds. During the prisoner's examination it developed that he left the Italian army because his officers persecuted him.

The prosecution included in the indictment a letter from Rubino to a socialist newspaper published in London, justifying the murder of Senor Canovas del Castillo, the Spanish premier, and stating that he (Rubino) had contemplated killing King Edward November 25. Regarding his stay in England, Rubino said it was a hospitable country and he decided not to make an attempt to kill King Edward, as that would bring trouble on his comrades.

He spent the money which he received from the Italian embassy for spying on anarchists in purchasing a revolver, explaining that "anarchists ought to always be armed, so as to be in readiness to kill the wild beasts of society." He had hoped to be able to kill King Leopold, Prince Albert and a few clergymen.

Unionists Elect Commoner.

DUBLIN, Feb. 6.—C. C. Craig (Unionist) has been elected to represent South Antrim in the house of commons, by a majority of 949 over Dr. Keightley, the farmers and laborers candidate. The campaign was fought on the land question, Dr. Keightley supporting compulsory sale.

BARBERS MUST SHAVE IN SANITARY STYLE

Committee Going to Harrisburg to Secure Necessary Legislation.

Iron City council of the American Federation of Labor has indorsed the bill introduced by Senator Wood, providing for the sanitary regulation of barber shops in Pennsylvania. John Reusher, Edward J. Hare and H. J. Carey of Pittsburgh will leave for Harrisburg next Monday and ask the judiciary committee to favorably recommend the bill. It has been approved by the Barbers' unions and will, it is expected, become a law. One of its features is that every barber must have a certificate of registration, granted subject to the approval of a state board to be named by the governor. Failure to secure a certificate will be made a penal offense.

Edward F. Welch, secretary of the Building Trades council, has written letters to the architect of Pittsburgh, urging them to have the union clause specified in their contracts. Mr. Welch stated that some architects had responded favorably to the proposition. It is claimed that the securing of the clause will do away with many minor labor difficulties.

The recent addition to the district council of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers is local No. 340 of Turtle Creek. It was formally organized with 62 members. J. Lewis is the secretary. Meetings will be held every Wednesday evening.

A meeting of blacksmiths and helpers will be held in the Grand Army hall, West Diamond street, Allegheny, on Wednesday evening next. Among the speakers will be President John Slocum of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths; A. C. Cattermull, P. J. Conlon, John J. Keegan, Thomas H. Flynn, John Devlin and W. M. Kennedy.

A meeting of German machinists will be held at the Machinists' headquarters, No. 216 Sixth street, on Wednesday evening next. Several local German-speaking organizers will deliver addresses. An effort will be made to organize a local of craftsmen of that nationality.

Invitations are being sent to local labor headquarters, inviting workingmen, especially, to attend a free lecture in the First Unitarian church, Craig street, near Fifth avenue, on Monday evening. Ernst H. Crosby of New York will be the speaker. His theme will be "Tolstoy, the Typical Modern Democrat."

The Iron Molders' union of North American and the International Coremakers' union have submitted to their locals a proposition looking to the amalgamation of the two bodies. Pittsburgh local No. 25 of the coremakers will meet this evening in McKnight's hall, Allegheny, to vote on the matter. The sentiment in the locals here is in favor of the proposition.

George Powell, for the past five years president of the Tin Workers' International Protective association, will not be a candidate for re-election.

A meeting of the custom tailors of Pittsburgh will be held tomorrow afternoon in the German Beneficial Union hall. General Organizer William Hartman of Bloomington, Ill., will speak. An effort will be made to add to the membership of local No. 131. Mr. Hartman leaves next week for Wheeling.

FINLANDERS PUNISHED BY CZAR OF RUSSIA

Decree Prescribes Penalty for Failure to Serve in the Army.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 6.—Dispatches from Helsingsfors, Finland, announce that the czar has decreed severe disciplinary measures for all Finlanders who failed to comply with their military obligations in 1902. The total is 14,798 men.

Matchless but Matchable

Though design, quality and workmanship render it matchless, there is one particular in which

PRACTICAL MEN NEEDED IN OUR UNIVERSITIES

Students Should Be Guided Into Their Proper Spheres Says Mr. Dill.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ANN ARBOR, MICH., Feb. 6.—The first session today of the convention of educators and business men who are here discussing higher commercial education was given over to papers by prominent educators. Prof. W. A. Scott of the University of Wisconsin declared that detailed commercial courses must be introduced into colleges and universities.

Prof. E. D. Jones of the University of Michigan, in his paper on "The Function of the Business Community in Higher Commercial Education," declared that business men are needed as special lecturers in commercial courses. He said:

"We must bring the students to the business men by means of summer schools, located in industrial centers, where actual contact may be had with industrial conditions."

James B. Dill of New York said that "it is the duty of universities to have practical men in their faculties, men acquainted with the necessities of the careers for which they intend to fit the undergraduates."

"The world is full of instances of men who have failed in business because they were 'misplaced men,'" he said.
